

The Chichagof selected land stretches from the waterfall on the inlet across from Pelican westward around into Lisianski Straits to a point approximately two-and-a-half miles past Stag Bay. The Yakobi Island selection reaches from Soapstone Cove at the mouth of Lisianski Inlet to Miner Island and the down the Lisianski Straits to a point approximately two miles past Stag Bay.

The forest service is interested in the exchange, because it would make Admiralty Island National Monument "more whole." Evidently, they overlook current settlements at Greens Creek Mine, Funter Bay, city of Angoon, and Pybus Bay Lodge.

I strongly object to this exchange; quite frankly Shee Atika made its selection and it should keep its land. Shee Atika has utilized its land by harvesting the trees; it makes no sense to trade that land for public land of great value.

The Lisianski land in question is regularly used by residents of Pelican, Juneau, Hoonah, Sitka and elsewhere for deer hunting and other subsistence and recreational purposes. The proposed land exchange would remove more than half of the best hunting areas from public access. Rather than make the Admiralty National Monument "more whole" at the expense of some other area, let us keep ANSCA whole by adhering to the original terms; a deal is a deal. I will be writing to Forest Cole, forest service supervisor in Ketchikan, regarding this subject as well as every politician that may influence him. I encourage others to do the same.

Wearing a bike helmet matters

Monday morning I received a not-so-subtle reminder about the importance of wearing a bike helmet, even on short trips without much traffic.

A car slowed and motioned me to turn in front of it onto Lake Street from Etolin Way, just as another cyclist was pedaling by in the next lane. As I turned left onto Lake, I looked back to make sure the car was staying stopped and I wasn't going to veer into the path of the other cyclist. Somehow I accidentally squeezed my left (front) brake handle, and when the brakes grabbed my momentum threw me headfirst over the handlebars.

The other cyclist stopped to see if I was OK, and he said it looked like I landed right on my helmet. I have road rash and bruises on the palms of both hands, my right knee and left inner thigh (and I tore a pair of pants). But I have no damage to my head, not even a scratch. The brain bucket worked, likely saving me from a concussion or worse fate.

If you're a cyclist, please learn from my little incident that you should always wear your helmet, including on short trips. Even the most experienced cyclists can take a tumble (I'm not an expert, but I've been commuting by bike off and on since gas cost less than $1 a gallon). I was only a block from my apartment, and on clear pavement with no rain or gravel to make it slick.

If you're a parent and your kids ride a bike, skateboard, scooter, in-line skates or similar vehicle, please be aware there is a Sitka helmet ordinance that requires helmet use for anyone younger than 18 years old (Chapter 11.70.010 of the Sitka General Code, www.hss.state.ak.us/dph/ipems/injury_prevention/helmetSafety/bicycle/legislation.htm). I've seen a lot more kids riding without helmets, and parents need to be aware they (the parents) can be fined if their child is stopped by police for not wearing a helmet.

Ready, set, register

Everyone knows about the presidential race - the one that seems to have been going on since Moses was in short pants - that's to be decided in our nation's general election in November.

It's been exciting, no doubt about it, and as voters we can hardly wait to participate. A whole lot of new voters has become engaged in the process this time, people who haven't been interested enough (or old enough) to vote previously.

But there's something to do even before casting those historic ballots in November. And that's register to vote, in order to participate in Alaska's Aug. 26 primary.

It could be tempting to look only at the general election as the big enchilada, so to speak, and not worry about the primary.

But in Alaska, that's not a very good idea.

Two years ago, a sitting governor with decades of experience in the U.S. Senate was ousted - in the primary.

This primary season there will be plenty of names on the ballot, with a dozen candidates for the U.S. Senate seat alone. The best-known name there, of course, is incumbent Republican Sen. Ted Stevens, who is being opposed by Michael Corey, David Cuddy, Jerry Heikes, Rick Sikma, Vic Vickers and Rich Wanda, all seeking the GOP's nod.

It doesn't end there. The Democratic front-runner, Anchorage mayor Mark Begich, isn't the only Democrat on the ballot, either. Ray Metcalfe and Frank Vondersaar want to be that party's standard-bearer.

Other Senate primary candidates are Bob Bird, Alaskan Independence Party, and David Haase, Libertarian.

Alaska Congressman Don Young won't be getting a free ride back to the U.S. House of Representatives, either. Other Republicans who want his job are Gabrielle LeDoux and Sean Parnell. The Democrats are having a dust-up, too, with Diane Benson and Ethan Berkowitz seeking the House nomination in August.

Don Wright is the only Alaskan Independence candidate on the Alaska U.S. House ballot.

But we don't get to vote for (or against!) any of them without being registered to vote.

The deadline to register in time for the primary is July 27, and that's less than two weeks away. That's also the deadline for changing your registration, if you want to switch parties, or if you've moved, according to the state Division of Elections.

You can register to vote at municipal clerks' offices, the Division of Motor Vehicles and the library. Applications also are available online at www.elections.alaska.gov. The division accepts applications in person, of course, but also by mail or fax.

You may register after July 27, but then it will be too late to vote in the primary. And the Division warns that your party affiliation as of July 27 will determine which party ballot you'll be eligible to vote in the primary.

So don't delay; register now. It really is an exciting year for elections; don't be left out.

John:

DNR has some extensive mapping abilities and some are available electronically on the web. The maps should show the boundaries and the title that land is held in, such as federal, state, local, ANCSA, etc., and existing infrastructure, such as pipelines, roads, airports, etc.,. A user guide and links to the maps is attached. I did not mention to anyone at DNR why I needed this information.

If DNR's DGGS division can create a map of known large projects that could be developed, (mining, oil and gas reserves and pipelines (small) and large renewable energy projects), we could overlay the two maps, see where projects are located, know who owns the land the projects are on, and where the project is in relation to existing infrastructure.

At that point, we could start doing some analysis of feasibility, rough cost estimates, positive economic impact, likelihood of stalling out due to environmental lawsuits, what infrastructure would need to be built to get the projects moving, and ranking the projects.

This list could then be discussed by the commissioners and staff of DNR, DOT, Revenue, Labor, and OMB and ultimately, we could provide recommendations to the Governor.

I am also mailing 2 wall size maps showing land ownership. Call me if you have questions.

Subject: NFL Agent Leigh Steinberg Invitation

July 16, 2008

Dear Governor Palin:

Last year, in partnership with the Beating the Odds Foundation, Leigh Steinberg the real life inspiration of the sports agent from the film Jerry Maguire, created the Leigh Steinberg Beating the Odds Quarterback Club (Quarterback Club). The Quarterback Club consists of "quarterbacks of life," whose stories help students realize their dreams, set goals to reach those dreams, and overcome the challenges of life.

Governors, superintendents, principals, teachers and high school students across America are being invited to join the National Quarterbacks of Life Team and become role models to elementary students. The Quarterbacks of Life Mentoring Program works with students beginning in the fourth grade.

The Quarterback Club would like to invite you to present a message to the elementary students of your state on the power of dreams, goals, overcoming the challenges of life, and the importance of developing a never give up attitude.

Please visit www.beatingtheodds.org and click on Quarterbacks of Life Mentoring Program under programs to see the Governor of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania's Secretary of Education's comments.

The internet is powerful. And we are developing technology that will allow us to reach kids, parents, teachers, counselors and mentors across America.

This technology will enable Beating the Odds Foundation to deliver crucial curriculum to teachers and mentors. Curriculum that includes Quarterbacks of Life success stories. Curriculum that will provide children with the life skills needed to realize their dreams, and have a better shot at living meaningful, safe and productive lives.

A technology with the sole focus on creating leaders out of millions of today's youths.

This program will be available in September of 2008.

This program aims to:

- connect students with mentors and role models

9/18/2009

- teach students skills they need to tackle the challenges of life
- help shape the development of America's youth and the leaders of tomorrow

Dr. John C. Worzbyt is the author of the Quarterbacks of Life Mentoring Program curriculum. Dr. Worzbyt has worked with the Beating the Odds Foundation since its beginning, developing the curriculums used by the Foundation for its school programs.

I look forward to hearing. The Quarterbacks of Life would be honored to have you join our team. Your personal message and story will help our youth reach their full potential in life.

Sincerely,

Please find letter dated July 17, 2008 that was just received via email from Mayor Whitaker in response to the letter he received from the Attorney General. The signed letter is attached.

Dear Attorney General Colberg:

Thank you for your letter dated July 10, 2008. The Fairbanks North Star Borough sincerely appreciates Governor Palin's commitment to finding solutions to Alaska's energy crisis.

Your letter suggests that your office has taken, at most, a purely advisory role with regard to the pricing of Cook Inlet natural gas (CI gas). You state that there has been "no action" and "no decision." Although it may be true that the State's intervention in various regulatory proceedings is not the only factor behind cheap CI gas, there is no question that your office has consistently advocated for a non-market price under the public interest pretext of protecting Anchorage "domestic supply needs."

Our point is that this advocacy, apart from anything else the State is doing with respect to CI gas, runs directly counter to Article VIII of our Constitution.

But your office's regulator advocacy is not our only complaint. We also have legal concerns regarding 11 AAC 03.010(e), a regulation that prohibits export of royalty CI gas absent a finding regarding intrastate (i.e., Anchorage) demand. This regulation clearly does not maximize the return on the state's royalty gas. Similarly, approval of the sale of royalty gas to ML&P at excessively low prices runs counter to the Constitution and statute. And there are other examples where state action runs directly counter to constitutional and statutory requirements.

If the State were truly committed to maximizing gas royalties, it would advocate for a market price for CI gas. There's no doubt that a higher return on CI gas would directly stimulate more private investment, exploration and production in Cook Inlet than artificial price suppression combined with leveraged agreements with the producers.

You note that Fairbanks may be a beneficiary of below-market CI gas. Whether or not Fairbanks receives such de minimis benefit does not change the legal reality that the State's advocacy and other actions regarding CI gas are ripe for legal challenge.

Nevertheless, as long as there is positive movement toward a more equal distribution of the state's energy resources, we remain committed to working with the Administration and legislators on remedying the disparate impact that Alaska's energy crisis has on the Interior.

Please find letter dated July 17, 2008 that was just received via email from Mayor Whitaker in response to the letter he received from the Attorney General. The signed letter is attached.

Dear Attorney General Colberg:

Thank you for your letter dated July 10, 2008. The Fairbanks North Star Borough sincerely appreciates Governor Palin's commitment to finding solutions to Alaska's energy crisis.

Your letter suggests that your office has taken, at most, a purely advisory role with regard to the pricing of Cook Inlet natural gas (CI gas). You state that there has been "no action" and "no decision." Although it may be true that the State's intervention in various regulatory proceedings is not the only factor behind cheap CI gas, there is no question that your office has consistently advocated for a non-market price under the public interest pretext of protecting Anchorage "domestic supply needs."

Our point is that this advocacy, apart from anything else the State is doing with respect to CI gas, runs directly counter to Article VIII of our Constitution.

But your office's regulator advocacy is not our only complaint. We also have legal concerns regarding 11 AAC 03.010(e), a regulation that prohibits export of royalty CI gas absent a finding regarding intrastate (i.e., Anchorage) demand. This regulation clearly does not maximize the return on the state's royalty gas. Similarly, approval of the sale of royalty gas to ML&P at excessively low prices runs counter to the Constitution and statute. And there are other examples where state action runs directly counter to constitutional and statutory requirements.

If the State were truly committed to maximizing gas royalties, it would advocate for a market price for CI gas. There's no doubt that a higher return on CI gas would directly stimulate more private investment, exploration and production in Cook Inlet than artificial price suppression combined with leveraged agreements with the producers.

Nevertheless, as long as there is positive movement toward a more equal distribution of the state's energy resources, we remain committed to working with the Administration and legislators on remedying the disparate impact that Alaska's energy crisis has on the Interior.

Your prompt review of the attached letter would be appreciated. It is my concern that ADF&G continues to conduct itself in a manner that is potentially illegal under State law. I believe a full and open review of these matters by the Attorney General Office may be necessary to resolve them.

If the actions were in fact illegal then the administration in keeping with an open and transparent policy should acknowledge that fact.

Governor Palin to Chair NGA Natural Resources Committee

July 17, 2008, Anchorage, Alaska – Governor Sarah Palin this week was named Chair of the National Governors Association (NGA) Natural Resources Committee. Montana Governor Brian Schweitzer will serve as vice chair. The announcement came as the NGA wrapped up its 100th annual meeting in Philadelphia.

"I appreciate this opportunity and look forward to working with Governor Schweitzer on issues of energy, environment and natural resources," said Governor Palin. "Alaska's potential to continue providing a safe, secure, and domestic source of energy is great. I look forward to addressing the growing energy challenges with the rest of the nation's governors."

The NGA Natural Resources Committee is charged with pursuing legislation to make sure state needs are considered as federal policy is formulated in the areas of agriculture, energy, environmental protection and natural resource management.

Founded in 1908, the NGA is the collective voice of the nation's governors and is one of Washington, D.C.'s, most respected public-policy organizations. NGA provides governors with services that range from representing states on Capitol Hill and before the administration to developing policy reports on innovative state programs.

Governor,

Your three completed picnic binders are on your desk. A few changes worth noting:

-as DMVA did not have a Corporate Blue Star Banner in Alaska, we are going to have to pass on including that in tomorrow's ceremony at the Valley picnic. Also, it would be more appropriate for the American Legion or a branch of the military to present you with the flag, so we'll work that out down the road.

-in the Valley military ceremony, you will be assisting Bert Hall in handing out the Blue Star Banners to Valley military families.

-I have put speaking points for all three of the picnics on card stock and placed them in your binders, should you prefer that format. You have two occasions to speak at the Valley picnic (two sets of remarks included), and one occasion at each of the other picnics.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions, or if I can be of further assistance. Have a good evening!

I'm thinking that, with all of the members of Congress coming to Alaska, a press release concerning the Governor's appointment might be a good stroke. So, you or Sharon might want to coordinate this with NGA's press office.

Fyi- congressman hall from texas is introducing a bill that would transfer ownership of ANWR from the feds to the state. I'm on record supporting the idea and his bill. It may be an interesting subject for alaskans to hear about. I've promised expedited development if the transfer were ever to take place.

For your information, pasted below is a statement from the House = Republican Leader concerning NPR-A. I think he's right-on.

Blunt: BLM Decision on NPR-A Good News = for Americans, Bad News for Democrats Who Tried to Block Leases in = '07

WASHINGTON - House Republican = Whip Roy Blunt (Mo.) issued the following statement today applauding news = from the Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management (BLM)

indicating = the agency will soon be conducting a lease sale in the northeast corner of = the National Petroleum Reserve-Alaska (NPR-A), with an eye on developing = oil and natural gas resources for the American people:

"Today's announcement from BLM = should serve to remind Democratic leaders that NPR-A is already open for = energy production, is already in the process of being leased for energy = development, and has otherwise been explored for more than a generation. = But similar to how Democrats brought forth their 'Use It or Lose It' bill = without knowing it was already the law of the land, today we're reminded = that the majority's efforts to 'unlock' NPR-A are about as necessary as = passing a bill ordering the sun to rise.

"Still, today's = announcement is good news for the American people - and bad news for = Democratic leaders who worked furiously to prevent these lease sales from = going forward in their 'Six for '06' energy bill. Obviously, though, much = more will need to be done if we have any expectation of delivering = affordable energy to the American people. Unfortunately, very little = happening this week in Washington will get us any closer to that important = goal - and some things, such as the effort to deny a natural gas terminal = to the residents of Massachusetts, will actually take us much further = away."

NOTE: Attached please find the = statement on NPR-A issued this afternoon by the Bureau of Land Management. <= o:p>

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
No. 08-122

Governor Palin Releases Statement

July 17, 2008, Anchorage, Alaska - Governor Sarah Palin today released the following statement regarding allegations that she acted improperly.

"As governor, I expect a certain amount of criticism. When I took the oath of office, I even encouraged Alaskans to ask me questions, to hold me accountable. But some critics have taken this to ridiculous extremes that threaten to distract from the vital business currently facing the state and its residents.

"To allege that I, or any member of my family, requested, received or released confidential personnel information on an Alaska State Trooper, or directed disciplinary action be taken against any employee of the Department of Public Safety, is, quite simply, outrageous. Any information regarding personnel records came from the trooper himself. I question the timing of these false allegations. It is unfortunate, as we seek to address a growing energy crisis in this state, that this matter has been raised now.

"I do not interfere with the day-to-day operations of any department. Former Commissioner Monegan was not released due to any actions or inaction related to personnel issues in his department. We had hoped the former commissioner would have stayed in state service to help fight alcohol-related crime. We offered him the position of executive director of the Alcoholic Beverage Control board and, unfortunately, he turned it down.

"I have and will continue to support our line troopers. They have my utmost respect. Since taking office, I have proposed to the legislature millions of dollars in budget increases for more troopers, equipment and training. My administration just completed contract negotiations providing increased wages and other benefits.

"Nothing will distract me from improving public safety. Commissioner Kopp shares my vision for filling vacant positions and reducing crime across the state.

"The Department of Public Safety is a professional organization. We have good men and women protecting our families. Troopers are our first line of defense and will always have my full support."

Gotcha.

By the way, we just looked into my sister's divorce court records- it's confirmed there that neither the Palin or Heath family ever filed even a single complaint against Trooper Wooten. And that it was four days ago that Wooten refused to return kids over after a visitation, his sargeant had to call him to tell him to obey the court order, so he returned the kids with this threat: "Get ready for the show. I will bring you and your family down". Then, four days later he riles up the union and they hold the press conference. (Which is proof that Walt's dismissal had nothing to do with Trooper Wooten. Wooten orchestrated all this today.)

Proof that today's PSEA/Wooten presser had nothing to do with Walt's dismissal: on Sunday, Wooten refused to follow court order to hand the kids over to Molly after his visitation. One of Wooten's sergeants had to call him and tell him he must obey the court order. He handed over the kids and promised Molly, "Get ready for a show. I'm going to bring you and your family down". From there he riled up the union and then had the press conf. I just found this out tonight.

As confirmed in Molly's attorney file (Bobby Irwin), there have been NO complaints filed by the Heath or Palin family. Jason Moore stated we filed 15 complaints and only three were substantiated. KTVA claimed we filed 36 complaints! And John Cyr stumbled on that question with dead silence when he was asked about it... There have been no formal complaints.

If Walt tries to go there, my response is "nice try", he can try to deflect from the reasons he was let go by blaming it on the Wooten issue, but he knows it's not true and perhaps he doesn't want a public discussion about his administrative skills being made public.

Governor:

On July 3rd, 2008, the OMB analyst sent me an e-mail stating that there were 395 trooper positions authorized in the budget. (284 troopers, 10 corporals, 65 sergeants, 23 lieutenants, 10 captains and 3 majors).

As of June 30, 2008, the payroll system showed 56 of these positions as vacant. (49 trooper positions, 2 corporal positions, 1 sergeant, 3 lieutenants, and 1 captain)

The OMB analyst noted the numbers would change if there were new hires or retirements that had not had their paperwork processed yet through Personnel.

Subject: House Democrats/Energy Bill

Recognizing that you will soon be meeting with a number of House Republicans and Republican challengers, I have briefly analyzed below the latest energy proposal by House Democrats.

This legislation, which was not available until this morning, will be voted on today in the House on the suspension calendar. The suspension calendar requires a 2/3rds vote for passage, and no amendments are allowed. So, the Republican energy package, which includes ANWR, will not be considered.

There is virtually no chance that the Democrats' proposal will become law. However, because Alaska is prominently featured, and because there will be much rhetoric and press coverage, I have reviewed the bill, which is attached.

* NPR-A-leasing and pipeline construction - seeks to expedite leasing and the construction of necessary pipelines. There appears to be nothing new here. The BLM is proceeding expeditiously with a leasing program, and I'm sure that pipeline construction will be expedited as necessary.

* Alaska gas pipeline coordination - makes the President responsible for coordinating pipeline activities. The federal pipeline coordinator is vested with most of these responsibilities in the 2005 legislation. Bringing in the President and expanding somewhat on the scope of coordination might help marginally but is not much of a substantive change.

* Project labor Agreements - this section would require project labor agreements for the gas pipeline and makes mandatory earlier sense of Congress language enacted in 2005. In my opinion, the new language adds little, as almost everyone has expected project labor agreements. However, producers and pipeline companies might feel that a mandatory requirement biases future PLA negotiations.

* Pipeline maintenance - requires that the operators of oil and gas pipelines in Alaska certify annually that their pipelines are being maintained and operated in a efficient manner. In my opinion, this doesn't add much to existing law.

* Oil export ban - would reimpose the ban on exporting Alaska oil. This would accomplish little, as there have been no Alaska exports, we're told, since 2000. This would appear to be a slap at Alaska sovereignty since other states are not so encumbered, and limited amounts of crude oil and refined products are exported now.

* Use it or Loose it/federal leaseholders - would penalize leaseholders who are not acting diligently to produce oil and gas from their leases. This would appear to add very little to the due diligence and production requirements of existing law and arguably does not recognize the realities of how hydrocarbons are explored for and produced.

* Royalty Payments - is designed to ensure that the federal government receives its proper share of revenues from federal leases throughout the country. Again, existing law and regulations contain provisions to accomplish this purpose.

Conclusion: In my opinion, this bill is more rhetorical than real. Neither it nor the Republican alternative has much chance of being enacted.

There seems to be a consensus on the need to enact legislation to restrict petroleum speculation, but the consensus ends there. In the meantime, there is a bipartisan group seeking to draft a more meaningful energy policy that could attract enough votes to be enacted.

Ivy,

I am sending this in momentarily.

One important job for governor is the appointment of a cabinet. Surrounding yourself with good people with a common vision isn't always easy. The Governor's Decision to appoint Commissioner Kopp is the right decision and it's her decision. No one likes to get fired or do the firing. I'm certain that it would have been much easier to stick with what's been "working," or stick with the status quo. In all of this, Commissioner Monegan was given a respectful alternative. He chose to get publically upset.

It takes a smart leader to understand and communicate a common vision for Alaska. It takes a tough leader to act on that vision. Governor Palin also keenly understands that inaction rarely leads to growth or improvement. She is trying to make our government more transparent and efficient by taking some action.

Those who call for an 'explanation' to this change ought to know that discussing personnel decisions can unnecessarily compromise laws and reputations.

I imagine it would have been much easier for the Governor to work within established bureaucratic norms by retaining Commissioner Monegan. I look forward to a leaner and stronger public safety sector under new direction. To a man who came up from the ranks, good luck in your new position Commissioner Kopp.

Governor Palin to Chair NGA Natural Resources Committee

July 17, 2008, Anchorage, Alaska – Governor Sarah Palin this week was named Chair of the National Governors Association (NGA) Natural Resources Committee. Montana Governor Brian Schweitzer will serve as vice chair. The announcement came as the NGA wrapped up its 100th annual meeting in Philadelphia.

"I appreciate this opportunity and look forward to working with Governor Schweitzer on issues of energy, environment and natural resources," said Governor Palin. "Alaska's potential to continue providing a safe, secure, and domestic source of energy is great. I look forward to addressing the growing energy challenges with the rest of the nation's governors."

The NGA Natural Resources Committee is charged with pursuing legislation to make sure state needs are considered as federal policy is formulated in the areas of agriculture, energy, environmental protection and natural resource management.

Founded in 1908, the NGA is the collective voice of the nation's governors and is one of Washington, D.C.'s, most respected public-policy organizations. NGA provides governors with services that range from representing states on Capitol Hill and before the administration to developing policy reports on innovative state programs.

You know, that's something Kopp could come right out of the shoot with, even in a presser: filling the long-vacant positions w efforts to recruit our returning military personnel. Lots of these soldiers don't know what to do next as their deployments conclude... we may need them. Pls mention this to him, that we need very vocal and visual DPS initiatives rolled out for Alaskans so they'll know the purpose in all this transition is for action in serving the public.

Rolling out such a promise, Sharon and Rosanne could help because we got a good supportive statement from Col. Holloway re: Kopp and "moving forward"... we could incorporate that statement with any from Gen. Campbell also. (So not just Natl Guard, but military in general.)

Thanks Governor. It's an interesting approach that I like. Plus, we don't even need the whole 19 million acre reserve, just 2,000 acres where the oil is and enough to get it out of the reserve. Amazing that democrats in Congress will call for steps like not adding small amounts of oil to the strategic reserve and tout that as helpful to the energy crisis but then complain the million barrels a day in oil and trillions of cubic feet of natural gas in ANWR isn't enough to help the nation.

I'll be in Anchorage today and tomorrow meeting with Chuck Kopp to discuss steps we can take on crime in rural Alaska and improving recruiting etc. There are several things Walt didn't really seem to work hard on or want to do, like recruiting from returning National Guard and military, or finding ways to improve our local option laws and cracking down on bootlegging that could be helpful. I will pass these ideas on to Chuck and mention the recruiting ideas to Joe Schmidt for DOC to consider.

Blunt: BLM Decision on NPR-A Good News = for Americans, Bad News for Democrats Who Tried to Block Leases in = '07

WASHINGTON - House Republican = Whip Roy Blunt (Mo.) issued the following statement today applauding news = from the Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management (BLM) indicating = the agency will soon be conducting a lease sale in the northeast corner of = the National Petroleum Reserve-Alaska (NPR-A), with an eye on developing = oil and natural gas resources for the American people:

"Today's announcement from BLM = should serve to remind Democratic leaders that NPR-A is already open for = energy production, is already in the process of being leased for energy = development, and has otherwise been explored for more than a generation. = But similar to how Democrats brought forth their 'Use It or Lose It' bill = without knowing it was already the law of the land, today we're reminded = that the majority's efforts to 'unlock' NPR-A are about as necessary as = passing a bill ordering the sun to rise.

"Still, today's = announcement is good news for the American people - and bad news for = Democratic leaders who worked furiously to prevent these lease sales from = going forward in their 'Six for '06' energy bill. Obviously, though, much = more will need to be done if we have any expectation of delivering = affordable energy to the American people. Unfortunately, very little = happening this week in Washington will get us any closer to that important = goal - and some things, such as the effort to deny a natural gas terminal = to the residents of Massachusetts, will actually take us much further = away."

No. 08-120

Governor Palin to Chair NGA Natural Resources Committee

July 17, 2008, Anchorage, Alaska – Governor Sarah Palin this week was named chair of the National Governors Association (NGA) Natural Resources Committee. Montana Governor Brian Schweitzer will serve as vice chair. The announcement came as the NGA wrapped up its 100th annual meeting in Philadelphia.

"I appreciate this opportunity and look forward to working with Governor Schweitzer on issues of energy, environment and natural resources," said Governor Palin. "Alaska's potential to continue providing a safe, secure and domestic source of energy is great. I look forward to addressing the growing energy challenges with the rest of the nation's governors."

The NGA Natural Resources Committee is charged with pursuing legislation to make sure state needs are considered as federal policy is formulated in the areas of agriculture, energy, environmental protection and natural resource management.

Founded in 1908, the NGA is the collective voice of the nation's governors and is one of Washington, D.C.'s most respected public-policy organizations. NGA provides governors with services that range from representing states on Capitol Hill and before the administration to developing policy reports on innovative state programs.

Subject: House Democrats/Energy Bill
Attachments: NPR_002_xml.pdf

Recognizing that you will soon be meeting with a number of House Republicans and Republican challengers, I have briefly analyzed below the latest energy proposal by House Democrats.

This legislation, which was not available until this morning, will be voted on today in the House on the suspension calendar. The suspension calendar requires a 2/3rds vote for passage, and no amendments are allowed. So, the Republican energy package, which includes ANWR, will not be considered.

There is virtually no chance that the Democrats' proposal will become law. However, because Alaska is prominently featured, and because there will be much rhetoric and press coverage, I have reviewed the bill, which is attached.

- NPR-A-leasing and pipeline construction - seeks to expedite leasing and the construction of necessary pipelines. There appears to be nothing new here. The BLM is proceeding expeditiously with a leasing program, and I'm sure that pipeline construction will be expedited as necessary.
- Alaska gas pipeline coordination - makes the President responsible for coordinating pipeline activities. The federal pipeline coordinator is vested with most of these responsibilities in the 2005 legislation. Bringing in the President and expanding somewhat on the scope of coordination might help marginally but is not much of a substantive change.
- Project labor Agreements - this section would require project labor agreements for the gas pipeline and makes mandatory earlier sense of Congress language enacted in 2005. In my opinion, the new language adds little, as almost everyone has expected project labor agreements. However, producers and pipeline companies might feel that a mandatory requirement biases future PLA negotiations.
- Pipeline maintenance - requires that the operators of oil and gas pipelines in Alaska certify annually that their pipelines are being maintained and operated in a efficient manner. In my opinion, this doesn't add much to existing law.
- Oil export ban - would reimpose the ban on exporting Alaska oil. This would accomplish little, as there have been no Alaska exports, we're told, since 2000. This would appear to be a slap at Alaska sovereignty since other states are not so encumbered, and limited amounts of crude oil and refined products are exported now.
- Use it or Loose it/federal leaseholders - would penalize leaseholders who are not acting diligently to produce oil and gas from their leases. This would appear to add very little to the due diligence and production requirements of existing law and arguably does not recognize the realities of how hydrocarbons are explored for and produced.
- Royalty Payments - is designed to ensure that the federal government receives its proper share of revenues from federal leases throughout the country. Again, existing law and regulations contain provisions to accomplish this purpose.

Conclusion: In my opinion, this bill is more rhetorical than real. Neither it nor the Republican alternative has much chance of being enacted.

There seems to be a consensus on the need to enact legislation to restrict petroleum speculation, but the consensus ends there. In the meantime, there is a bipartisan group seeking to draft a more meaningful energy policy that could attract enough votes to be enacted.

You know, that's something Kopp could come right out of the shoot with, even in a presser: filling the long-vacant positions w efforts to recruit our returning military personnel. Lots of these soldiers don't know what to do next as their deployments conclude... we may need them. Pls mention this to him, that we need very vocal and visual DPS initiatives rolled out for Alaskans so they'll know the purpose in all this transition is for action in serving the public. Rolling out such a promise, Sharon and Rosanne could help because we got a good supportive statement from Col. Holloway re: Kopp and "moving forward"... we could incorporate that statement with any from Gen. Campbell also. (So not just Natl Guard, but military in general.)

Thanks Governor. It's an interesting approach that I like. Plus, we don't even need the whole 19 million acre reserve, just 2,000 acres where the oil is and enough to get it out of the reserve. Amazing that democrats in Congress will call for steps like not adding small amounts of oil to the strategic reserve and tout that as helpful to the energy crisis but then complain the million barrels a day in oil and trillions of cubic feet of natural gas in ANWR isn't enough to help the nation.

I'll be in Anchorage today and tomorrow meeting with Chuck Kopp to discuss steps we can take on crime in rural Alaska and improving recruiting etc. There are several things Walt didn't really seem to work hard on or want to do, like recruiting from returning National Guard and military, or finding ways to improve our local option laws and cracking down on bootlegging that could be helpful. I will pass these ideas on to Chuck and mention the recruiting ideas to Joe Schmidt for DOC to consider.

Subject: Congressman Boehner/Alaska Energy Provisions

According to news articles, Minority Leader Boehner supports the Alaska provisions in the energy legislation proposed yesterday by House Democrats. While this bill was defeated on the suspension calendar, which requires a 2/3rds vote for approval, the Alaska provisions (discussed in my email yesterday) could come up again in some other context.

Accordingly, if possible, I would suggest that you talk with Mr. Boehner during his Alaska visit this weekend. In my opinion, he is inadvertently falling into the Democrats' trap. Their proposal, and not just the use it or loose it feature, is much more rhetorical than real. In general, I believe that the Alaska provisions add little to existing law and, in some cases (ban on oil exports) are actually deleterious.

If Mr. Boehner knows the facts, which I will be providing to his staff today, he might change his mind. This could also help with some of the 26 House Republicans and a few oil state Democrats who voted in favor of Speaker Pelosi's legislation.

Several of our concerns are also discussed in a Statement of Administration Policy issued yesterday by the Bush Administration. I have pasted the statement below so that you can see the Administration's problems with the NPR-A and gas pipeline provisions, as well as with the ban on Alaska oil exports.

Hope this helps.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20503

July 17, 2008 (House)

STATEMENT OF ADMINISTRATION POLICY

H.R. 6515 - To amend the Naval Petroleum Reserves Production Act of 1976 and for other purposes
(Rep. Rahall (D) WV)

The Administration strongly opposes H.R.6515, which fails to address the pressing energy needs of our Nation. Instead, the bill would discourage the development of domestic energy resources, drive up gasoline prices, and reduce the Nation's energy security. With gasoline prices at historic highs, it is unimaginable that Congress is considering legislation that would, among other things, reduce domestic oil supply by chilling investment and placing new restrictions on how exploration can go forward. If H.R. 6515 were presented to the President, his senior advisors would recommend that he veto the bill.

This legislation is another example of the Democratically controlled Congress' failure to address the root causes of high gasoline prices. The President has put forward a combination of Federal policies to access our domestic resources, break our dependence on fossil fuels, improve our energy efficiency, and harness the power of alternative fuels and renewable energy technologies

- while at the same time increasing our energy security and ensuring our economy can continue to prosper and grow.

On Monday, July 14, the President lifted an executive prohibition on drilling for oil and natural gas on the Outer Continental Shelf and urged Congress to remove a similar legislative barrier. The President has repeatedly called on Congress to take additional measures to address the Nation's energy needs including: (1) removing the prohibition on completing commercial oil shale leasing regulations to allow access to this promising resource; (2) permitting oil and gas exploration and development in a remote region of Northern Alaska; and (3) streamlining the permitting process for expansions and reconfigurations of refineries. In lieu of the current flawed piece of legislation, the Administration strongly urges the Congress to take action in these areas.

The bill prohibits the granting of new oil or gas exploration or production leases to any entity that is not "diligently developing" its existing leases on Federal lands. Current law already establishes initial lease periods and requires that reasonable progress be made toward production of resources from Federal oil and gas leases. Failure to demonstrate and maintain progress toward commencing production already results in the forfeiture of the lease and any extensions, as well as the lessee's investment in it.

By blocking some firms from competing for new leases, this legislation would further increase gasoline prices that already exceed $4 per gallon and result in unintended consequences due to litigation. Even though new leases will take years to develop, oil markets are forward-looking, and an expected decline in future supply will raise prices today.

This bill mandates additional oil and gas leasing sales within the National Petroleum Reserve - Alaska (NPR-A). This mandate is misplaced, as regular lease sales are already occurring. The key impediment to increasing production from NPR-A is the near continuous legal challenges to Federal lease sales in Alaska-lawsuits that would just as surely prevent any meaningful progress intended by the bill's mandates. The Administration urges Congress to address this key impediment, and thereby have a real positive impact on production.

This bill seeks to expedite construction of pipelines in Alaska for oil and natural gas. The Administration is willing to help expedite any Federal permits needed to facilitate construction of such pipelines. However, the Administration would oppose any requirement for further Federal funding or financial support for these pipelines, as there are sufficient market incentives for their development. In particular, the Administration would strongly oppose any additional Federal financial incentives beyond the already authorized $18 billion in Federal loan guarantees. If Congress really wants to have a positive impact on production in Alaska, they should allow more production in the area of Alaska's National Wildlife Refuge that was set aside for oil and gas exploration. Finally, this bill requires that Alaskan oil production supply only U.S. markets. Such a ban on the export of Alaskan oil is unnecessary and unwise. None of the oil production from the North Slope of Alaska is sold beyond Alaska and the Lower-48 States. The U.S. Congress did pass a law in 1995 permitting exports, but virtually no oil has been exported for the past eight years. Such a ban would make virtually no additional oil available to U.S. consumers, and would not lower oil prices that are set in a world market. At the same time, such export restrictions are detrimental to the efficient operation of global energy markets and would send the wrong signal to our trading partners who may face pressure to impose similar trade restrictions.

Subject: Meeting with Commissioner Kopp and Commissioner Kreitzer

Governor:

I had a very good meeting with Commissioner Kopp and Commissioner Kreitzer today. They are going to work together on some steps they can take fairly quickly to help with recruiting and an issue with implementing VOIP phones at DPS that Walt was not helping resolve. (DPS is the only state agency resisting the VOIP phones) If we can get the issue fixed, we can probably avoid significant costs for ADMIN. We talked about a number of other issues as well.

Basically, we made more progress in one hour with Commissioner Kopp on DPS issues than we were able to make with Walt in months.

Market Radius Reports

Focus on Your Market...

Market radius reports capture all waste operations within a given market. They provide analysis of the major players by market share, and show historical trends of pricing, volume and capacity specific to that area. [Learn More...]

1. WASTE MANAGEMENT OFFERS TO BUY REPUBLIC SERVICES FOR $6.19 BILLION

Waste Management launched an unsolicited surprise counter offer to buy Republic Services for about $6.19 billion, potentially derailing Republic's deal to acquire Allied Waste Industries Inc. for $6.77 billion. Republic said in a statement that it would carefully review the proposal and respond in due course, but the company noted that it already had a definitive merger agreement with Allied Waste. Waste Management's bid of $34 per share represents a 22% premium to Republic's recent closing price, but that stock had been off by 17% since rumors of its deal to buy Allied first surfaced. Therefore, it is likely that Waste Management will have to sweeten its offer before all is said and done.

It is also likely that the greater level of overlap between the two companies' markets will necessitate some divestitures; however, according to Waste Management's Chairman and CEO, David Steiner, "we're also certain the assets we'll get to keep are significant and make for a compelling transaction." Republic's strong business in Las Vegas is an especially compelling asset, said Steiner. Even with divestitures, the merger is likely to result in an expansion of Waste Management's share of the $55 billion waste management industry to 30% from 24%.

According to Steiner, "Our proposal clearly offers a better and more certain value alternative to Republic stockholders than the recently announced Republic-Allied Waste transaction."

Waste Management is drawing strength from its own recent performance. The company said it expected to report second-quarter earnings of between $0.61 and $0.62 per share, excluding special items, exceeding analysts' average estimate of $0.58. Revenue rose 3.9% to $3.49 billion during the quarter from a year earlier. Analysts were expecting $3.43 billion...Read More »

2. CITY OF DALLAS TO DEVELOP BIOREACTOR AT CITY'S MCCOMMAS LANDFILL

City of Dallas officials are planning to construct as many as seven bioreactor cells on the city's McCommas landfill. The process which recirculates landfill leachate to accelerate and augment waste decomposition, could extend the life of the landfill by 100 years and produce enough methane to power 16,000 homes. Construction of the first cell is scheduled to begin in October. According to Ron Smith, assistant director of the city's sanitation department, "Even though it looks like we're just burying trash, it's really a huge science project." The city hopes to reap $30,000 to $50,000 per month from the sale of the power...Read More »

3. STERICYCLE INSIDERS BUY $20 MILLION IN MORE SHARES

Two longtime insiders of medical waste management firm Stericycle Inc., have purchased a combined $20 million in additional shares of company stock according to recent filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Company Chairman Jack Schuler and director John Patience, whose venture-capital firm founded Stericycle in 1989, bought the shares based on their belief that it represents a good investment in a company and business that is somewhat insulated from troubles in the general economy. According to Mr. Patience, "people still go to hospitals and they go to the doctors' office and they have procedures and procedures generate waste and Stericycle picks it up and treats it."...Read More »

4. STRATEGIC MATERIALS TO ACQUIRE CONTAINER RECYCLING ALLIANCE

9/18/2009

Houston, TX-based Strategic Materials Inc., the largest glass manufacturer in North America, has reached an agreement with the investment group WHI Capital Partners to acquire glass recycler Container Recycling Alliance (CRA) from WHI for an undisclosed amount. CRA, which WHI bought in 2006, operates eight glass recycling plants in the United States. Strategic Materials owns and operates 31 glass processing and aggregation plants in the United States, Canada, and Mexico and sells approximately 1.3 million tons of cullet annually...Read More »

5. EPA RELEASES REPORT ON CLIMATE CHANGE AND HEALTH

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has released a report that discusses potential impacts of climate change on human health and welfare, and on communities throughout the U.S. Entitled "Analyses of the Effects of Global Change on Human Health and Welfare and Human Systems," the peer-reviewed report is considered to be the most up-to-date synthesis and assessment of scientific literature on the impact of global change. It details specific challenges including unusual or unexpected weather, and how some individuals and communities may be disproportionately affected especially the elderly, the poor, children, and people with chronic medical conditions...Read More »

Mrs. Palin,

I have emailed you several times in the past to say, I think you are doing an outstanding job. I have emailed Mr. Halcro several times in the past 2 years that you have been in office, to ask him to "grow up", among other things. His latest stunt with accusations of improper actions on your part concerning Walt Monegon and Trooper Whooten are ludicrous. So, being the good constituent that I am, I reminded him of the fact that they all serve at your "pleasure". I also reminded him that he "lost" the election, he is not the Governor, and that he could now go away somewhere and stir that kind of stuff elsewhere. Seriously, not everyone is smoking what he's rolling, and there are tons of folks out here that stand behind you 100%. Keep up the good work, and oh by the way, I work for BP on NorthStar Island, stop by for lunch some time when I'm here, I'd really like to meet you and talk polotics.

MESSAGE:

Governor Palin,

First let me say that I appreciate your service to the State of Alaska. I was born and raised in Alaska and have never been more pleased with any elected politician than you. I don't know you personally, but believe that you are a woman of character and am proud to have you as our Governor. I generally don't get too worked up about political slander. The recent mud slinging regarding Public Safety Commissioner Monegan irritates me greatly. I want to say that, in situations like this, intelligent people consider the source and don't jump to conclusions. I want to let you know that many, many people are very happy with the job you are doing and support you. You bring character and class to public office and we can always use more of that. My wife and I will be praying that the Lord will continue to grant you favor and that He will keep His hedge of protection around you and your family. Again, thank you for your service.

Thank you so much. I had a good conversation with Kopp tonight - but for the life of me I will never understand how this has become the most clustered issue in my two-yr-old administration. Walt has shown his true colors - very sad and disappointing, and unacceptable if he misleads the public at all on any aspect of any of this... as he already has with his false allegations that Frank, Annette, Todd et al met with him and pressured him. False.

Skilled Labor: Outdated Immigration Policy Threatens U.S. Economic Well- Being

- U.S. losing the race for talented immigrants
- Washington must update immigration policy to allow more skilled immigrants to work in the U.S.

In 2007, Microsoft opened a software development center in Vancouver, Canada, in part to have access to highly skilled workers who are presently prohibited from residing in the United States. Microsoft's recent Canadian venture highlights a growing trend of U.S. companies seeking available talented workers in offshore countries and keeping them there. Much of this in-place outsourcing has to do with Washington's failure to provide sufficient work permits to fill the pressing domestic need for skilled immigrant professionals. Making matters worse, many of the immigrants who are unable to receive U.S. work permits have been educated at American universities. The U.S. pours valuable resources into the education of would-be immigrants, whose knowledge and skills ultimately benefit other countries. The result is that the U.S. is missing out on substantial economic benefits by refusing to grant work permits to skilled laborers, especially to those schooled here.

Does the End Justify the Means? The Misuse of the ICRC Emblem by Colombian Intelligence in Its Hostage Rescue Mission

The now famed Colombian rescue mission Operation Jaque, responsible for the rescue of former Colombian presidential candidate Ingrid Betancourt and 14 other important and high visibility hostages from the FARC, is being criticized for using emblems from the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) as part of its elaborate ruse. Colombia's president Uribe has acknowledged this deception and has formally apologized to the ICRC. Three photographs provided by an unknown military source, and sold to CNN, show a Colombian soldier wearing an ICRC bib on his arm. Furthermore, in previously unpublished video footage of the rescue mission, an emblem can be seen on the helicopter of the "Mision Internacional Humanitaria," which is supposedly an NGO based in Spain.

ED REVIEW

July 18, 2008

...a bi-weekly update on U.S. Department of Education activities relevant to the Intergovernmental and Corporate community and other stakeholders

TEACHING AMBASSADOR FELLOWS

On July 10, Secretary Spellings announced the selection of 25 teachers for Teaching Ambassador Fellowships with the U.S. Department of Education for 2008-09. Five Washington Fellows (Stephanie Canada, elementary physical education, Shawnee, OK; Jonathan Eckert, seventh-grade science, Franklin, TN; Steven Hicks, kindergarten and first-grade, Los Angeles, CA; Bobbi Houtchens, high school English and English as a Second Language, San Bernardino, CA; and Julie Shively, fourth- and fifth-grade gifted math, Lawrenceville, GA) will become full-time Department employees in Washington, D.C., for one year, engaging in policy discussions, working with different program offices, and participating in a variety of projects. Twenty Classroom Fellows will remain in their classrooms and be paid for assignments throughout the school year on a part-time basis. "I know we will benefit from the fellows' knowledge and experience in the classroom," the Secretary said. "While the Department offers multiple avenues for teachers to participate in policy discussions, this is truly a unique opportunity.... I hope it becomes part of the fabric at the U.S. Department of Education for many years to come." More than 1,000 teachers across the U.S. applied for the fellowships. Representing 22 states, all grade spans, and a range of subjects, fellows were selected based on their clear impact on student achievement, record of leadership, and potential for contribution to both the Department and the field. The program kicked-off this week with an orientation and policy conference in Washington. FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE GO TO <http://www.ed.gov/news/pressreleases/2008/07/07102008.html>.

NCLB UPDATE

The Department has published Fiscal Year 2008 Title I allocations by school district. Under the No Child Left Behind Act, districts must spend an amount equal to 20% of their Title I, Part A allocation to cover public school choice-related transportation costs and pay for supplemental educational services (SES). Districts have some discretion to determine the allocation of funds between the activities, but they must use at least one-quarter (5%) of the 20% "reservation" on each activity, if the cost of satisfying demand for each exceeds 5%. Moreover, for each student receiving SES, districts are required to pay the lesser of the actual cost of such services or an amount equal to the district's Title I, Part A allocation divided by the number of poor children within the district, as determined by Census Bureau estimates. FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE GO TO <http://www.ed.gov/about/overview/budget/titlei/fy08/>. (Note: Due to state-level adjustments of Title I allocations, the amounts received by districts will be smaller than shown.)

Speaking of SES, on July 7, the Department's Office of Innovation and Improvement (OII) announced a new grant competition to encourage the establishment or expansion of partnerships between supplemental educational services programs and 21st Century Community Learning Centers projects, in order to increase the academic achievement of low-income students in Title I schools identified for improvement, correction action, or restructuring. Through this demonstration, OII will fund proposals that will serve as national models of how these two federally authorized after-school initiatives can be coordinated so that a greater number of students enroll in, participate in, and complete academic after-school services. A "notice of intent" to apply is due July 21, while the deadline for applications is August 12. FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE GO TO <http://www.ed.gov/programs/sesdemo/>. (Note: In the near future, the Department will be holding a technical assistance conference call for interested applicants. Details will be posted on the program's web site.)

IDEA DETERMINATION LETTERS

As required by statute, the Department recently issued determination letters regarding states' implementation of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). Each state was evaluated on key indicators under Part B (ages 3 through 21) and Part C (infants through age 2) and placed into one of four categories: meets requirements, needs assistance, needs intervention, and needs substantial intervention. Staff carefully considered states' Annual Performance Reports, information obtained through monitoring visits, and other public records. Overall, most states fell into the top two categories. Thirteen states earned the highest rating for Part B, and 21 states earned the top rating for Part C. No states were in the lowest category on either part. For states in the lower categories, the IDEA identifies technical assistance or actions which the agency must take under specific circumstances. The Department will work with states that need assistance or intervention using its network of technical assistance centers. New determination letters are issued annually. FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE GO TO <http://www.ed.gov/policy/speced/guid/idea/monitor/factsheet.html>.

STUDENT LOANS GUIDE

The Department and the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) have published a consumer guide to help students and their families navigate the maze of offers they may face when seeking new student loans or consolidating existing loans to pay for higher education. The new guide, "Student Loans: Avoiding Deceptive Offers," provides detailed information about the different benefits and terms of federal and private loans, as well as tips on recognizing questionable practices. The guide also includes several resources for information about student loans and filing a complaint against various types of lenders. "As we carry out our commitment to ensure the availability of federal student loans, we must also make sure that students and their families are armed with critical information to help them recognize and avoid deceptive lending practices," Secretary Spellings explained. "This brochure will help families be wise consumers of higher education and financial aid." FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE GO TO <http://www.ftc.gov/bcp/edu/pubs/consumer/credit/cre43.shtm>.

Meanwhile, today (July 18), the Secretary will address the 2008 Higher Education Summit, "A Test of Leadership: Committing to Advance Postsecondary Education for All Americans," in Chicago. She will challenge participants to build on the efforts of her Commission on the Future of Higher Education (see <http://www.ed.gov/about/bdscomm/list/hiedfuture/>), as well as discuss global competitiveness and the workforce needs of the 21st century.

STEM PROGRESS REPORT

This week, Tapping America's Potential (TAP), a coalition of 16 leading U.S. business organizations, released a report assessing the progress made over the last three years toward the TAP goal of doubling the number of students earning bachelor's degrees in science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM). The report, "Gaining Momentum, Losing Ground," indicates that, while the number of degrees rose early in the decade (from 201,055 degrees in 2001 to 208,243 in 2002 and 220,360 in 2003), the number of degrees has leveled off at about 225,000 per year – substantially off track of reaching 400,000 by 2015. The report also updates TAP's recommendations for advancing U.S. competitiveness: boosting and sustaining funding for basic research; reforming visa and immigration policies to enable the U.S. to attract and retain STEM students from around the world; upgrading K-12 math and science teaching; and building public understanding and support. FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE GO TO http://www.tap2015.org/news/tap_2008_progress.pdf.

MONITORING AMERICA'S CHILDREN

The 2008 edition of "America's Children: Key National Indicators of Well-Being," compiled by the 22-member Federal Interagency Forum on Child and Family Statistics, presents indicators in seven sections: family and social environment, economic circumstances, health care, physical environment and safety, behavior, education, and health. In 2007, the report cited under education, scores of fourth- and eighth-graders on the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) were higher in math than in all previous assessments and higher in reading than in 2005. Other favorable changes: a decline in childhood (ages 5-14) deaths from injuries (from 8.2 per 100,000 children in 2004 to 7.7 per 100,000 in 2005) and a decrease in the percentage of eighth-graders who smoked daily (from 10% in 1996 to 4% in 2006 and 3% in 2007). On the other hand, there was an increase in low birth weight infants (less than five pounds, eight ounces), and the birth rate among adolescent girls (ages 15-17) increased for the first time in 15 years. FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE GO TO <http://childstats.gov/americaschildren/>.

QUOTE TO NOTE

"[W]e are shifting our educational center of gravity away from generic traditions and toward the needs of the individual – more mobile, more connected, and more familiar with technology than ever before.... Imagine Cup finalist Louis Sayers said it well -- 'There's no one telling us that we can't do something. If we don't like [it], we change it, and, at the end of the day, we know that [it] was built by us.' That is how we build a global platform for collaboration. It is the opposite of isolation. And it's exactly what we need right now!"

-- Secretary of Education Margaret Spellings (7/7/08), delivering remarks at the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) Education Leaders Forum in Paris

Note: The U.S. Department of State is calling for applications for the U.S. Commission for UNESCO Laura W. Bush Traveling Fellowship. This fellowship will allow an undergraduate or graduate student (ages 18-25) to conduct work in a foreign country related to the mandate of UNESCO, using education, natural sciences, social and human sciences, culture, and/or communications and information to forge ties among nations. The deadline for applications is August 5. FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE GO TO <http://www.state.gov/p/io/unesco/103476.htm>.

UPCOMING EVENTS

Register today for the 2008 National Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU) Week Conference, September 7-10 in Washington, D.C. Approximately 600 representatives from black colleges and universities, federal agencies, corporations, and foundations are expected to participate in discussions on issues of interest to the HBCU community. FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE GO TO <http://www.ed.gov/about/inits/list/whhbcu/edlite-markcalendar.html>.

October 6-7, in Washington, D.C., the Department, in partnership with the Conference Board of Mathematical Sciences, will host the first in a series of National Math Panel forums with the goal of building a sustained effort to improve math education. As the panel's findings are extensive and cover many areas, this initial forum will focus on four of seven recommendation topics: learning processes, instructional materials, teachers and teacher education, and research policies and mechanisms. Other topics, such as curricular content, instructional practices, and assessment, may be discussed and will be addressed during future forums. Interested parties committed to improving the teaching and learning of math are encouraged to register by August 8. FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE GO TO http://ime.math.arizona.edu/2008-09/1007_forum.html.

Over the next two weeks, the Department will be exhibiting at the National Conference of State Legislatures' Legislative Summit in New Orleans (July 22-26), the UNITY: Journalists of Color, Inc., Convention in Chicago (July 23-27), the American Legislative Exchange Council's Annual Meeting in Chicago (July 30-August 2), and the National Urban League's Annual Conference in Orlando (July 30-August 2). If you are attending any of these events, please stop by the Department's booth.

Hi Sharon,

Can you blind copy me in when you send this?

I absolutely cannot remember a single instance where I contacted Walt Monegan over Trooper Wooten. The report I saw tonight claiming otherwise is false. I've only had a handful of conversations with the Former Commissioner, and discussing Wooten has never been part of those conversations.

Governor,

As you know, the fish came in very hard in early July, with a catch of 2.6 million fish in a single day. This led to limits and shutdowns as processors struggled to keep up. After the season, we will have ADF&G's best guess of how many fish went unharvested due to these limits. We have foreign owned processors in the bay now (shorebased) and we have floaters (U.S. owned). We just don't have any foreign owned floaters. It's not that big of a leap, they just require a different permit. Also, even our existing processors have told us that they do not mind competition as long as everyone is on a level playing field. I have also reminded the press that we met with processors prior to the season to encourage them to bring as much capacity as possible to the bay and also worked with some of our contacts to find out if there was foreign interest out there. We didn't get any applications for this season for foreign floaters, but what I have told people is that when the 2009 forecast comes out in November, if we are expecting another big year, we will do everything possible to be sure that fishermen have the opportunity to harvest that resource. We will let it be known far and wide that there is an opportunity for investment in our seafood industry here in Alaska and we will work with interested folks to get that capacity here. We can use our Office of Economic Development, our International Trade people, and other contacts we have to get the word out. There is no doubt that many existing companies did step up and increase capacity, just as they told us they would. However, there is also no doubt that it still was not enough and more investment in that region is needed if large runs continue.

I did talk with Bob for about 35 minutes the other day and provided him with much of this information.

Hey Sarah, I took the trouble to write the letter to the editor in ADN in which I declared that even though I did not vote for you that you were a humble hick. I said some nice things about you. Lately you have been preoccupied with being vice president and you lost your focus on your present commitment as governor. You have to do some MAJOR damage control NOW regarding the cop. Sometimes the right thing to do is the hardest thing. Now is your time to shine. Dont get me wrong, I dont like cops. I beat up a few troopers (they had long hair) so I am no angel. If you are as smart as you seem to be you better strike like lightning. We are all human. Make peace with your adversaries any ways possible. The late Ed Merdes always told me that when he had a difficult decision to make he talked to Jesus as if he were sitting next to him and he would ask him what to do. I know you will to. aka Clarence

My heart is so WITH you right now with all this nonsense out about your former brother in law and your firing of Monegan. When I first read Halcro I have to admit that I initially reacted with, "How dare she!" ("She" being you.) Then I read more and I just felt embarrassed for your whole family, and embarrassed for reading what I did.

I don't understand the situation with Monegan, but he elicited an emotional response. The Troopers are now being spoken of with the same reverence as the 911 firefighters. We have good ones and bad ones-- what can we say about them? We also have a state budget with Medicare cuts on the federal level, fatal car wrecks and all kinds of stress happening all over the place. I hope this blows over for you soon. I don't know if you are really worried or not, but I'm sure you know this-- no matter how well you do things, someone some place will still perceive a flaw and harp.

All the best to your sister-- this has a high wince factor for her, does it not? There should have been more investigation by the press before they ran with this but the bloggers got wind and blew it up.

I will send you good vibes for your picnics this weekend and may try to come by with the kids!

Also, I have no idea what "week" this lady is referring to. Thanks, Janice

We are having a fundraiser to help local Fairbanks school kids to purchase school supplies.

Our Cub Scouts are having a "Celebrity" sale to raise money to purchase items needed by our local kids.

We would appreciate a donation of an item that Governor Palin could part with for this worthy cause.

I believe Sarah will be in Fairbanks this week and could bring this item with her.

Our community would be most grateful.

In advance, thank you.

Governor-

I spoke to Mike Ross a few minutes ago. He wanted to confirm what I had told Channel 2 earlier that no one from the administration pressured Monegan about Wooten. He specifically asked about Frank and Annette. Walt is going to name them on the 10.

I told him that I would go on camera or at least do a phoner. I also offered up Frank and Annette. He said it was too late in the editing process and they will use your clips. I have tried unsuccessfully all night to reach Annette. I talked with her husband, left message with Rachael and called her hotel - no luck.

I made it quite clear that Walt's accusations were total CRAP.

It is so unfortunate that this has become such a distraction. Your statement was excellent. We have the states business to do. The next two weeks are going to be critical to our future. People should be interested and focused on that!

In fact, if leggies ask via any venue, of course we speak and give them the reasons. Walt obviously doesn't mind the public discussion at this point, and his untruths must be countered at the same time. This is imperative or Kopp will NOT have the support of the dept and will NOT be given the opportunity to succeed as commissioner.

Good Morning,

Any way I can help. The story seems to be about a dirty cop who should have been fired. The public will see this because the Union is speaking out and obviously orchestrating and attack in support of Walt. DOC just cleaned-up the CO ranks and I have numbers to back it up. Calendar year 07 we did 54 investigations, 26 of which resulted in discipline and 4 ended in firings. 7 others quit. So far this year, we have had 2, none involving workplace misconduct, no one fired. The Union may not like me, but we're clean. We pushed recruitment and filled all of the 737 CO positions, and the Gov's request (approved by legislature) for this year is 786. Increases like no other time in our history. I lost a great deal of respect this morning, I think you all know what I mean.

 Joe

Reading the comment in ADN today is disturbing re: "refusal" to speak about Walt, even if leggies ask.

1) I am not hesitant to speak, but have tried to respect Walt's assumed desire for zero public scrutiny (but look where that's getting us), thus we've left it with a general message of the change at DPS. That must be better explained. I'd stand up in a second and explain his dismissal if my explanations thus far are not sufficient (ie, recruitment, bootlegging that Walt could have focused on with his new job offer he turned down, more energy and action needed in DPS half-way through the term bc there's not a lot of time left to make a difference, etc). My belief has been that Walt would NOT have wanted me to talk publicly about his dismissal.

2) We can never say we'd not talk about this, "no matter who asks". If leggies ask via an investigation, of course we speak. In fact, if leggies ask via any venue, of course we speak and give them the reasons. Walt obviously doesn't mind the public discussion at this point, and his untruths must be countered at the same time. So this perception needs to be cleared up asap - I do not fear any investigation - but it would be used as a distraction, obviously, and is not needed if we're just given the opportunity to lay to rest any speculation spurred by leggies, Walt, the union, critics, or whomever is stirring this.

I do appreciate the adn reported the fact that we INCREASED dps budget- leggies cut it (glad they got that right finally!), as opposed to the union leadership on ktva last night insisting that we cut their budget $2.5 million, and the reporter not challengng that at all!

I am happy to more publicly address all of this bc it would run counter to "open govt" now that Walt has spoken untruthfully about the Wooten issue (esp claims that Todd met w him more than once, Annette's and Frank's alleged meetings, my alleged February discussion with Walt, all of our "pressure", etc.)

It's imperative that we speak to Alaskans' questions today re: DPS. Please trust me that the best path forward, in fairness to the public and consistent with an open government without anything to hide, is for me to be freed up to speak - especially now that Walt has chosen to speak erroneously about his dismissal.

Sharon, instead of staffing the picnic today, please cont to work with Randy, Annette, Karen, Mike, and others, on contacting press/public with messaging that proves I have nothing to hide; proves the legitimate reasons for the need to go in a better direction w DPS; proves this had nothing to do with Wooten, etc.

I desire to speak to the public on this. I've never gone the "no comment" route before and I won't do it now. Again, circumstances have changed in the way this issue is to be handled because our assumption that Walt would not like public discussion of his leadership was wrong, he's obviously chosen to publicly air (through the union, evidently) his false allegations.

Also, law makers are insistent in hearing more. No fear of their proposed investigation, but I'd rather save them time and resources and go directly to them and the public on a much more transparent path re: this issue.

Sharon- pls let reporters know (assuming they show up at the Anchorage picnic as they did at the Wasilla picnic) that I desire to speak for myself on this issue and, again, have nothing to hide.

Randy and Karen are working on summary re: budget increases we proposed (versus dps claim last night that WE cut it so drastically that troopers won't be paid their overtime); vacant positions w no action to recruit; battle over the word "integrity" we desired in his contract negotiations that he did not want included (Annette- pls provide more details on that for Randy); false allegations that I or anyone else pressured him to fire Wooten (even falsely accusing folks of even discussing the issue with him); etc, including many other issues.

Please let me know where folks are able to contribute in this effort. Randy and Mike will be centerpoint on this today as I'm meetin' and greetin' Alaskans at the picnic. They'll be working with Sharon to allow me more pro-active contact with the media today on this.

Also- Kelly, we're more than happy to speak with Hollis on this, he seems to be the spokesperson for leggies on this.

Reading the comment in ADN today is disturbing re: "refusal" to speak about Walt, even if leggies ask.

1) I am not hesitant to speak, but have tried to respect Walt's assumed desire for zero public scrutiny (but look where that's getting us), thus we've left it with a general message of the change at DPS. That must be better explained. I'd stand up in a second and explain his dismissal if my explanations thus far are not sufficient (ie, recruitment, bootlegging that Walt could have focused on with his new job offer he turned down, more energy and action needed in DPS half-way through the term bc there's not a lot of time left to make a difference, etc). My belief has been that Walt would NOT have wanted me to talk publicly about his dismissal.

2) We can never say we'd not talk about this, "no matter who asks". If leggies ask via an investigation, of course we speak. In fact, if leggies ask via any venue, of course we speak and give them the reasons. Walt obviously doesn't mind the public discussion at this point, and his untruths must be countered at the same time. This is imperative or Kopp will NOT have the support of the dept and will NOT be given the opportunity to succeed as commissioner.

So this perception needs to be cleared up asap - I do not fear any investigation - but it would be used as a distraction, obviously, and is not needed if we're just given the opportunity to lay to rest any speculation spurred by leggies, Walt, the union, critics, or whomever is stirring this.

I do appreciate the adn reported the fact that we INCREASED dps budget- leggies cut it (glad they got that right finally!), as opposed to the union leadership on ktva last night insisting that we cut their budget $2.5 million, and the reporter not challenging that at all!

I am happy to more publicly address all of this bc it would run counter to "open govt" now that Walt has spoken untruthfully about the Wooten issue (esp claims that Todd met w him more than once, Annette's and Frank's alleged meetings, my alleged February discussion with Walt, all of our "pressure", etc.)

Thanks Karen.

Please let me know if I understand this correctly.

On the issue of the $2.5 million dollar operating budget reduction for DPS that keeps getting mentioned, I believe what reporters and the union are getting at is the announcement we made in May, 2008, when vetoes were released that we were setting a target of a $20 million reduction to the operating budget for all our commissioners.

DPS' share of the goal of a $20 million reduction in operating costs ended up around $2.5 million.

Is the best way to explain this that we expect all our commissioners to be fiscally responsible and actively manage their departments for savings. The goal was set to provide some direction to commissioners and motivate them as to what we hoped they could accomplish in managing their budget over the next 12 month budget period for FY 2009.

Other commissioners are trying to manage their budgets in a more fiscally responsible manner to try and reach the target, DPS is an agency that we also wanted to try and manage their budget to find out what they can achieve.

Basically, commissioners were challenged to work harder on their budgets and find savings where they could and meet their targets. I don't think the intent was to make agencies take drastic steps to achieve their targets that would hurt the mission of the department.

Governor,

Hawker contacted our office and we kindly let him know that this was a personnel issue and we did not have any additional info. This was discussed with Nizich as well.

If we do decide to tell Legislators more now we should proably bring in Talis for legal guidance.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

No. 08-123

Governor Announces New Direction for Department of Public Safety

July 19, 2008, Anchorage, Alaska - Governor Sarah Palin and Public Safety Commissioner Chuck Kopp today outlined a new direction for the Department of Public Safety. The Governor has directed Commissioner Kopp to focus on working cooperatively with state agencies, the military and other entities to expand the pool of applicants to fill vacant trooper positions and formulate an action plan to deal with rural crime issues.

"I am committed to bringing a balanced managerial and leadership perspective to the Department of Public Safety," said Kopp. "I will help form and then carry out the policy set forth by the Office of the Governor and meet the mission and needs of the department."

Highlights of the plan include:

- Efficiently using trooper resources and filling vacancies. One example is to reclassify existing open trooper job positions to job classes (Court Services and investigative support positions) that are more easily filled, allowing troopers to carrying out a full range of public safety services.

- * Comprehensively review the issues of alcohol and drug abuse and crime, particularly in rural Alaska. Additionally, consider adding manpower for alcohol and drug interdiction efforts.

- * Cooperatively work with state and federal agencies and other entities as part of a multi-agency effort that focuses on outreach, education, treatment and prevention, and law enforcement as part of an answer to alcohol and drug abuse prevention problems in rural Alaska.

- * Establish strong lateral communications between departments to accomplish the mission of each department and to assist those agencies in meeting their missions.

- * Establish a recruiting effort focusing on returning National Guard troops and other military service members, VPSO's and Alaska Natives.

* Increase training for troopers and VPSO's.

* Propose legislation that will slow the flow of alcohol to rural Alaska, particularly communities that have voted to restrict alcohol. One example would be reducing the amount of alcohol that can be shipped by written orders into rural Alaska.

"I have high expectations and confidence in Commissioner Kopp's ability to lead the department in this new direction," Governor Palin said. "His willingness to think outside the box and find new ways to work cooperatively with state agencies will improve the public safety of all Alaskans."

I have repeated this message to the media over and over. Letting them know that the governor asked agencies to find efficiencies last year, this year and will likely ask again next year. I have explained the $20 million is a target savings goal and it is not the governor's goal to cut positions. I also reminded reporters about the increased $ we asked the legislature for (for DPS) - and how they funded roughly half -don't have the exact figure I front of me - was referencing an earlier email from Karen.

A written statement would be good. On my way in.

Thanks Karen.

Please let me know if I understand this correctly.

On the issue of the $2.5 million dollar operating budget reduction for DPS that keeps getting mentioned, I believe what reporters and the union are getting at is the announcement we made in May, 2008, when vetoes were released that we were setting a target of a $20 million reduction to the operating budget for all our commissioners.

DPS' share of the goal of a $20 million reduction in operating costs ended up around $2.5 million.

Is the best way to explain this that we expect all our commissioners to be fiscally responsible and actively manage their departments for savings. The goal was set to provide some direction to commissioners and motivate them as to what we hoped they could accomplish in managing their budget over the next 12 month budget period for FY 2009.

Other commissioners are trying to manage their budgets in a more fiscally responsible manner to try and reach the target, DPS is an agency that we also wanted to try and manage their budget to find out what they can achieve.

Basically, commissioners were challenged to work harder on their budgets and find savings where they could and meet their targets. I don't think the intent was to make agencies take drastic steps to achieve their targets that would hurt the mission of the department.

Subject: Royalty oil

I would bet that at least one of a handful of people in Fairbanks will ask about using our royalty oil to fix the energy/home heating oil crisis. Richard Tilly, Lisa Peger, and Jim Weidner have all been advocates of this approach at one point or another.

Richard Tilly is a local contractor who took the time to put together a fairly detailed proposal and set of figures. It was, in turn, sent to Commissioner Irwin by Rep. Kawasaki for review. We are very close to having an equally detailed response explaining why that approach can't and won't work.

The bottom line is that a judicial decision suggests strongly that we can't sell royalty oil for less than we would receive than if we took it in value.

Beyond that, much of our royalty oil is already under contract to Flint Hills, but even if we were to take it all in kind and sell it for less, it is unlikely to have the intended effect. There is more oil refined in Alaska than we have in royalty. We would have to subsidize non-royalty oil in order to get all heating oil, diesel, and gasoline produced in Alaska down to the same price.

This will all be explained to Rep Kawasaki, Mr Tilly, and anybody else who asks about it in short order. We can take names and addresses for those who are interested and send them the details and report.

Subject: Response to Issues Regarding LNG Export License & Economics from AGPA

Dear Governor Palin, Senate President Green, Speaker Harris, Members of the Alaska State Legislature, Commissioner Irwin, Commissioner Galvin, Deputy Commissioner Rutherford and Joe Balash

As you return to Juneau for the final debate and vote on AGIA, I would like to succinctly address a few points regarding the All-Alaska gasline / LNG project. Several of these are considered by some to be stumbling blocks for this project. The facts, data, economics, and existing license and agreements suggest that there are no insurmountable hurdles to a successful LNG project that could expeditiously provide much needed gas to Alaskans.

Economics

It has been suggested an LNG project would have inferior economics to a Canadian project. Because of the superior pricing environment in Asia, an LNG project at like volumes will have a superior netback and net present value to a Canadian project in all reasonable scenarios. A smaller 2.7 bcf/d LNG project has a higher projected netback than a larger Canadian line in most scenarios (with the exception primarily of very strong North American and very weak Asian gas price scenarios). Both the EconOne (page 46) and Port Authority analyses support the above conclusions.

Export License

Neither the Port Authority nor its Fortune 500 partners believe exporting North Slope gas will be an insurmountable hurdle. In 1989 DOE granted YPC an export license for LNG from Valdez. In its detailed and comprehensive decision DOE rejected virtually all of the arguments that a party would make in opposition to an export license. Consequently, there are significant reasons to believe either: 1) YPC's existing export license will be honored by DOE; or 2) if not honored that a new license will be issued. Counsel for the Port Authority has prepared a 12 page report on the applicable law which, along with the relevant DOE precedent, are available upon request. Legislators are encouraged to review this material to get a feel for DOE's decision making process and how strong a presumption at the federal level there is for allowing export. Legislators are encouraged to review this material to gain an insight into the DOE's decision making process and an appreciation for the strong presumption at the federal level for allowing export.

These are historic times and monumental decisions of generational import on how to move Alaska's gas to market and to Alaskans. What a privilege it is for each of us – project sponsors, administrators, consultants and decision maker alike – to be a participant in this process. As stewards of Alaska's resources, we know you will leave no stone unturned or any opportunity ignored in these decisive final hours. As always, if I can provide any additional information or answer any questions, do not hesitate to email me or call me at 278-7000 (office) or 223-8530 (cell).

RE: Loss of down fishing time and resources

Dear Governor Palin and Commissioner Lloyd;

I would like to place an important option to your immediate attention, regarding our fishing and fishing community's futures. We all agree these two are in distress from management decisions of the past and in my humble opinion it's time to re-engineer a better promise for a brighter future. We should never think we are subject to foreign processing in order to achieve high goals for Alaska and All Alaskans.

I would like to see Alaska's Western CDQ communities take the lead to band together to organize Village based processes unique to an individual community. For example, picture portable containers, that house a particular process and can be ready shipped and assembles, as a community requires. The corner stone would be in fisherman's handling such as H&G bleed fish on board, chilled and delivered to filleting and packaging operations ready to expedite from the water to the dinner tables in as short of time as possible to insure consumer quality. We have drafted plans to such operations for your review. As filleting is grasped and a new process such as commercial smoking or canning is needed, the operation container can be barged in to snap onto an established and working process.

It is believed by some we need to construct multi-million dollar operations that require much investment all at once. This is not the case if we look towards the future and micro manage our movements to develop success stories around Western Alaska where much needed economic development is surly needed. I could really talk long and hard on this area as Togiak with it's monopolized fish processors that pay 50 cents a pound for fish that grabs a much higher value as it journeys outward to the benefit of other states citizenry and a huge loss for Alaskans.

The answer isn't found in foreign processors but in the hearts of all Alaskans who want and deserve a better future. I say let's work together to make it happen as we re-tool our thinking and perspective to micro processing in Western Alaska. These processing stations would insure less shut down and loss of valuable fishing time as well as convert profit processes to build economic stability in Western Alaska's poorest communities. The dinosaurs of the past must be streamlined into processes that can be added for resource development for of local customary process marketable in many areas and uses. For example, human or pet consumption as well as fish oil markets for Omega III in vitamin markets etc.

Okay, I believe we have all worked and thought on these things but I would like to see sleeves roll up and minds come together to solve and build better solutions. We shouldn't have the problems in the fishing/processing industry in Alaska we have today with loss of fishing time with a result of economic loss in Alaska's communities. Let's hold a CDQ Communities Fishing/Processing Summit to put ideas into action for better seasons to come. Let's not look to outside help and resources to develop what belongs to Alaskans. Let's work to set the pace and establish a fair market price for Alaskan's and Alaskan resources. I have seen the markets and have much respect for micro processing in Alaska, please help others and me relize a dream unique to Western Alaskans.

Thank you for your time and thoughts in this matter. As I will be out fishing tomorrow I will e-mail this proposal letter with a hard copy to follow for your records.

Subject: Response to Issues Regarding LNG Export License & Economics from AGPA

Dear Governor Palin, Senate President Green, Speaker Harris, Members of the Alaska State Legislature, Commissioner Irwin, Commissioner Galvin, Deputy Commissioner Rutherford and Joe Balash

As you return to Juneau for the final debate and vote on AGIA, I would like to succinctly address a few points regarding the All-Alaska gasline / LNG project. Several of these are considered by some to be stumbling blocks for this project. The facts, data, economics, and existing license and agreements suggest that there are no insurmountable hurdles to a successful LNG project that could expeditiously provide much needed gas to Alaskans.

Economics

It has been suggested an LNG project would have inferior economics to a Canadian project. Because of the superior pricing environment in Asia, an LNG project at like volumes will have a superior netback and net present value to a Canadian project in all reasonable scenarios. A smaller 2.7 bcf/d LNG project has a higher projected netback than a larger Canadian line in most scenarios (with the exception primarily of very strong North American and very weak Asian gas price scenarios). Both the EconOne (page 46) and Port Authority analyses support the above conclusions.

Export License

Neither the Port Authority nor its Fortune 500 partners believe exporting North Slope gas will be an insurmountable hurdle. In 1989 DOE granted YPC an export license for LNG from Valdez. In its detailed and comprehensive decision DOE rejected virtually all of the arguments that a party would make in opposition to an export license. Consequently, there are significant reasons to believe either: 1) YPC's existing export license will be honored by DOE; or 2) if not honored that a new license will be issued. Counsel for the Port Authority has prepared a 12 page report on the applicable law which, along with the relevant DOE precedent, are available upon request. Legislators are encouraged to review this material to get a feel for DOE's decision making process and how strong a presumption at the federal level there is for allowing export. Legislators are encouraged to review this material to gain an insight into the DOE's decision making process and an appreciation for the strong presumption at the federal level for allowing export.

These are historic times and monumental decisions of generational import on how to move Alaska's gas to market and to Alaskans. What a privilege it is for each of us - project sponsors, administrators, consultants and decision maker alike - to be a participant in this process. As stewards of Alaska's resources, we know you will leave no stone unturned or any opportunity ignored in these decisive final hours. As always, if I can provide any additional information or answer any questions, do not hesitate to email me or call me at 278-7000 (office) or 223-8530 (cell).

Good morning everyone,

Senator Olson and Willow want all of you to know that they had their baby -- 8 lb 6 oz Donald, Jr -- yesterday at 4:35 am! Both Mom and baby are doing great and everything went smoothly ... and quickly. Willow and baby were released from the hospital yesterday and were actually in their home in Anchorage by 10 pm. The Senator will be delayed getting back to Juneau and when he does arrive, I'm told he will be coming alone, so unfortunately, we will all have to wait a little while longer to meet Jr. - but he can tell you all about him when he does arrive. They are happy to have their "bundle of joy" and wanted to share that great news with you right away.

Enclosed is yet another document that I found and took the time out of my life to do CSED job. This I found not only in 2008; but also first discovered it in 2005.

I was hoping that my case worker would do her job and submit this to the MOA which she never did nor did she ever research this site.

When is my CSED case worker going to do her job?

It is too bad that I am not getting paid to do her job since I have no job, money, and am now having to move back with my parents in Dillingham, Alaska.

Since I became partially disabled in an MVA in 1999 it has been a hardship on me since I am not able to make the money that I use too.

Any comments?

Thank you once again for your time.

Subject: Copy of statement sent to Megan Holland

Per Rosanne and Sharon, this statement went out awhile ago to Megan Holland at the ADN.

Former Commissioner Monegan has asked several questions of me through reporter Megan Holland. My response to those questions follows:

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware he had several various plans in the works related to staffing and recruitment and retention. Like the legislature, I was focused and aware of a lack of results in recruiting and retention. Action and results, not words are the bottom line. For nearly two years there were very high numbers of vacancies in the troopers with nearly 1 in 7 positions being unfilled. There were 56 vacancies as of June 30, 2008. I was also aware that regardless of any plans of Mr. Monegan's, no new positions would be approved by the legislature until vacancies were filled, which made it even more important to get the job done.

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware of a draft 2007 annual report. I was aware of the draft and in fact, had several questions about it that Mr. Monegan never answered. My special assistant and Chief-of-Staff were also reviewing the draft. The fact that Mr. Monegan prepared a detailed draft written report of the troopers' activities in 2007 does not change the bottom line or lack of results under Mr. Monegan.

Mr. Monegan has suggested that I did not meet with him. This is wrong. In addition to several face-to-face meetings, Walt and I spent much more time together discussing the future and direction of public safety, and my desire for immediate action. Remember that Walt and I had many opportunities, dozens of discussions at events throughout the state, including one-on-one time together on the state's plane traveling to the bush. That's in addition to every cabinet meeting, every reception, other trips, and phone calls that I personally had with Walt. To suggest that he had four opportunities with me in 17 months to discuss public safety is untruthful. Also notable, are the meetings and conversations that my staff had with Walt on my behalf, including meetings and conversations with fellow Commissioners, the Chief-of-Staff, Deputy Chief-of-Staff, Attorney General, Special Assistants, etc. There is not one instance where Walt was turned down for a meeting, a phone call, or any type of conversation.

While I have been busy with AGIA, I pay attention and take care of the state's business on all other fronts as well, and will continue to do so.

Most of the statement is in the there toward the bottom - I had switched the order of paragraphs to emphasize what was most important and that is the number of times that you've met with Walt. The main thing missing is a summary of your four trips seated together to rural Alaska and your days together in Bethel, New Stu (twice), and Dillingham. Also, we reworked the last statement re: AGIA.

Below is what you approved Governor - for use tomorrow by anyone who needs to reiterate your points.

Thanks,
Meg

9/18/2009

First, regarding the number of meetings I've had with Walt over the last year and a half, in addition to several face-to-face meetings, Walt and I spent much more time together discussing the future and direction of public safety, and my desire for immediate action. Remember that Walt and I had many opportunities, dozens of discussions at events throughout the state, including four trips to rural Alaska seated together on the plane. During those trips to Bethel, New Stu (twice), and Dillingham, we also spent our days together. That's in addition to every cabinet meeting, every reception, other trips, and phone calls that I've personally had with Walt. To suggest that he had four face-to-face meetings with me in 17 months to discuss public safety is untruthful. Also notable, are the meetings and conversations that my staff had with Walt, on my behalf, including meetings and conversations with fellow Commissioners, the Chief-of-Staff, Deputy Chief-of-Staff, Attorney General, Special Assistants, etc. There is not one instance where Walt was turned down for a meeting, a phone call, or any type of conversation.

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware that he had several various plans in the works related to staffing and recruitment and retention. I would assume those plans are the same ones we discussed in those events and meetings, during Cabinet meetings, and on the plane, among other places. Those plans mirrored my thoughts and ideas to get more troopers and tackle the alcohol problem. That's why the ideas remain behind Kopp - only I expect immediate action in this new direction, not just another reminder of our plans. Regarding the draft 2007 annual report. My staff has advised that a copy of a lengthy draft report was provided by him for review by the special assistant and Chief-of-Staff. Again, though, I'm ready for results. And so are the people of this state.

AGIA has been appropriately time consuming. AGIA is our future; the gasline is the financial security for the future of our state. The revenue from the gasline will pay for our essentials, including public safety. However, the time spent on AGIA over the last year and a half has not been to the detriment of ANY department or its missions... and all the more reason to have high expectations that I have self-starters and results-oriented cabinet members.

I would assume those plans are the same ones we discussed in those events and meetings, during Cabinet meetings, and on the plane, among other places. Those plans mirrored my thoughts and ideas to get more troopers and tackle the alcohol problem. That's why the ideas remain behind Kopp - only I expect immediate action in this new direction, not just another reminder of our plans. Regarding the draft 2007 annual report. My staff has advised that a copy of a lengthy draft report was provided by him for review by the special assistant and Chief-of-Staff. Again, though, I'm ready for results. And so are the people of this state.

AGIA has been appropriately time consuming. AGIA is our future; the gasline is the financial security for the future of our state. The revenue from the gasline will pay for our essentials, including public safety. However, the time spent on AGIA over the last year and a half has not been to the detriment of ANY department or its missions... and all the more reason to have high expectations that I have self-starters and results-oriented cabinet members.

Subject: Copy of statement sent to Megan Holland

Per Rosanne and Sharon, this statement went out awhile ago to Megan Holland at the ADN.

Former Commissioner Monegan has asked several questions of me through reporter Megan Holland. My response to those questions follows:

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware he had several various plans in the works related to staffing and recruitment and retention. Like the legislature, I was focused and aware of a lack of results in recruiting and retention. Action and results, not words are the bottom line. For nearly two years there were very high numbers of vacancies in the troopers with nearly 1 in 7 positions being unfilled. There were 56 vacancies as of June 30, 2008. I was also aware that regardless of any plans of Mr. Monegan's, no new positions would be approved by the legislature until vacancies were filled, which made it even more important to get the job done.

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware of a draft 2007 annual report. I was aware of the draft and in fact, had several questions about it that Mr. Monegan never answered. My special assistant and Chief-of-Staff were also reviewing the draft. The fact that Mr. Monegan prepared a detailed draft written report of the troopers' activities in 2007 does not change the bottom line or lack of results under Mr. Monegan.

Mr. Monegan has suggested that I did not meet with him. This is wrong. In addition to several face-to-face meetings, Walt and I spent much more time together discussing the future and direction of public safety, and my desire for immediate action. Remember that Walt and I had many opportunities, dozens of discussions at events throughout the state, including one-on-one time together on the state's plane traveling to the bush. That's in addition to every cabinet meeting, every reception, other trips, and phone calls that I personally had with Walt. To suggest that he had four opportunities with me in 17 months to discuss public safety is untruthful. Also notable, are the meetings and conversations that my staff had with Walt on my behalf, including meetings and conversations with fellow Commissioners, the Chief-of-Staff, Deputy Chief-of-Staff, Attorney General, Special Assistants, etc. There is not one instance where Walt was turned down for a meeting, a phone call, or any type of conversation.

While I have been busy with AGIA, I pay attention and take care of the state's business on all other fronts as well, and will continue to do so.

Most of the statement is in the there toward the bottom - I had switched the order of paragraphs to emphasize what was most important and that is the number of times that you've met with Walt. The main thing missing is a summary of your four trips seated together to rural Alaska and your days together in Bethel, New Stu (twice), and Dillingham. Also, we reworked the last statement re: AGIA.

Below is what you approved Governor - for use tomorrow by anyone who needs to reiterate your points.

Thanks,
Meg

First, regarding the number of meetings I've had with Walt over the last year and a half, in addition to several face-to-face meetings, Walt and I spent much more time together discussing the future and direction of public safety, and my desire for immediate action. Remember that Walt and I had many opportunities, dozens of discussions at events throughout the state, including four trips to rural Alaska seated together on the plane. During those trips to Bethel, New Stu (twice), and Dillingham, we also spent our days together. That's in addition to every cabinet meeting, every reception, other trips, and phone calls that I've personally had with Walt. To suggest that he had four face-to-face meetings with me in 17 months to discuss public safety is untruthful. Also notable, are the meetings and conversations that my staff had with Walt, on my behalf, including meetings and conversations with fellow Commissioners, the Chief-of-Staff, Deputy Chief-of-Staff, Attorney General, Special Assistants, etc. There is not one instance where Walt was turned down for a meeting, a phone call, or any type of conversation.

I just wanted to make sure you knew that with all the staffers attending the reception, there would be plenty of assistance to clean up, etc. Please make sure Diane and Suzi know that also.

Just trying to not burden anyone with last-minute plans that are usually out of my control even. It all went well, the food was great, pies excellent... and never meant for you to believe I didn't want you there. Thanks

My understanding, just based on short convo with Kris, is that Kopp got an attorney and is going to hold a press conf to defend himself and explain the allegations from a kenai woman? And the kenai mayor will be standing with him? If there are any details I need to hear them- like when this will take place, what prompted this new action, etc.

He does need to take all action, solidly, to dispel any untruths out there, asap. I've had very good Alaskans say that this is NOT a good situation he's in.

I just talked to holland on phone, essentially quoted Meg's statement and incorporated randy's points - she says she'll try to get it on line... pray that it goes in the paper too (she doubted that)- she was shocked to hear of cabinet meetings, three trips sitting by him to rural communities, etc. He insists it was four times in 17 months. I restated that I and cos, dep cos and sp assist Randy also spoke with him about direction we wanted to go w recruits, alcohol, etc i- RESULTS/ACTION not just "plans".

Rosanne- I understand adn contacted you re: the number of meetings I've had w Walt, and his claim that it was only four.

I hope you reminded them of every cabinet meeting, every reception, every trip, phone call and face-to-face that I had with Walt. There will be many, many instances to cite.

Again, Walt will be proven to be less than truthful with this latest claim.

Also notable is all the mtgs/conversations he had with COS, Dep COS, Special Assistants, etc. And the fact he was NEVER refused any request to meet with any of us. He met with other staffers and fellow commissioners and AG, also, in "communications" with me.

Hopefully all that's noted before she files her story.

And pls pass on the Bill McA. What's his email addy?

Janice- pls look through sched to prove these points. Thanks

Subject: RE: Statement

Most of the statement is in the there toward the bottom - I had switched the order of paragraphs to emphasize what was most important and that is the number of times that you've met with Walt. The main thing missing is a summary of your four trips seated together to rural Alaska and your days together in Bethel, New Stu (twice), and Dillingham. Also, we reworked the last statement re: AGIA.

Below is what you approved Governor - for use tomorrow by anyone who needs to reiterate your points.

Thanks,

Meg

First, regarding the number of meetings I've had with Walt over the last year and a half, in addition to several face-to-face meetings, Walt and I spent much more time together discussing the future and direction of public safety, and my desire for immediate action. Remember that Walt and I had many opportunities, dozens of discussions at events throughout the state, including four trips to rural Alaska seated together on the plane. During those trips to Bethel, New Stu (twice), and Dillingham, we also spent our days together. That's in addition to every cabinet meeting, every reception, other trips, and phone calls that I've personally had with Walt. To suggest that he had four face-to-face meetings with me in 17 months to discuss public safety is untruthful. Also notable, are the meetings and conversations that my staff had with Walt, on my behalf, including meetings and conversations with fellow Commissioners, the Chief-of-Staff, Deputy Chief-of-Staff, Attorney General, Special Assistants, etc. There is not one instance where Walt was turned down for a meeting, a phone call, or any type of conversation.

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware that he had several various plans in the works related to staffing and recruitment and retention. I would assume those plans are the same ones we discussed in those events and meetings, during Cabinet meetings, and on the plane, among other places. Those plans mirrored my thoughts and ideas to get more troopers and tackle the alcohol problem. That's why the ideas remain behind Kopp - only I expect immediate action in this new direction, not just another reminder of our plans. Regarding the draft 2007 annual report. My staff has advised that a copy of a lengthy draft report was provided by him for review by the special assistant and Chief-of-Staff. Again, though, I'm ready for results. And so are the people of this state.

AGIA has been appropriately time consuming. AGIA is our future; the gasline is the financial security for the future of our state. The revenue from the gasline will pay for our essentials, including public safety. However, the time spent on AGIA over the last year and a half has not been to the detriment of ANY department or its missions... and all the more reason to have high expectations that I have self-starters and results-oriented cabinet members.

Subject: Copy of statement sent to Megan Holland

Per Rosanne and Sharon, this statement went out awhile ago to Megan Holland at the ADN.

Former Commissioner Monegan has asked several questions of me through reporter Megan Holland. My response to those questions follows:

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware he had several various plans in the works related to staffing and recruitment and retention. Like the legislature, I was focused and aware of a lack of results in recruiting and retention. Action and results, not words are the bottom line. For nearly two years there were very high numbers of vacancies in the troopers with nearly 1 in 7 positions being unfilled. There were 56 vacancies as of June 30, 2008. I was also aware that regardless of any plans of Mr. Monegan's, no new positions would be approved by the legislature until vacancies were filled, which made it even more important to get the job done.

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware of a draft 2007 annual report. I was aware of the draft and in fact, had several questions about it that Mr. Monegan never answered. My special assistant and Chief-of-Staff were also reviewing the draft. The fact that Mr. Monegan prepared a detailed draft written report of the troopers' activities in 2007 does not change the bottom line or lack of results under Mr. Monegan.

Mr. Monegan has suggested that I did not meet with him. This is wrong. In addition to several face-to-face meetings, Walt and I spent much more time together discussing the future and direction of public safety, and my desire for immediate action. Remember that Walt and I had many opportunities, dozens of discussions at events throughout the state, including one-on-one time together on the state's plane traveling to the bush. That's in addition to every cabinet meeting, every reception, other trips, and phone calls that I personally had with Walt. To suggest that he had four opportunities with me in 17 months to discuss public safety is untruthful. Also notable, are the meetings and conversations that my staff had with Walt on my behalf, including meetings and conversations with fellow Commissioners, the Chief-of-Staff, Deputy Chief-of-Staff, Attorney General, Special Assistants, etc. There is not one instance where Walt was turned down for a meeting, a phone call, or any type of conversation.

While I have been busy with AGIA, I pay attention and take care of the state's business on all other fronts as well, and will continue to do so.

Subject: RE: Statement

Most of the statement is in the there toward the bottom - I had switched the order of paragraphs to emphasize what was most important and that is the number of times that you've met with Walt. The main thing missing is a summary of your four trips seated together to rural Alaska and your days together in Bethel, New Stu (twice), and Dillingham. Also, we reworked the last statement re: AGIA.

Below is what you approved Governor - for use tomorrow by anyone who needs to reiterate your points.

Thanks,

Meg

First, regarding the number of meetings I've had with Walt over the last year and a half, in addition to several face-to-face meetings, Walt and I spent much more time together discussing the future and direction of public safety, and my desire for immediate action. Remember that Walt and I had many opportunities, dozens of discussions at events throughout the state, including four trips to rural Alaska seated together on the plane. During those trips to Bethel, New Stu (twice), and Dillingham, we also spent our days together. That's in addition to every cabinet meeting, every reception, other trips, and phone calls that I've personally had with Walt. To suggest that he had four face-to-face meetings with me in 17 months to discuss public safety is untruthful. Also notable, are the meetings and conversations that my staff had with Walt, on my behalf, including meetings and conversations with fellow Commissioners, the Chief-of-Staff, Deputy Chief-of-Staff, Attorney General, Special Assistants, etc. There is not one instance where Walt was turned down for a meeting, a phone call, or any type of conversation.

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware that he had several various plans in the works related to staffing and recruitment and retention. I would assume those plans are the same ones we discussed in those events and meetings, during Cabinet meetings, and on the plane, among other places. Those plans mirrored my thoughts and ideas to get more troopers and tackle the alcohol problem. That's why the ideas remain behind Kopp - only I expect immediate action in this new direction, not just another reminder of our plans. Regarding the draft 2007 annual report. My staff has advised that a copy of a lengthy draft report was provided by him for review by the special assistant and Chief-of-Staff. Again, though, I'm ready for results. And so are the people of this state.

AGIA has been appropriately time consuming. AGIA is our future; the gasline is the financial security for the future of our state. The revenue from the gasline will pay for our essentials, including public safety. However, the time spent on AGIA over the last year and a half has not been to the detriment of ANY department or its missions... and all the more reason to have high expectations that I have self-starters and results-oriented cabinet members.

Subject: Copy of statement sent to Megan Holland

Per Rosanne and Sharon, this statement went out awhile ago to Megan Holland at the ADN.

Former Commissioner Monegan has asked several questions of me through reporter Megan Holland. My response to those questions follows:

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware he had several various plans in the works related to staffing and recruitment and retention. Like the legislature, I was focused and aware of a lack of results in recruiting and retention. Action and results, not words are the bottom line. For nearly two years there were very high numbers of vacancies in the troopers with nearly 1 in 7 positions being unfilled. There were 56 vacancies as of June 30, 2008. I was also aware that regardless of any plans of Mr. Monegan's, no new positions would be approved by the legislature until vacancies were filled, which made it even more important to get the job done.

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware of a draft 2007 annual report. I was aware of the draft and in fact, had several questions about it that Mr. Monegan never answered. My special assistant and Chief-of-Staff were also reviewing the draft. The fact that Mr. Monegan prepared a detailed draft written report of the troopers' activities in 2007 does not change the bottom line or lack of results under Mr. Monegan.

Mr. Monegan has suggested that I did not meet with him. This is wrong. In addition to several face-to-face meetings, Walt and I spent much more time together discussing the future and direction of public safety, and my desire for immediate action. Remember that Walt and I had many opportunities, dozens of discussions at events throughout the state, including one-on-one time together on the state's plane traveling to the bush. That's in addition to every cabinet meeting, every reception, other trips, and phone calls that I personally had with Walt. To suggest that he had four opportunities with me in 17 months to discuss public safety is untruthful. Also notable, are the meetings and conversations that my staff had with Walt on my behalf, including meetings and conversations with fellow Commissioners, the Chief-of-Staff, Deputy Chief-of-Staff, Attorney General, Special Assistants, etc. There is not one instance where Walt was turned down for a meeting, a phone call, or any type of conversation.

While I have been busy with AGIA, I pay attention and take care of the state's business on all other fronts as well, and will continue to do so.

Just an FYI. A letter I drafted to the chairs of the committees where our motor fuel tax bills are being heard is being delivered to all legislators today. It talks mainly about the benefits of the suspension of the motor fuel tax to the fishing industry. Janice has a copy of the letter for your reading file. Kelly signed off.

Again, Walt will be proven to be less than truthful with this latest claim.

Also notable is all the mtgs/conversations he had with COS, Dep COS, Special Assistants, etc. And the fact he was NEVER refused any request to meet with any of us. He met with other staffers and fellow commissioners and AG, also, in "communications" with me.

From my understanding Randy has incorporated her comments/tone and prepared another draft since then. The deadline was missed, but Sharon said she thought this was taken care of before she left Anchorage so I've asked her to clear up the cluster w/Rosanne (and Meg Holland). We will get the polished statement to Meg tomorrow. Again, sorry as I was just venting about how all this went down and no matter how much I tried to resolve and help - it was still a cluster.

I hope you reminded them of every cabinet meeting, every reception, every trip, phone call and face-to-face that I had with Walt. There will be many, many instances to cite.

Again, Walt will be proven to be less than truthful with this latest claim.

Also notable is all the mtgs/conversations he had with COS, Dep COS, Special Assistants, etc. And the fact he was NEVER refused any request to meet with any of us. He met with other staffers and fellow commissioners and AG, also, in "communications" with me.

Hopefully all that's noted before she files her story.

And pls pass on the Bill McA. What's his email addy?

Janice- pls look through sched to prove these points. Thanks

Rosanne- I understand adn contacted you re: the number of meetings I've had w Walt, and his claim that it was only four.

I hope you reminded them of every cabinet meeting, every reception, every trip, phone call and face-to-face that I had with Walt. There will be many, many instances to cite.

Again, Walt will be proven to be less than truthful with this latest claim.

Also notable is all the mtgs/conversations he had with COS, Dep COS, Special Assistants, etc. And the fact he was NEVER refused any request to meet with any of us. He met with other staffers and fellow commissioners and AG, also, in "communications" with me.

Hopefully all that's noted before she files her story.

And pls pass on the Bill McA. What's his email addy?

Janice- pls look through sched to prove these points. Thanks

6/30/2008 – 56 vacant
12/31/2007 – 58 vacant
6/30/2007 – 65 vacant

Bottom line is that it doesn't appear things have changed much in a year's time – hope this helps! Randy, are you attending the event at the house? KJR

MESSAGE:

Ms. Palin,

I'm a very strong supporter of your administration. I have been on Andrew Halcro's blog all week trying to get people to understand what a poor sport and loser he is. It drives me crazy that he can make a few accusations, and then all hell breaks loose. He is acting way to smug for my liking.

I don't think you owe anyone an apology for firing Walt M, No one asked you to explain your actions when you got elected and let people go, so you could bring your own people in. Why is it different now? Ok, so, I would really like to help in any way I can. I would love to be able to dig up some dirt on Andrew and throw it out to the public.

Stand strong, don't let him or the rest of his bunch get you down. Whatever you do, don't let Andrew force you into saying anything defensive. He wants you to slip up.

I am volunteering to help in any way I can.....I want this cat to shut up and go away as bad as you do.

MESSAGE:

Dear Gov. Palin

I know you you are very busy and I don't need a letter back. I just wanted to tell you that I admire the job you are doing. This is the first time in a long time that I have felt that a position actually understands the working person. When you make a mistake and we don't agree it is ok because you are doing the best you can, just keep doing what you think is right because we need you and a dozen more that are like you. Stand by your values and know we do appreciate you.

Thank you and your family Good jab

Thank you Randy. Yes, the surprises that would hit after discussions w/me, you, COS, etc (some that landed on the legislative floor) were especially perplexing. Lauren's recall of some of these issues has now been cleared up, in my mind, being reminded by you now of the true sequence of events.

Just a few quick points:

Alcohol Issues.

Lauren Rice is incorrect when she says that the idea for legislation establishing mandatory minimum sentences for bootleggers originated with the troopers. It originated with me and arose out of a case I was aware of where a bootlegger got sentenced to only 160 hours of community work service after bootlegging into a damp or dry community.

Recruiting

On recruiting, after we met in Juneau in February with the Veterans Advisory Council, a member of the Council, a fellow by the name of Johnny Guinn from Bethel said he had 150 national guardsman returning to Bethel soon and many needed jobs. I believe I spoke with you about a "troops to troopers" recruiting program at that time starting with these national guardsman, and that you asked me to get this moving through Walt. To my memory, I asked Walt to follow up specifically with this group of guardsman and to establish a formal troops to troopers program. I recall asking Walt about this later and I believe he said oh, we already do some recruiting with the military. In my opinion, we had asked him to come up with a new formal program with a focus on returning rural Alaskan guardsman.

There are other examples as well that were part of my opinion and thoughts that I conveyed to you at that meeting and to COS, etc.

Hi Sarah,

It was great seeing you at the picnic on Friday in Wasilla. Your new son is beautiful!

I wanted to ask if you might be available to speak briefly during the Emergency Preparedness month festival in Anchorage, Loussac Library, on Saturday, September 6th at 10 a.m.?

NAOI will provide information on great training opportunities available this winter to help people prepare for their outdoor adventures safely. Our focus will be winter safety such as avalanche awareness and snowmobile safety.

Thanks! Take care.

There is still the misperception out there in the press that my sister is going through divorce proceedings and/or a custody battle. Not true-it's all been concluded...they've been divorced for some time now and the judge sided with Molly in the custody battle. (It's all the more reason to ask why I'd fire Walt for reasons pertaining to Wooten's personal life when it's impossible to fathom any reason to meddle is a closed case and potentially do harm to the party I allegedly sided with?)

Another misperception by reporters is that the concerns over Wooten were recent, and were recently brought to Walt's attention (while I was governor). The concerns were outlined back in '05. I reminded Walt of them IN ANSWER TO HIS QUESTIONS about my need for security detail (as all governors are asked)... and the conversation with Walt was at the behest of the security detail personnel who asked that I share my safety concerns re: Wooten's outrageous threats with the DPS commissioner. I complied with their request, as did Todd (Bob Cockerall and asked Todd to bring to Walt's attention the concerns). This all happened early on.

How about press coming over to the house for pie and coffee? More of them will be in Juneau for the assumed timing of the House vote. We have made ourselves available in such a setting for a long time - we need to!

Either with or without leggings, I want to speak with press in a forum they can appreciate (as they've confirmed with us in the past- they like the gov's house events they've been a part of). Please let me know asap.

To Gov Palin

I believe you had all the right to terminate commisioner Monegan for any reason.

If the reason was because he would not do anything about the Trooper who had threatned to kill your father is a good reason.

This trooper was privy to your security to include your travel etc/

He could have very well arranged to have you set up in a serious accident etc

After reading your email to the Col of the troopers this trooper should have been released from all duties as a trooper.

He is a bully

He very well could have set up your accident on the palmer anchorage highway

Let these soreheads do all of the investigations they want to do.

Your safety as the Governor is important This guy had all of your security information available to him.some of these law inforcment people have been around along time and our system is no beter than it was 20 years ago it is time some of them are retired for good remember corruption breads and supports corruption.excuse my spelling Frank Pagano

As a contributor to the letters to the editors in Alaska newspapers I have changed my opinion of Sarah. There is no way that she will ever convince ANYone that she did not abuse her power and then lie to cover it up. It was sad to see her try to explain it away, she was obviously stumbling for words and her demeanor was one of a child caught getting into no-" no's. What we all witnessed was embarassing to say the least. It is unlikely that she will win re-election as a result. As for being V.P., forget it. This thing is going to destroy her "Cinderella Story" as her opponents and former colleagues are planning a major assault. If Sarah would have done the right thing, she could of turned this situation into a good one. That chance is gone. It is a sad day for Alaska. Please dont respond.

Dear Governor Palin;

I was just at the Governor's picnic in Fairbanks and gave you the beaded eyeglass cover. You had asked who made it. It was made by my auntie (Delores Sloane's sister in law, Delores is also an Athabascan beader).

My auntie is Jessie Carroll, from Chalkyitsik, Alaska. She does the most beautiful beadwork.

Also, I stayed up very late last night editing the PowerPoint presentation I gave you, and I just saw that I made a mistake on the date Reverend David passed away. I'll mail you a more current Powerpoint. I think it was just too late for me to focus.

God Bless You! God can do anything and heal anyone.

Dear Ms. Palin:

Having read your statement about the contentions made by some who don't wish you any good (e.g. Mr. Halcro) I would feel alot better if you outright denied them. Calling them "outrageous" doesn't do this (and sounds like Murkowski-ish politico-speak). If you didn't get involved in that, an outright denial would be in order. If you did, then saying so would carry alot of weight with me. One thing that won't fly with me, though, is dishonesty. Despite not agreeing with you on some things, the fact that you struck me as very open and honest is why I voted for you. Whether you took a part in the dispute I've read about isn't nearly as important, to me, than if you are straight about things.

Please tell the Gov. she has just been proved right in having fired Monagan. Now, she sees his true colors! And just how he treats those he's appointed himself judge, jury, and administrator over.

Please remind her of that "blood of Jesus" she already knows about so well. It will defeat Walt's attacks no matter how good he is at getting others to do it all for him, from every angle. It is the only thing that saved us from him. And it will save her and hers from this firestorm he's started at her. Please remind her of it. No kidding, I can't think of any other way she'll be able to douse his flames. And she with a brand new baby! See, he does't care who gets the fallout of his attacks. See what he's like? A lot of these guys working jobs like his have got way out of hand like this reaction of his to being asked to take another job. The River Denial runs deep and wide with their kind. She needs to be reminded her God can put a stop to it all. Cuz we got important things she's working on right now. And distractions can hurt the whole state, and that little baby. Satan'l love it. And I do so like to thwart Satan's plans. Tell Sarah please. She knows what the blood of Jesus is all a

Megan Holland is looking for a response to some statements by Walt tonight. Walt's statements and Megan's questions were:

1. Is the Governor aware of efforts by Walt for a long-range staffing plan? (Answer: Privileged or Personal Material Redacted)
 2. Is the Governor aware of a recruitment and retention plan? (Answer: Privileged or Personal Material Redacted)
 3. Has the Governor read the draft annual report - 2007? (Answer: Privileged or Personal Material Redacted)
 4. How many face to face meetings with Monegan? He is saying 4 in 17 months. (Answer: Privileged or Personal Material Redacted)
 5. Commissioners feel Gov. too busy with AGIA. (Answer: Privileged or Personal Material Redacted)
- Commissioner Galvin has spoken with Rosanne and suggests Privileged or Personal Material Redacted
Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

We'll just need a head count and a confirmed time... and an understanding if they're separate events or at the same time (I'm assuming press would be sep, perhaps before leggies... they're dying to know what we think and how we'll maneuver thru these days before trhe votes)

Subject: Please help the Troopers

Dear Governor,

I'm sorry for the scandal and misdirection that has embattled your administration this week and distracted you and your staff. I am an Alaska State Trooper, but wish to remain anonymous. I hope you'll permit this and not release this to anyone outside your administration.

As I see the problems that our Department of Public Safety faces, I have a few comments I'd like to make.

- 1) Wooten should have been fired a long time ago. I worked with Mike and he never had the integrity required to be part of the Alaska State Troopers. He should have been fired for performance reasons alone, as he was without exception one of the laziest Troops in B detachment.
- 2) Administrative Investigations should be carried out by individuals who are trained in such, but are employed outside the division of the Alaska State Troopers to avoid the appearance of impropriety. There is no other way to maintain credible oversight of the AST ranks.
- 3) Troopers need to have their mission redefined and pared back, or huge numbers need to be added to their ranks. The rank and file Trooper works his fingers to the bone, and we're laughed at by our municipal peers for how vast our responsibilities are compared to theirs; we regularly miss days off and work extra-long shifts so that we can do an "ok" job. We want to do excellent work, and the frustration alone is demoralizing. When we get painted by the brush of scandal, and one of our own has his very serious sins aired for the world to see, we all look bad. Morale is at an all time low, make no mistake.

Some solutions I'd like to propose:

- 1) Separate all the investigative bureaus (Alaska Bureau of Investigation, Alaska Bureau of Alcohol and Drug Enforcement, Wildlife Investigations, etc) into one division with its own Colonel. This would create a separate career path for the investigators so that they can acquire the complex skills necessary for this type of work, as well as provide an unbiased entity that can more credibly perform Administrative Investigations of police misconduct. If they received the proper training, they could even look into allegations of official misconduct outside DPS. In many states, this is exactly how things are done. This would also allow the investigative bureau to hire outside AST, recruiting experienced investigators from municipal departments without the spectre of forced transfer. This would be right in line with your recruiting goals.

2) Make a decision about what the Troopers will stop doing, so that they can concentrate on excellence in what they do, or significantly increase their support for more officers, and better equipment and training. If you're going to have State Police, they really should lead the pack, and there are a number of municipalities that offer far more competitive pay/benefit packages with half the work.

3) Show public support for your Troops. They work hard for you, and we're really a good bunch of guys and girls. One bad Trooper and an unwieldy discipline system that didn't fire him means that some changes need to be made, but the rest of us really care about doing the right thing, the right way, for the right reasons. Mike Wooten is the exception, but with the perception that you bear enmity toward all Troopers, they will undoubtedly suffer another hit to their morale, something that could be devastating at this time.

I read every page of the published Wooten AI file and it made my blood boil, because I'm now looked at with the same disdain by the public as Mike Wooten is; I wear the same uniform. I'm mostly powerless in making positive changes in this uncertain environment, so I look to you to make a difference here. Please listen.

God Bless,

-Anonymous

How about press coming over to the house for pie and coffee? More of them will be in Juneau for the assumed timing of the House vote. We have made ourselves available in such a setting for a long time - we need to!

Either with or without leggings, I want to speak with press in a forum they can appreciate (as they've confirmed with us in the past- they like the gov's house events they've been a part of). Please let me know asap.

Thanks

July 21, 2008

Dear Colleague:

On behalf of the National Conference of Insurance Legislators (NCOIL), I am forwarding to you a Flood Disaster Mitigation and Relief Model Act, which was adopted unanimously by the NCOIL Executive Committee on Sunday July 13, 2008, during the NCOIL Summer Meeting at the New York Marriott Marquis.

The model act lays out a comprehensive state program to promote awareness of and access to the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP). The model addresses insurance producer and realtor education, local floodplain zoning and management, mandatory purchase of flood insurance by property owners in floodplains, property-owner self-certification of compliance, and other hazard mitigation efforts.

NCOIL has amended provisions in the model law regarding insurance producer education requirements. Among other things, the new language would allow for either basic or advanced continuing education requirements and would authorize online instruction. NCOIL first adopted the model act in November 2003.

NCOIL is an organization of state legislators whose primary area of interest is insurance legislation and regulation. Many legislators active in NCOIL either chair or are members of the committees responsible for insurance legislation in their respective state houses across the country. More information is available at www.ncoil.org.

Dear Colleague:

On behalf of the National Conference of Insurance Legislators (NCOIL), I am forwarding to you a Resolution in Support of Extending Dependent Health Benefits for Young Adults, which was adopted unanimously by the NCOIL Executive Committee on Sunday, July 13 during the NCOIL Summer Meeting in New York City.

The resolution recognizes state efforts to provide additional health insurance benefits for young adults. It supports the extension of existing dependent health insurance benefits to individuals up to the age of 25, regardless of student status, and encourages states to enact legislation presenting master policy holders with an option to purchase such extended benefits for young individuals.

At least 20 states have passed similar legislation in recent years, including Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas, Utah and Washington.

July 21, 2008

Dear Colleague:

On behalf of the National Conference of Insurance Legislators (NCOIL), I am forwarding to you a Resolution Supporting State Regulation of the Use of Credit Information in Personal Insurance, which was adopted unanimously by the NCOIL Executive Committee on Sunday, July 13, 2008 during the NCOIL Summer Meeting at the New York Marriott Marquis.

The resolution recognizes the ongoing 26-state success of the NCOIL insurance scoring model act and its ability to protect consumers and promote competitive insurance markets—including provisions that assist the young, old, and those who suffer extraordinary life events.

In general, the 2002 NCOIL Model Act Regarding Use of Credit Information in Personal Insurance prohibits credit experience from being the sole factor influencing a personal-lines underwriting or rating decision and provides for use of updated credit information, among other things.

The resolution opposes any federal legislation that would disregard a state legislatures' ability to determine what is best for their individual states and would infringe on state authority to regulate the business of insurance. Proponents of pending federal credit scoring bills say they would remedy concerns that insurance scores serve as "stand-ins" for race, income, or ethnicity.

The resolution says that two pending federal bills, H.R. 5633, the Nondiscriminatory Use of Consumer Reports and Consumer Information Act of 2008, and H.R. 6062, the Personal Lines of Insurance Fairness Act of 2008, would intrude on state-level efforts to oversee insurance scoring.

NCOIL is an organization of state legislators whose primary area of interest is insurance legislation and regulation. Many legislators active in NCOIL either chair or are members of the committees responsible for insurance legislation in their respective state houses across the country. More information is available at www.ncoil.org.

State Chamber solicits Nominations for Annual Awards

The Alaska State Chamber of Commerce is soliciting nominations for its prestigious annual awards. The awards are the William A. Egan Outstanding Alaskan, the Bill Bivin Small Business of the Year and the Local Chamber of the Year. Presentations of the awards will be made September 17, 2008 at the at the Chamber's 49th Annual Convention and Business Trade Show in Fairbanks.

The Celebrated and prestigious William A. Egan award is given to individuals who have made substantial and continual contributions of statewide significance while working in the private sector. Each year, nominations are kept strictly confidential and the selection is made with voting by all past chairs of the Alaska State Chamber of Commerce. The recipients of the Outstanding Alaskan of the Year form an impressive list of Alaskan "Who's Who" and dates back to its first honoree in 1964.

The Bill Bivin award, established in 1993, pays tribute to businesses that exemplify leadership, ethics and organization. The business is recognized for consistent community involvement, an excellent business reputation and established leadership in their fields.

The Alaska Chamber of the Year award is bestowed upon an Alaskan chamber for consistent community involvement and an excellent business reputation.

Deadline for submitting applications is the close of business on Friday August 1, 2008

Show

49th State, 49th Year: Planning for Alaska's Prosperity Carlson Center, Fairbanks, Alaska September 16-18, 2008

Our 49th Fall Conference and Business Trade Show: 49th Year, 49th State: Planning for Alaska's Prosperity event is September 16-18, 2008 at the Carlson Center in Fairbanks. The Annual Fall Conference and Business Trade Show feature's timely topics important to the future of Alaska business.

This year our opening reception will kick off with refreshments, entertainment and networking at the Alaska Railroad Depot Opening Reception on the evening of Tuesday, September 16

Attend the business focused public policy forums to learn and contribute to the most important issues facing Alaskan business leaders. Participate in the Voice of the Local Chambers presentation to learn more about local and regional concerns and developments, interact with the U.S. Congressional Delegation at the Live AT & T Video Teleconference, meet business leaders of the Pacific Northwest at the Tacoma-Pierce County Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Seattle Chamber of Commerce Pacific Northwest Breakfast Programs.

The Conference also allows you to participate in the Member Business Forum, designed to initiate legislative policy discussion -- providing an opportunity for members to share their thoughts. You will find great opportunities at the Business Trade Show; where your organization can offer business products and solutions to business leaders across the state, Canada and the Pacific Northwest. You also have the opportunity to enhance your organizations' leadership skills at the Association Management Training; designed for directors, small business leaders and executives of local chambers.

Attend the Awards Reception and then join us at the Annual Awards Banquet for live entertainment, our annual raffle and our awards ceremony recognizing the William A. Egan Alaskan of the Year, the Bill Bivin Small Business of the Year and the Local Chamber of the Year recipients.

Conference Registration
Register for the conference here.

Registration pricing includes incentives for early bird registration before August 15th, member, non-member, spouse, annual awards banquet and reception only and Alaska Railroad networking reception only rates. Travel pricing includes incentives for travel on Alaska Airlines and the Alaska Railroad as well as special rates for accommodations at Springhill Suites by Marriott and The Fairbanks Westmark Hotel! .

FAA Honors Alaska Airlines with Seventh Consecutive Diamond Award for Maintenance Training Excellence

SEATTLE - Alaska Airlines has received its seventh consecutive Diamond Award for maintenance training excellence from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA). This is the fifth consecutive year Alaska received the award with the distinction of Special Recognition, an honor given only when all eligible employees participate in the Aviation Maintenance Technician Awards (AMT) program.

The FAA also presented Alaska Airlines with a special award to recognize its five-year record of 100-percent participation in the AMT program.

"This award underscores our commitment to the core values of safety and compliance," said Fred Mohr, Alaska Airlines' vice president of maintenance and engineering. "In order to achieve this commitment and be at the top of our game, we make a daily investment in the training and technical excellence of our technicians. I am so proud of everything we do to ensure the safety and compliance of our airline. In my opinion, we have the best technicians in the industry."

The FAA also honored 724 Alaska Airlines employees with individual AMT Awards. Seattle Avionics Technician Trainer Neil Fonda and Avionics Technician James Anderson received the highest honor - the Diamond Award - for completing more than 100 hours of training in 2007.

The Aviation Maintenance Technician Awards program began in 1991. Its purpose is to provide incentives for aviation maintenance technicians to participate actively in initial and recurrent training programs, either on their own or in programs subsidized by their employer.

How about press coming over to the house for pie and coffee? More of them will be in Juneau for the assumed timing of the House vote. We have made ourselves available in such a setting for a long time - we need to!

Either with or without leggies, I want to speak with press in a forum they can appreciate (as they've confirmed with us in the past- they like the gov's house events they've been a part of). Please let me know asap.

Thanks

In general, all three members of the Congressional delegation support roads that facilitate natural resource development or promote commerce between villages.

I presume that "E-W" means a road that would approximate an East-West corridor and might intersect with a North-South artery. If so, the closest specific approximation that I can think of is Senator Stevens' previous support for a road corridor in the Gates of the Arctic Act, that is, a road that would traverse the southern portion of the Brooks Range. If you can confirm that I'm on the right track with the reference to E-W, I'll make a specific inquiry to the Senator and his staff.

There may be one complication. If federal lands are involved, the applicant would probably need to use Title XI of ANILCA, relating to transportation and utility corridors. These provisions are extremely cumbersome and bureaucratic and have never been used previously for this purpose.

P.S.

I hope that your visit with Congressman Boehner's entourage was a good one. Any thoughts or necessary follow-up in the aftermath?

Here is my understanding about the press conference tomorrow scheduled for 2:00 at public safety.

It began with the 5:00 channel 2 news cast Jason Moore reported that they had uncovered a memo from the City of Kenai written by the city attorney indicating that when the allegation/complaint came into the department the city removed Chuck from all supervisory duties. They made it quite sinister as you can expect like there is still something that he and the city was hiding.

I called Chuck immediately after the news segment was over and asked if he could walk through this with me. Bottom line is he was already at his attorney's office and on the phone with the City of Kenai attorney's office working on a strategy.

The city did what any responsible employer would do in the situation. Its a human resource response when you have any allegations made about any of your employees as it relates to sexual harassment, you remove immediately the person from the any of supervisory duties (in this situation Chuck directly supervised this woman) until you can substantiate or unsubstantiated the claim. In this case they could not substantiate the claim and eventually Chuck returned to normal duties.

Chuck is having a press conference tomorrow to end this situation by going public with what he can and set the record straight. He will have the city Mayor by his side and she will attest to the situation in favor of Chuck. Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

That is what is going on. They were working on the statement for tomorrow and he will call me in the morning with some more follow up.

My understanding, just based on short convo with Kris, is that Kopp got an attorney and is going to hold a press conf to defend himself and explain the allegations from a kenai woman? And the kenai mayor will be standing with him? If there are any details I need to hear them- like when this will take place, what prompted this new action, etc.

He does need to take all action, solidly, to dispel any untruths out there, asap. I've had very good Alaskans say that this is NOT a good situation he's in.

Here is my understanding about the press conference tomorrow scheduled for 2:00 at public safety.

It began with the 5:00 channel 2 news cast Jason Moore reported that they had uncovered a memo from the City of Kenai written by the city attorney indicating that when the allegation/complaint came into the department the city removed Chuck from all supervisory duties. They made it quite sinister as you can expect like there is still something that he and the city was hiding.

I called Chuck immediately after the news segment was over and asked if he could walk through this with me. Bottom line is he was already at his attorney's office and on the phone with the City of Kenai attorney's office working on a strategy.

The city did what any responsible employer would do in the situation. Its a human resource response when you have any allegations made about any of your employees as it relates to sexual harassment, you remove immediately the person from the any of supervisory duties (in this situation Chuck directly supervised this woman) until you can substantiate or unsubstantiated the claim. In this case they could not substantiate the claim and eventually Chuck returned to normal duties.

Chuck is having a press conference tomorrow to end this situation by going public with what he can and set the record straight. He will have the city Mayor by his side and she will attest to the situation in favor of Chuck. Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Subject: RE: Statement

Most of the statement is in the there toward the bottom - I had switched the order of paragraphs to emphasize what was most important and that is the number of times that you've met with Walt. The main thing missing is a summary of your four trips seated together to rural Alaska and your days together in Bethel, New Stu (twice), and Dillingham. Also, we reworked the last statement re: AGIA.

Below is what you approved Governor - for use tomorrow by anyone who needs to reiterate your points.

Thanks,
Meg

First, regarding the number of meetings I've had with Walt over the last year and a half, in addition to several face-to-face meetings, Walt and I spent much more time together discussing the future and direction of public safety, and my desire for immediate action. Remember that Walt and I had many opportunities, dozens of discussions at events throughout the state, including four trips to rural Alaska seated together on the plane. During those trips to Bethel, New Stu (twice), and Dillingham, we also spent our days together. That's in addition to every cabinet meeting, every reception, other trips, and phone calls that I've personally had with Walt. To suggest that he had four face-to-face meetings with me in 17 months to discuss public safety is untruthful. Also notable, are the meetings and conversations that my staff had with Walt, on my behalf, including meetings and conversations with fellow Commissioners, the Chief-of-Staff, Deputy Chief-of-Staff, Attorney General, Special Assistants, etc. There is not one instance where Walt was turned down for a meeting, a phone call, or any type of conversation.

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware that he had several various plans in the works related to staffing and recruitment and retention. I would assume those plans are the same ones we discussed in those events and meetings, during Cabinet meetings, and on the plane, among other places. Those plans mirrored my thoughts and ideas to get more troopers and tackle the alcohol problem. That's why the ideas remain behind Kopp - only I expect immediate action in this new direction, not just another reminder of our plans. Regarding the draft 2007 annual report. My staff has advised that a copy of a lengthy draft report was provided by him for review by the special assistant and Chief-of-Staff. Again, though, I'm ready for results. And so are the people of this state.

AGIA has been appropriately time consuming. AGIA is our future; the gasline is the financial security for the future of our state. The revenue from the gasline will pay for our essentials, including public safety. However, the time spent on AGIA over the last year and a half has not been to the detriment of ANY department or its missions... and all the more reason to have high expectations that I have self-starters and results-oriented cabinet members.

Per Rosanne and Sharon, this statement went out awhile ago to Megan Holland at the ADN.

Former Commissioner Monegan has asked several questions of me through reporter Megan Holland. My response to those questions follows:

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware he had several various plans in the works related to staffing and recruitment and retention. Like the legislature, I was focused and aware of a lack of results in recruiting and retention. Action and results, not words are the bottom line. For nearly two years there were very high numbers of vacancies in the troopers with nearly 1 in 7 positions being unfilled. There were 56 vacancies as of June 30, 2008. I was also aware that regardless of any plans of Mr. Monegan's, no new positions would be approved by the legislature until vacancies were filled, which made it even more important to get the job done.

Mr. Monegan has asked if I was aware of a draft 2007 annual report. I was aware of the draft and in fact, had several questions about it that Mr. Monegan never answered. My special assistant and Chief-of-Staff were also reviewing the draft. The fact that Mr. Monegan prepared a detailed draft written report of the troopers' activities in 2007 does not change the bottom line or lack of results under Mr. Monegan.

Mr. Monegan has suggested that I did not meet with him. This is wrong. In addition to several face-to-face meetings, Walt and I spent much more time together discussing the future and direction of public safety, and my desire for immediate action. Remember that Walt and I had many opportunities, dozens of discussions at events throughout the state, including one-on-one time together on the state's plane traveling to the bush. That's in addition to every cabinet meeting, every reception, other trips, and phone calls that I personally had with Walt. To suggest that he had four opportunities with me in 17 months to discuss public safety is untruthful. Also notable, are the meetings and conversations that my staff had with Walt on my behalf, including meetings and conversations with fellow Commissioners, the Chief-of-Staff, Deputy Chief-of-Staff, Attorney General, Special Assistants, etc. There is not one instance where Walt was turned down for a meeting, a phone call, or any type of conversation.

While I have been busy with AGIA, I pay attention and take care of the state's business on all other fronts as well, and will continue to do so.

Megan,

Thanks for taking the Governor's call and for reading these emails. I know that reporters on certain beats can amend stories late into the night in some cases. And while I know that it's very late and not an ideal situation, any opportunity that you can provide for the Governor's facts to come out, that would be great. As you know, situations like the trips are documented by the state and cannot be denied.

With that in mind, the Governor wanted me to make sure that she also added a comment about her trips to rural communities with Walt. And so she asked that I pass along to you as well, following your phone conversation with her.

Regarding trips:

"Walt and I had many discussions regarding public safety, including during separate trips to rural Alaska seated together on the plane. More specifically, we also spent our days together during our two visits to New Stu in January and June of 2007 and during our trip to Bethel in January of 2008. And that's in addition to other meetings that I mentioned such as face-to-face meetings, cabinet meetings, receptions throughout the state, and phone calls, among other things."

And one more thought regarding AGIA:

"AGIA has been appropriately time consuming. AGIA is our future; the gasline is the financial security for the future of our state. The revenue from the gasline will help pay for our essentials, including public safety. However, the time spent on AGIA over the last year and a half has not been to the detriment of ANY department or its missions... and all the more reason to have high expectations that I have self-starters and results-oriented cabinet members."

Thanks, Megan.

Subject: Re: ramras

Steven Howell from Parnell's campaign called in to deny replacing ads with Palin's name in it. He said it was coincidental that the ad was changed, they placed the buy a few weeks ago, and that an ad with Palin will run again in a few weeks.

Kristi Green/Leaf/Babcock just called in to defend Chuck Kopp. She said he's a great guy, loved in the community, and she doesn't believe the sexual abuse allegations.

Just listened to Ramras on Fagan. He said Baily and Frye are fine enough people but he's not worried about what is found on them in the emails. What he's worried about is fine individuals like John Bitney and Mike Tibbles. Also, Todd Palin has been doing more than literacy campaigns and breast cancer awareness and that's clear. Ramras says he saw you going from office to office durin ACES. He's also watching with amusement Sean's chameleon act, and said he should have been running his own campaign all along. Dan played the clips of Sean's ads. One with Sarah's name in it, and the other without it. Frank, did Sean really do this??

Governor Palin:

During this troubled time of public scrutiny, just remember, the people still love you.

This is all just some "ruse" to distract us from the REAL issues, and an attempt for some petty government officers to try to get their names in the book. Jealous of your success of running the best government this country has seen in 20 years, don't let their actions keep you from running an amazingly productive government.

Please, print this out and hang this on your wall if you're in need to a constant reminder - you're finally a governor who believes the government belongs to the people.

Governor.

Both Co-Chairs of the C & RA committee, Rep. LeDoux and Rep. Fairclough and some members of House leadership, Rep. Olson, Rep. Chenault? want to amend the resource rebate bill as follows:

1. Add the $1,200 per person resource rebate payment as a separate line item on the PFD checks and check stubs / 1099's (for people that get direct deposit)

2. Not have any supplemental application process for persons that did not qualify for a 2008 PFD. (This removes an estimated 40,000 persons that our supplemental process in our bill are estimated to pick up). This would save 40,000 x $1,200 in payments (over $40 million) and the $500,000 cost of Revenue to running the new resource rebate program. These are persons in Alaska who don't qualify for a PFD because they have not been here long enough, etc).
3. So that we do not miss veterans who receive VA benefits that are reduced by PFD payments so they do not even apply for the PFD and would otherwise be left out in the cold by limiting the $1,200 to persons getting PFD's, they would creates a new alternative payment program for just those veterans. The cost for picking up the veterans alone is probably under $7 million.

In my opinion, we cannot get the bill out of the committee without these amendments but will defer to Kelly on her measure of the committee.

I am ashamed that you presented yourself as so truthful and honest and you are nothing more than a liar and a joke now in this state. You talk about moving Alaska forward and you have done nothing more than take us in the opposite direction. I hope Walt runs for governor after the investigation forces you to resign.

The Coming Assault on Small Businesses

By Tom Donohue, President and CEO

You can't say today's union leaders don't appreciate irony. Last week, one of the nation's largest unions held a global rally protesting our system of free enterprise and capital investment. The union called it the "Take Back Our Economy" rally. Well, if it manages to push through its radical agenda, what it will do is "Take Down Our Economy."

In fact, the agenda of a handful of national unions represents a direct assault on America's small businesses. Their top priority is passage of the deceptively name Employee Free Choice Act, commonly referred to as "card check." The bill would make it cost effective for unions to go after Main Street businesses and small retail establishments.

Dear Invited Guest,

The USS JUNEAU, a Navy amphibious transport ship (also called a landing platform dock or LPD) will be visiting Juneau from 26-30 July 2008. Attached is an invitation to join the Captain and crew on the flight deck of the USS JUNEAU for a reception on 28 July from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m.

On 3 January 2009, Alaska will mark 50 years of statehood. It is our pleasure to be able to visit and meet your community during this historic time. This port visit provides an opportunity for USS Juneau's crew to participate in community outreach projects, provide ship's tours, and experience the beauty and personality unique to the capital city of Juneau.

I look forward to meeting all of you and hosting you on board Alaska's namesake ship, and I especially look forward to introducing you to the 'Finest Crew in the Fleet.'

Sincerely,

CAPT Dennis "Smiley" Mikes
Commanding Officer
USS JUNEAU (LPD 10)

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS: Guests are encouraged to bring as few items as possible when visiting the ship and it is recommended that you wear flat-heeled, closed-toe shoes. The USS JUNEAU is not ADA accessible; therefore limited mobility invitees cannot be accommodated. However, we invite you pier side to see the ship and meet some of our sailors

9/18/2009

When arriving, guests will be required to present a government-issued photo ID and pass through an airport-style security screening checkpoint prior to boarding.

For more information, please call Navy Region Northwest Public Affairs, Sheila Murray (360) 396-4981 /cell (360)340-5398 or Melanie Reeder (360)3296-4988.

RSVPs will be collected by the Juneau Navy League President, Murray Walsh, murray@acsalaska.net , (907)586-4083

OIL SPILLS: Senators to discuss Exxon court ruling (07/22/2008)

Josh Voorhees, E&E Daily reporter

A Senate panel will examine at a hearing tomorrow how the Supreme Court's decision to sharply cut a $2.5 billion judgment against Exxon Mobil Corp. for the 1989 Exxon Valdez oil spill has helped to shield the large corporation from being held financially accountable for misconduct.

Last month in Exxon Shipping Co. v. Baker, the court ruled the punitive damages excessive and cut them to $507.7 million, arguing a rough one-to-one ration of punitive to compensatory damages was appropriate in maritime cases.

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals had already halved a $5 billion jury verdict awarded in 1994.

The Supreme Court's ruling, however, did not go entirely the oil giant's way. Justices rejected multiple arguments from Exxon, including the company's claim that the Clean Water Act penalties pre-empt punitive damages in such maritime cases (Greenwire, June 25).

Still, the severe decrease to the judgment was a blow to the class-action suit's 33,000 plaintiffs, which included commercial fishers and native Alaskans who had pushed for a far greater penalty for the 11-million-gallon oil spill that devastated coastal fisheries and ecosystems in the Prince William Sound.

Osa Schultz, a fisherman and small business owner in Alaska's Prince William Sound, will represent the plaintiffs before the Senate Judiciary Committee tomorrow.

"The recent decision by the United States Supreme Court trumps the rights of the individual for the benefit of bottom line corporate interests," said Schultz in a statement released yesterday by the Whole Truth Campaign, an Alaskan advocacy organization.

The committee will also hear from Harvard law professor Elizabeth Bartholet and Patricia Ann Milliet, co-head of Washington-D.C.-based law firm Akin, Gump, Strauss, Hauer and Feld's Supreme Court practice. Milliet has argued a total of 26 cases in front of the court.

Schedule: The hearing is tomorrow at 10 a.m. in 226 Dirksen.

Witnesses: Osa Schultz, fisherman and business owner in Prince William Sound, Alaska; Elizabeth Bartholet, Morris Wasserstein professor at Harvard Law School; and Patricia Ann Millet, partner in Akin, Gump, Strauss, Hauer and Feld LLP.

Senior reporter Ben Geman contributed to this report.

Here is my understanding about the press conference tomorrow scheduled for 2:00 at public safety.

It began with the 5:00 channel 2 news cast Jason Moore reported that they had uncovered a memo from the City of Kenai written by the city attorney indicating that when the allegation/complaint came into the department the city removed Chuck from all supervisory duties. They made it quite sinister as you can expect like there is still something that he and the city was hiding.

I called Chuck immediately after the news segment was over and asked if he could walk through this with me. Bottom line is he was already at his attorney's office and on the phone with the City of Kenai attorney's office working on a strategy.

The city did what any responsible employer would do in the situation. Its a human resource response when you have any allegations made about any of your employees as it relates to sexual harassment, you remove immediately the person from the any of supervisory duties (in this situation Chuck directly supervised this woman) until you can substantiate or unsubstantiated the claim. In this case they could not substantiate the claim and eventually Chuck returned to normal duties.

Chuck is having a press conference tomorrow to end this situation by going public with what he can and set the record straight. He will have the city Mayor by his side and she will attest to the situation in favor of Chuck. Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

That is what is going on. They were working on the statement for tomorrow and he will call me in the morning with some more follow up.

My understanding, just based on short convo with Kris, is that Kopp got an attorney and is going to hold a press conf to defend himself and explain the allegations from a kenai woman? And the kenai mayor will be standing with him? If there are any details I need to hear them- like when this will take place, what prompted this new action, etc.

He does need to take all action, solidly, to dispel any untruths out there, asap. I've had very good Alaskans say that this is NOT a good situation he's in.

It began with the 5:00 channel 2 news cast Jason Moore reported that they had uncovered a memo from the City of Kenai written by the city attorney indicating that when the allegation/complaint came into the department the city removed Chuck from all supervisory duties. They made it quite sinister as you can expect like there is still something that he and the city was hiding.

I called Chuck immediately after the news segment was over and asked if he could walk through this with me. Bottom line is he was already at his attorney's office and on the phone with the City of Kenai attorney's office working on a strategy.

The city did what any responsible employer would do in the situation. Its a human resource response when you have any allegations made about any of your employees as it relates to sexual harassment, you remove immediately the person from the any of supervisory duties (in this situation Chuck directly supervised this woman) until you can substantiate or unsubstantiated the claim. In this case they could not substantiate the claim and eventually Chuck returned to normal duties.

Chuck is having a press conference tomorrow to end this situation by going public with what he can and set the record straight. He will have the city Mayor by his side and she will attest to the situation in favor of Chuck. Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

That is what is going on. They were working on the statement for tomorrow and he will call me in the morning with some more follow up.

Megan,

Thanks for taking the Governor's call and for reading these emails. I know that reporters on certain beats can amend stories late into the night in some cases. And while I know that it's very late and not an ideal situation, any opportunity that you can provide for the Governor's facts to come out, that would be great. As you know, situations like the trips are documented by the state and cannot be denied.

With that in mind, the Governor wanted me to make sure that she also added a comment about her trips to rural communities with Walt. And so she asked that I pass along to you as well, following your phone conversation with her.

Regarding trips:

"Walt and I had many discussions regarding public safety, including during separate trips to rural Alaska seated together on the plane. More specifically, we also spent our days together during our two visits to New Stu in January and June of 2007 and during our trip to Bethel in January of 2008. And that's in addition to other meetings that I mentioned such as face-to-face meetings, cabinet meetings, receptions throughout the state, and phone calls, among other things."

9/18/2009

And one more thought regarding AGIA:

"AGIA has been appropriately time consuming. AGIA is our future; the gasoline is the financial security for the future of our state. The revenue from the gasoline will help pay for our essentials, including public safety. However, the time spent on AGIA over the last year and a half has not been to the detriment of ANY department or its missions... and all the more reason to have high expectations that I have self-starters and results-oriented cabinet members."

Thanks, Megan.

Do you want to see this before I send it on to Megan Holland? Or, as Meghan has suggested, can I send it in a new separate e-mail to Megan?

Thank you. Best if has mayor porter and manager koch with him. He MUST be candid, honest and must ask to be held accountable because he has nothing to hide as he tells truthfully of the situation... is my opinion based on what I've been told. I have no reason to NOT believe him based on info I am aware of... now Alaskans need to hear clearly why he is to be believed. Solid and strong and truthful. Here is my understanding about the press conference tomorrow scheduled for 2:00 at public safety.

It began with the 5:00 channel 2 news cast Jason Moore reported that they had uncovered a memo from the City of Kenai written by the city attorney indicating that when the allegation/complaint came into the department the city removed Chuck from all supervisory duties. They made it quite sinister as you can expect like there is still something that he and the city was hiding.

I called Chuck immediately after the news segment was over and asked if he could walk through this with me. Bottom line is he was already at his attorney's office and on the phone with the City of Kenai attorney's office working on a strategy.

The city did what any responsible employer would do in the situation. Its a human resource response when you have any allegations made about any of your employees as it relates to sexual harassment, you remove immediately the person from the any of supervisory duties (in this situation Chuck directly supervised this woman) until you can substantiate or unsubstantiated the claim. In this case they could not substantiate the claim and eventually Chuck returned to normal duties.

Chuck is having a press conference tomorrow to end this situation by going public with what he can and set the record straight. He will have the city Mayor by his side and she will attest to the situation in favor of Chuck. Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

That is what is going on. They were working on the statement for tomorrow and he will call me in the morning with some more follow up.

My understanding, just based on short convo with Kris, is that Kopp got an attorney and is going to hold a press conf to defend himself and explain the allegations from a kenai woman? And the kenai mayor will be standing with him? If there are any details I need to hear them- like when this will take place, what prompted this new action, etc.

He does need to take all action, solidly, to dispel any untruths out there, asap. I've had very good Alaskans say that this is NOT a good situation he's in.

Subject: Natural Resources Committee/Your Chairmanship

Russ and I met this morning with the staff of NGA's Natural Resources Committee to discuss your tenure as Chairperson. Part of the discussion focused on procedural and tactical ways to make the Committee a more efficient instrument of public policy development and advocacy, but I won't bore you with this.

One question for your consideration - what one or two themes or policy initiatives would you like to pursue during your tenure as Chair? The same question is being posed to the Vice Chair, and we will need eventually to come to an agreement with him.

Picking up on Governor Rendell's general theme of infrastructure, I suggested infrastructure related to the development and transportation of energy resources. I thought that this could bring in the gas pipeline plus various national issues which could have Alaska implications. The staff suggested that we might want to add water infrastructure, which also fits within the purview of the Natural Resources Committee.

Before proceeding further, I wonder whether you have any suggestions about themes to pursue during your tenure. I have copied Mike, Kris, and Steve to solicit their views as well.

Thanks.

Subject: Natural Resources Committee/Your Chairmanship

Russ and I met this morning with the staff of NGA's Natural Resources Committee to discuss your tenure as Chairperson. Part of the discussion focused on procedural and tactical ways to make the Committee a more efficient instrument of public policy development and advocacy, but I won't bore you with this.

One question for your consideration - what one or two themes or policy initiatives would you like to pursue during your tenure as Chair? The same question is being posed to the Vice Chair, and we will need eventually to come to an agreement with him.

Picking up on Governor Rendell's general theme of infrastructure, I suggested infrastructure related to the development and transportation of energy resources. I thought that this could bring in the gas pipeline plus various national issues which could have Alaska implications. The staff suggested that we might want to add water infrastructure, which also fits within the purview of the Natural Resources Committee.

Before proceeding further, I wonder whether you have any suggestions about themes to pursue during your tenure. I have copied Mike, Kris, and Steve to solicit their views as well.

Thanks.

Subject: HB 4002 - Resource Rebate
Governor:

Both Co-Chairs of the C & RA committee, Rep. LeDoux and Rep. Fairclough and some members of House leadership, Rep. Olson, Rep. Chenault? want to amend the resource rebate bill as follows:

1. Add the $1,200 per person resource rebate payment as a separate line item on the PFD checks and check stubs / 1099's (for people that get direct deposit)
2. Not have any supplemental application process for persons that did not qualify for a 2008 PFD. (This removes an estimated 40,000 persons that our supplemental process in our bill are estimated to pick up). This would save 40,000 x $1,200 in payments (over $40 million) and the $500,000 cost of Revenue to running the new resource rebate program. These are persons in Alaska who don't qualify for a PFD because they have not been here long enough, etc).
3. So that we do not miss veterans who receive VA benefits that are reduced by PFD payments so they do not even apply for the PFD and would otherwise be left out in the cold by limiting the $1,200 to persons getting PFD's, they would create a new alternative payment program for just those veterans. The cost for picking up the veterans alone is probably under $7 million.

In my opinion, we cannot get the bill out of the committee without these amendments but will defer to Kelly on her measure of the committee.

The 1200 is a reasonable and practical form of resource generated wealth distribution and i thank her again..

Ms Faircloth and chairpersons,,, I have been reflecting on last weeks testimony,,to the issue at hand.... Well, i am not sure you can address the issue without having to hear the pain... my cup runneth over.... out of the pain testimony may come our answer, or should i say your answer... I already have mine and i am simply listening to see if i am wrong or left out something....

before I begin, AEA and S. Haagenson, Testimony and public participation...Not There..

You guys in Juneau, no major state wide people owned CNN type channel for us to hold participate...just stupid if not lazy

However: this does not address the problem because it does not define the problem!!

We all know what the problem is

Our leadership and our inability to hold them accountable for their actions.....which are a result of our dead asses not geting up and getting involved to make a better and more free community.....OR, even passing mandatory 10 to 15 year prison terms for public officials who betray us..

Nearly all of us have forgotten that the Energy belongs to us -- Not some child like, fantasy, farcical, imaginary and fictitious Corporate god like provoker like Rick Ridel, Dan Fagen or Dick Cheney would and do pound into you everyday....

Those who would scream or whisper ,,,,, free loader, socialist, communist, want something for nothing, lazy, gimmee-gimnee, free market haters, corporation haters, are some of the most dark minded, entelligence lacking, insect like understandings, little minds i have met... They have never really been a father, owned a business, felt a calling to serve a greater good, or tried to ponder a larger picture of life....

I feel sorry for them unless they hold a means of public information or public office or other public interests impact... then i ususly get upset...

NUMBERS show me the Numbers in your mind.... what and where is your thinking.??

1 billion = 1,000,000,000.00

1MW of electricity will do 1,000 housing units ----

1 (large) MW of electricity costs around , say 3 million dollars,,,, soo divide 3 mill into

1,000 million and we get

which IS IS IS

333,000 housing units could have a reasonable amooont of annual electricity nearly for free for 25 to 50 years out...

Now, how many housing units are there in Alaska ?

(Have you studied(the # of housing units in the 2,000 census? @ 260,460)

So why would we give away 1billion dollars for no resolve? But even worse you are depriving 333,000 dwellings of nearly free electricity for 25 to 30 years ??

THE INSANITY OF IT IS JUST STAGGERING !!!! IT CLEARLY IS A LEADERSHIP PROBLEM...

ANY LEADERSHIP REQUIRED PROBLEM WHICH REFLECTS SUCH THINKING MAKES ITS OWN

OR ARE DELUSIONAL

OR ARE SECLUDED FROM THE GENERAL COMMUNITY OR PUBLIC WHICH IS WHERE OUR SOURCE OF ALL THINKING IS WEIGHED AND TESTED...

BROUGHT ON THESE PROBLEMS TO US

I'm still here, but we might need a few more decades at the rate Congress is going. Unfortunately, I don't have an heir who seems interested in public policy.

P.S.

Senator Stevens would say that he has been working on ANWR every since 1960, when, as Solicitor of the Interior Department, he helped draft the order which established the Arctic National Wildlife Range. Hopefully, the voters will give the Senator a few more years to complete the mission.

Secondly, we learned that wildlife can successfully coexist, and flourish, within close proximity to environmentally-safe energy production thanks to new technologies in use by energy companies. While in the North Slope area we saw plenty of wildlife. Caribou, musk ox, and other native species were everywhere - including our runway as we attempted to depart from the small airport near Prudhoe Bay. Those on the Left who cite these companies' "insensitivity" as a reason for stonewalling more production in the region either suffer from a complete misunderstanding of the issue or are purposely twisting the facts. And either way, it's the American people - not to mention North Slope residents who depend upon energy production for jobs - who suffer the consequences.

Governor,

Hello! I have attached your remarks and event info for tomorrow morning's 9:15 award ceremony at the Frontier Building. Also included is a parking map, in case you drive straight to the event, rather than riding with Bob from the Atwood Building. Our internet is down right now, but I'll send you a map to the location once it's up and running again. I'll be at the award ceremony to take pictures, and so I'll be sure to have your briefing packet and remarks on notecards ready and waiting for you. I've also included your remarks in the body of this email for ease of viewing. Please feel free to contact me with any questions or concerns you may have.

Presidential Challenge Fitness Award Remarks
Thursday, July 24 / 9:15 a.m. / Ste. 880, Frontier Building

Thank you, Secretary Leavitt, & welcome! I am happy to accept this award on behalf of the State of AK. I want to welcome also Region 10 HHS Director James Whitfield, & extend my heartfelt thanks to Comm. Hogan & Ann Potempa with the Dpt. of Health & Social Services – thanks so much for your hard work promoting this worthy program in our great state! Dr. Butler, thank you for being here, for working to promote healthy lifestyles in AK, & for practicing what you preach! I am SO proud of AKns for stepping up in such a big way during this Nat'l fitness challenge. The Challenge kicked off on March 20, & we got off to a running start with more than

9/18/2009

2,800 AKns signing up & adding at least 30 minutes of running, biking, walking & dozens of other activities to their day.

And we received strong support from inside the state system, too. The Dpt of Health & Social Services challenged our other depts to participate, resulting in hundreds of our state employees engaging in a little healthy competition (no pun intended)☺ – & with life-changing results.

We are privileged to live in such a beautiful state, & AK offers endless opportunities to be active, both indoors & out. Our people being our most precious commodity, it is important that AKns not only live LONG in the land, but that they live WELL in the land. Starting out adding just that little bit of activity to each day – just 30 min. – is so important to our overall physical, mental & emotional health & wellness. And when combined with a balanced diet, this can help lower the risk of obesity, heart disease, diabetes, cancer, & numerous other health problems.

AK's 1st-place finish shows that we are definitely moving in the right direction – in a healthier direction – & that's GREAT news for the future of AK! My thanks again to Sec. Leavitt for the presentation of this award; please give the President our best & thank him for promoting healthy lifestyles in America; & again, congratulations to all the AKns who participated in the program! Your longevity & healthy lifestyle truly is the best reward.
Thank you!

Governor and Marty,

Attached is the op-ed piece which Kurt and I drafted and will submit to EnergyBiz tomorrow morning unless we hear back differently from either one of you.

EnergyBiz specifically asked for an op-ed from the Governor discussing the "$500 million subsidy" and how much Alaska can help the nation in terms of amount, and what impact that would have on the Lower 48.

Thanks so much,
Meghan

Dear Governor Palin,

On August 16, 2008, the Belle Fourche Chamber of Commerce and the City of Belle Fourche will be celebrating the one year anniversary of the new "Geographic Center of the Nation" monument for the State of South Dakota. We will do this by ceremoniously raising all 50 state flags on the site. A designated representative from each state will be invited to attend and raise their state flag.

Belle Fourche would like to extend an invitation to you and your family to help us celebrate our accomplishment in constructing this monument; a monument that exemplifies South Dakota's pride to be the "center of the nation." It is our wish for you to attend, sharing this momentous day with invited dignitaries and guests from across the United States. This dedication is also notable as producers for Good Morning America will be in Belle Fourche filming the event and later broadcasting it for millions of viewers to see.

We believe as visitors travel to South Dakota to see Mount Rushmore and Crazy Horse, they will travel north to be at the center of this great nation and to Belle Fourche; a South Dakota community that prides itself for it's wholesome growth and positive quality of life.

Please RSVP if you plan to attend and additional information will be sent to your office. A special Governor's luncheon is being planned for noon that same day to kick-off our celebration.

Sincerely,

Teresa Schanzenbach, Executive Director

MESSAGE:

Hello Governor Palin,

I wanted to tell you that it was real nice to see you up in Barrow, AK.

Since I was up there for there attending the Alaska Brain Injury Network board meeting at the same time.

The next Board meeting is going to be the 14th and 15th of October and this meeting is going to be in the office in Anchorage and that is at the Mental Health Trust building.

So I would really like if you and any other staff could come to the meeting on one of those days, and meet all of the Alaska Brain Injury Network board members that are from all around the state of Alaska.

I was appointed to the Ambassador Program by the Brain Injury Association of America back in 1996.

But since then the Program has been cut back to State levels.

All of the State Legislators know me and like to see me, when I give them some new information about Traumatic Brain Injury.

Governor Knowles, and Governor Murkowski liked what I have been doing in the state.

Would like to make contact with you and talk about Brain Injury in Alaska.

Alaska has the highest rate in the Nation!

And a Brain Injury happens every 21 seconds and there is more Veterans coming back from the war with a Brain Injury.

I would really like it if you would appoint me Ambassador for the State of Alaska.

And I'm not looking for a paid job, just having the title Ambassador for the state of Alaska.

That would be more impact to the different communities where the Alaska Brain Injury Network is going to be having the Ambassador for the State of Alaska be at the meetings also.

So that more people would be looking into this type of Injury.

Like I have been doing over the years getting the City of Kenai passing the Helmet law and Kenai, Soldotna and the Peninsula Borough Assembly likes to get information from me also.

will talk to you later,

Sincerely,

Richard Warrington

Someone recommended to me that we study the alaskan model of revenue distribution back to the citizens and get bills introduced in the state legislature in california florida and elsewhere that if they do go to offshore drilling they should split the revenue stream with a specified amount (maybe half) going to the citizens as a direct benefit

How much does each alaskan get?

What share of the oil revenue goes to state government and what share would go to the citizens?

Do you have an expert who could explain all this to me?

Would you be interested in writing or talking about this?

Thanks

warned us that in 10 years, if the pipeline continues its current rate of decline in transporting oil supplies, the pipeline will be processing less than 300,000 barrels of oil per day, compared to nearly 720,000 today. Experts agree that at that level - without adding new supplies of oil - the pipeline could not continue to operate, shutting down all production in the North Slope and turning a multi-billion dollar asset into scrap metal. It's a "pipeline deadline," if you will.

Secondly, we learned that wildlife can successfully coexist, and flourish, within close proximity to environmentally-safe energy production thanks to new technologies in use by energy companies. While in the North Slope area we saw plenty of wildlife. Caribou, musk ox, and other native species were everywhere - including our runway as we attempted to depart from the small airport near Prudhoe Bay. Those on the Left who cite these companies' "insensitivity" as a reason for stonewalling more production in the region either suffer from a complete misunderstanding of the issue or are purposely twisting the facts. And either way, it's the American people - not to mention North Slope residents who depend upon energy production for jobs - who suffer the consequences.

Subject: Gasline Communications Tomorrow

Governor,

Kurt and I have developed an "action plan" for tomorrow and we wanted you to be aware from the gasline side.

Fagan was especially harsh and untruthful on the air today. He asked his listeners to call three Senators who are "on the fence" and convert them so that AGIA dies. Among them: Con, Lyman, and Gary Stevens. And he says that Donny will vote whichever way Lyman does. Bob Lester says he is going to do a call your Senator to vote "yes" on AGIA. I would assume Mark may do the same. Our plan is to have Dan Fauske call Fagan early afternoon and say that he and Kurt are going to be in the neighborhood just before 4pm and will stop by to go on the air from 4p to 5p. Hopefully Fagan will let them in. It is our feeling that you need someone on the air with Fagan to counter the shananigans. He was waaaaay over the top today.

Re: gasline briefing. A gasline team member will record this week if that's okay with you. We feel that it's important a message go out tomorrow and we are basing our message on the misleading BP letter to Senators. We will certainly make sure that you know the contents of that briefing.

Rosanne asked for an AGIA Update for the newsletter that will be heading out either tomorrow or sometime in the next couple of days. Below is the copy which Kurt and I submitted to her. It's an FYI for you.

Please let us know if you have any other thoughts re: communications.

Thanks,
Meg

The dread here is that we'll be taught another lesson re: using someone's email addy list... remember at end of regular session when biz lic fee email solicitation went out en masse - the effort pretty much backfired when Wesley Loy "exposed" the "inappropriateness of state email". This will be happening again with this issue, so please be ready to respond to inquiries. In fact, it may be good to be proactive on this one and have an explanation go out before the hammering begins.

LEGISLATIVE ALERT – CALL YOUR ALASKA SENATOR TODAY!

Top 10 Reasons to Vote "Yes" on Authorization to Issue the AGIA License to TransCanada Alaska Company, LLC and Foothills Pipe Lines, Ltd.

1. TransCanada Alaska Company, LLC ("TC Alaska") and its parent corporation, TransCanada Corporation, are high-quality companies in the business of building and operating natural gas pipelines throughout North America.
2. Through an AGIA license, TC Alaska makes legally enforceable commitments to:
 - Hire Alaskans;
 - Meet in-state energy needs;
 - Adhere to a firm timeline for project development all the way through FERC certification; and
 - Reduce tariffs and increase expansion opportunities that encourage exploration and development of the North Slope gas basin, which provide the basis for long-term careers, economic security and energy security for Alaskans.
3. If TC Alaska violates any legally enforceable commitments made under the AGIA license, consequences include recoument of state reimbursements made under AGIA and state acquisition of project data acquired by TC Alaska during the license term.
4. TC Alaska offers a project that is economically and technically viable, and that maximizes benefits to Alaskans.
5. TC Alaska faces fewer permitting obstacles in Canada, and, as an independent pipeline company, does not raise the antitrust legal issues that might affect a producer-owned gas pipeline.
6. Award of an AGIA license to TC Alaska provides the opportunity to bring all parties together while still protecting Alaska's interests.
7. Award of an AGIA license does not commit the state to anything more than the inducements specified in the Alaska Gasline Inducement Act:
 - Up to $500 million reimbursement for qualified expenditures;
 - Benefits of an AGIA coordinator and expedited state permit review;
 - Exclusive enjoyment of the AGIA inducements prior to the commencement of commercial operation.
8. Award of an AGIA license to TC Alaska allows the state to assist smaller pipeline projects that can provide gas for instate needs or spur line projects off the AGIA mainline.
9. A gas pipeline company owned by major North Slope oil and gas producers, and that is not licensed under AGIA, may be subject to management decisions that reflect the best interests of the owners, rather than the pipeline company. For example, the gas pipeline company may benefit from expanding the pipeline, but if such an expansion competes with producers' interests, the producer-owners may not allow the expansion.
10. Without authorization to issue the AGIA license to TC Alaska, Alaska will once again be dependent on the major North Slope producers for pipeline development and that means:
 - Project development on the producers' timeline that fits with their worldwide plans;
 - Negotiations on fiscal concessions with the producers holding most of the cards; and
 - Far fewer tools to protect Alaska's interests or to develop Alaska's natural gas resources in a way that maximizes benefits to Alaskans.

LEGISLATIVE ALERT – CALL YOUR ALASKA SENATOR TODAY!

Top 10 Reasons to Vote “Yes” on Authorization to Issue the AGIA License to TransCanada Alaska Company, LLC and Foothills Pipe Lines, Ltd.

1. TransCanada Alaska Company, LLC (“TC Alaska”) and its parent corporation, TransCanada Corporation, are high-quality companies in the business of building and operating natural gas pipelines throughout North America.
2. Through an AGIA license, TC Alaska makes legally enforceable commitments to:
 - Hire Alaskans;

9/18/2009

- Meet in-state energy needs;
 - Adhere to a firm timeline for project development all the way through FERC certification; and
 - Reduce tariffs and increase expansion opportunities that encourage exploration and development of the North Slope gas basin, which provide the basis for long-term careers, economic security and energy security for Alaskans.
3. If TC Alaska violates any legally enforceable commitments made under the AGIA license, consequences include recoupment of state reimbursements made under AGIA and state acquisition of project data acquired by TC Alaska during the license term.
 4. TC Alaska offers a project that is economically and technically viable, and that maximizes benefits to Alaskans.
 5. TC Alaska faces fewer permitting obstacles in Canada, and, as an independent pipeline company, does not raise the antitrust legal issues that might affect a producer-owned gas pipeline.
 6. Award of an AGIA license to TC Alaska provides the opportunity to bring all parties together while still protecting Alaska's interests.
 7. Award of an AGIA license does not commit the state to anything more than the inducements specified in the Alaska Gasline Inducement Act:
 - Up to $500 million reimbursement for qualified expenditures;
 - Benefits of an AGIA coordinator and expedited state permit review;
 - Exclusive enjoyment of the AGIA inducements prior to the commencement of commercial operation.
 8. Award of an AGIA license to TC Alaska allows the state to assist smaller pipeline projects that can provide gas for instate needs or spur line projects off the AGIA mainline.
 9. A gas pipeline company owned by major North Slope oil and gas producers, and that is not licensed under AGIA, may be subject to management decisions that reflect the best interests of the owners, rather than the pipeline company. For example, the gas pipeline company may benefit from expanding the pipeline, but if such an expansion competes with producers' interests, the producer-owners may not allow the expansion.
 10. Without authorization to issue the AGIA license to TC Alaska, Alaska will once again be dependent on the major North Slope producers for pipeline development and that means:
 - Project development on the producers' timeline that fits with their worldwide plans;
 - Negotiations on fiscal concessions with the producers holding most of the cards; and
 - Far fewer tools to protect Alaska's interests or to develop Alaska's natural gas resources in a way that maximizes benefits to Alaskans.

Call your Alaska State Senator TODAY and urge him or her to vote YES to award the state license to TransCanada.

Here's what it looks like so far. Jessalynn and Andy -- please if you can work with the rest of the folks on this e-mail to finalize and send out tonight -- they may have edits. One thing that we need ASAP is 800 numbers for all senators -- needs to be added. I am going to have to get out of the loop in about 10 minutes due to an event on behalf of the Governor. Please give all edits to Jessalynn. This e-mail is going to go to the Governor's newsletter list (2,021 people), mayors and cities -- unless any of you have any objections to that. Please give your feedback to Jessalynn.

Governor,

I take responsibility for this going out. I spoke with Bill about it earlier today, but never ran it past you. We have been getting lots of pressure from senate dems that are with us, but who want "cover" because they are getting calls and emails against AGIA. We rushed on this due to the sense of urgency from the senators.

LEGISLATIVE ALERT – CALL YOUR ALASKA SENATOR TODAY!

Top 10 Reasons to Vote “Yes” on Authorization to Issue the AGIA License to TransCanada Alaska Company, LLC and Foothills Pipe Lines, Ltd.

1. TransCanada Alaska Company, LLC (“TC Alaska”) and its parent corporation, TransCanada Corporation, are high-quality companies in the business of building and operating natural gas pipelines throughout North America.
2. Through an AGIA license, TC Alaska makes legally enforceable commitments to:
 - Hire Alaskans;
 - Meet in-state energy needs;
 - Adhere to a firm timeline for project development all the way through FERC certification; and
 - Reduce tariffs and increase expansion opportunities that encourage exploration and development of the North Slope gas basin, which provide the basis for long-term careers, economic security and energy security for Alaskans.
3. If TC Alaska violates any legally enforceable commitments made under the AGIA license, consequences include recoupment of state reimbursements made under AGIA and state acquisition of project data acquired by TC Alaska during the license term.
4. TC Alaska offers a project that is economically and technically viable, and that maximizes benefits to Alaskans.
5. TC Alaska faces fewer permitting obstacles in Canada, and, as an independent pipeline company, does not raise the antitrust legal issues that might affect a producer-owned gas pipeline.
6. Award of an AGIA license to TC Alaska provides the opportunity to bring all parties together while still protecting Alaska’s interests.
7. Award of an AGIA license does not commit the state to anything more than the inducements specified in the Alaska Gasline Inducement Act:
 - Up to $500 million reimbursement for qualified expenditures;
 - Benefits of an AGIA coordinator and expedited state permit review;
 - Exclusive enjoyment of the AGIA inducements prior to the commencement of commercial operation.
8. Award of an AGIA license to TC Alaska allows the state to assist smaller pipeline projects that can provide gas for instate needs or spur line projects off the AGIA mainline.
9. A gas pipeline company owned by major North Slope oil and gas producers, and that is not licensed under AGIA, may be subject to management decisions that reflect the best interests of the owners, rather than the pipeline company. For example, the gas pipeline company may benefit from expanding the pipeline, but if such an expansion competes with producers' interests, the producer-owners may not allow the expansion.

10. Without authorization to issue the AGIA license to TC Alaska, Alaska will once again be dependent on the major North Slope producers for pipeline development and that means:
 - Project development on the producers' timeline that fits with their worldwide plans;
 - Negotiations on fiscal concessions with the producers holding most of the cards; and
 - Far fewer tools to protect Alaska's interests or to develop Alaska's natural gas resources in a way that maximizes benefits to Alaskans.

Call your Alaska State Senator TODAY and urge him or her to vote YES to award the state license to TransCanada.

Randy,

We have received roughly 60 emails regarding the Governor's decision to replace Monegan. A little over half of those emails are against the Governor's decision and the rest of them support her.

We've also received 25 emails regarding the appointment of Comm. Kopp. 16 are in support of him and the rest are not.

Since these Monegan/Kopp emails are continuous, I plan to print them out at the end of each day for you and Mike Nizich to review. If you think they need to be reviewed more often, please let me know. I would be happy to print them as they come.

Governor:

As of today:

HOUSE

1. HB 4002 – Resource Rebate bill moved as amended to add the $1,200 as a line item on the pfd onto the House Finance Committee. It is scheduled for a hearing on Saturday. Karen, Jerry Burnett, and I are carrying the bill. In the House Community and Regional Affairs Committee, Salmon and Olson signed "do pass" recommendations. (which is usually a pretty strong show of support for a bill). Fairclough, Dahlstrom, and LeDoux signed "no recommendation" which is usually a sign they are on the fence. Neuman was our only strong opponent of the bill and signed as a "do not pass" recommendation. All legislators are free to vote however they want on the floor.
2. HB 4003 – Energy Appropriations bill moved as amended to show the $50 million in savings from the Olson amendment to the resource rebate bill which eliminated the supplemental application process onto the House Finance Committee. It is scheduled for a hearing on Saturday. As the resource rebate bill stands now, only persons found eligible for the 2008 pfd will get the $1,200 resource rebate. The committee requested, and we agreed completed with the committee to work on an amendment that would pick up the veterans who would otherwise be left out of the resource rebate. This is a group of roughly 400 elderly and non-service disabled veterans who do not apply for the PFD now because the feds offset the income against their VA benefits. Salmon and LeDoux were the "do pass" votes with Neuman the only "do not pass" again.
3. HB 4004 – Motor Fuel Tax bill moved as amended out of the House Labor and Commerce committee. Gatto and Neuman were the "do pass" votes on the bill, Gardner and Buch were the "do not pass" votes, and Ramras and Olson were the "no recommendation" votes. The bill moved on to the House Finance Committee. It is scheduled for a hearing on Monday. Not much public support showing up for this bill. I think the urban D's (Buch, Gardner) oppose it because the Alaska Conservation League? showed up and basically testified as I interpreted it that if you lower the price of fuel, people will use more of it and we will move more slowly towards alternative fuels, and that there is no guarantee the tax savings will be passed onto the consumers. Cora and I are meeting with UFA and other fishing groups tomorrow to try and get them interested in the bill and the savings it would provide to Alaska commercial and charter fishermen, many of whom live in rural areas.

SENATE

1. SB 4002 – Resource Rebate bill was heard and held in Senate Finance. I will try to work tomorrow with the committee aide for Stedman to review issues and answer any questions I can.

9/18/2009

No schedule yet that I am aware for the committee taking up the bill again.

2. SB 4003 – Energy Appropriations bill was heard and held in Senate Finance.
3. SB 4004 – Motor Fuel Tax bill was heard and held in Senate Finance. From his questions, I think Bert believes that most or a good part of the savings for fishermen from not paying the motor fuel tax would go to non-resident fishermen buying fuel in Dutch Harbor. I am trying to put together some stats on Alaska resident permit holders and resident charter fishermen to show significant savings go to Alaskans. I will work on this tomorrow.

Thanks,

We will continue trying to move full speed ahead.

Randy

I take responsibility for this going out. I spoke with Bill about it earlier today, but never ran it past you. We have been getting lots of pressure from senate dems that are with us, but who want "cover" because they are getting calls and emails against AGIA. We rushed on this due to the sense of urgency from the senators.

 - Reduce tariffs and increase expansion opportunities that encourage exploration and development of the North Slope gas basin, which provide the basis for long-term careers, economic security and energy security for Alaskans.
3. If TC Alaska violates any legally enforceable commitments made under the AGIA license, consequences include recoupment of state reimbursements made under AGIA and state acquisition of project data acquired by TC Alaska during the license term.
4. TC Alaska offers a project that is economically and technically viable, and that maximizes benefits to Alaskans.
5. TC Alaska faces fewer permitting obstacles in Canada, and, as an independent pipeline company, does not raise the antitrust legal issues that might affect a producer-owned gas pipeline.
6. Award of an AGIA license to TC Alaska provides the opportunity to bring all parties together while still protecting Alaska's interests.
7. Award of an AGIA license does not commit the state to anything more than the inducements specified in the Alaska Gasline Inducement Act:
 - Up to $500 million reimbursement for qualified expenditures;
 - Benefits of an AGIA coordinator and expedited state permit review;
 - Exclusive enjoyment of the AGIA inducements prior to the commencement of commercial operation.
8. Award of an AGIA license to TC Alaska allows the state to assist smaller pipeline projects that can provide gas for instate needs or spur line projects off the AGIA mainline.
9. A gas pipeline company owned by major North Slope oil and gas producers, and that is not licensed under AGIA, may be subject to management decisions that reflect the best interests of the owners, rather than the pipeline company. For example, the gas pipeline company may benefit from expanding the pipeline, but if such an expansion competes with producers' interests, the producer-owners may not allow the expansion.
10. Without authorization to issue the AGIA license to TC Alaska, Alaska will once again be dependent on the major North Slope producers for pipeline development and that means:
 - Project development on the producers' timeline that fits with their worldwide plans;
 - Negotiations on fiscal concessions with the producers holding most of the cards; and

- Far fewer tools to protect Alaska's interests or to develop Alaska's natural gas resources in a way that maximizes benefits to Alaskans.

Call your Alaska State Senator TODAY and urge him or her to vote YES to award the state license to TransCanada.

High-Impact Firms Create Alaska's Jobs And Growth

State Has 1,117 Of These Important Firms

WASHINGTON, D.C. – “High-impact” firms create Alaska’s new jobs and growth, according to a study recently released by the Office of Advocacy of the U.S. Small Business Administration. Distributed across all industries, high-impact firms account for almost all employment and revenue growth in the national economy, the study concludes.

Of the 376,604 high impact firms identified by researchers nationwide, 1,117 are located in Alaska. That number represents 2.76 percent of Alaska's firms.

The study High-Impact Firms: Gazelles Revisited, defines high-impact firms as those whose sales have at least doubled over a four-year period and which have an employment "growth quantifier" (the firm's absolute change in employment multiplied by the percent change) of two or more.

The study notes that such firms are found across all industries and in all geographic regions. It ranks regions, states, metropolitan statistical areas, and counties by their percentage of high-impact firms. The study finds, with some data limitations, that high-impact firms are not start-ups but are on average around 25 years old, and that they come in all size classes. The report also documents that over the periods studied, nearly all job losses came from large, low-impact firms.

"High-impact firms are important to Alaska's economic growth and development," said Dr. Chad Moutray, Chief Economist for the Office of Advocacy. "State policy makers would be wise to consider how their policies can encourage such firms."

The Office of Advocacy, the "small business watchdog" of the federal government, examines the role and status of small business in the economy and independently represents the views of small business to federal agencies, Congress, and the President. It is the source for small business statistics presented in user-friendly formats, and it funds research into small business issues.

For more information, a complete copy of the report and rankings of high-impact firms by region, state, MSA, and county, visit the Office of Advocacy website at www.sba.gov/advo.

The Office of Advocacy of the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) is an independent voice for small business within the federal government. The presidentially appointed Chief Counsel for Advocacy advances the views, concerns, and interests of small business before Congress, the White House, federal agencies, federal courts, and state policy makers. Subject: A Special Message from Governor Sarah Palin

Dear Fellow Alaskan,

A well-trained, well-educated workforce is critical for Alaska businesses to remain competitive in today's global, high-tech economy. We must make development of our workforce a top priority. We will not be satisfied with any kind of job, but jobs that create a better quality of life.

Historically, the state's job development efforts have relied heavily on federal funding for programs such as adult basic education, training and employment. The list goes on, but the bottom line is that a bare minimum of state funding has been invested in these successful programs. Some of the responsibility for increasing the number of Alaska hires lies with Alaska businesses, but the state must also do a better job of preparing a workforce capable of filling the jobs that are critical to our economic success.

We will continue to work with the Alaska Legislature to change the story by supporting targeted investments and placing more emphasis on state funding for workforce awareness and preparation.

The State Training and Employment Program (STEP), which was recently extended for two years, provides training for Alaskans in high-demand jobs and fills gaps not met by federal programs. Operated by the Alaska Department of Labor and Workforce Development (DOLWD), STEP has trained nearly 30,000 Alaska workers over the last 19 years. These participants earned more than $71 million in Alaska wages in the first year following their training, a 35 percent increase over pre-training earnings. The long-term benefit: more than 90 percent of STEP participants remain in Alaska.

Our ground-breaking partnerships – between business and industry, education and state government – are creating successful opportunities. We're investing an additional $2.3 million for DOLWD's Alaska Youth First program. Together with the Department of Education and Early Development's Work Keys program, Alaska Youth First provides career awareness and basic work skills development in our schools. A DOLWD partnership with school districts and the private sector has seen the advent and growth of the Alaska construction academies, which are training both in- and out-of-school youth as well as young adult workers in basic construction, welding and other skills. We are using existing facilities to offer basic skills development – for youth and adults – for entry into construction careers. And we are restoring vocational training in our secondary schools.

are putting more emphasis on offering training to Alaska's youth. AVTEC offers quality training in numerous high-paying occupations and will see a much-needed face-lift. Our regional training centers offer training in partnership with industry. And the University of Alaska is seeing an increase for significant expansions to its engineering and allied health programs, offering substantial and successful career opportunities to more Alaskans.

And to connect trainees with jobs, Labor Commissioner Click Bishop is pursuing agreements with business and industry to provide more entry-level jobs for Alaskans, including registered apprenticeships and structured on-the-job training agreements, and adding employment opportunities for industry-related occupational training.

With targeted state investments aimed toward closing the skills gap and providing Alaska's employers with trained workers, we will see more career opportunities that will keep our young workers at home, and offer better jobs to thousands of underemployed and unemployed Alaskans.

Until next time,

Governor Sarah Palin

1. REPUBLIC SERVICES REJECTS WASTE MANAGEMENT OFFER

The board of directors of Republic Services, Inc. unanimously rejected Waste Management's $6.3 billion offer to purchase the company as an alternative to Republic's plans to merge with Allied Waste Industries. In a letter to Waste Management CEO David Steiner, James O'Connor, Republic's chairman and CEO, suggested that Waste Management's offer of $34 per share for Republic's stock was not significantly higher than the stock's recent trading levels, and he noted that "the merger between Republic and Allied will create significant value-generating opportunities, including significant cost saving synergies." By comparison, "a transaction with Waste Management will involve significant additional regulatory complexities and delays compared to the merger between Republic and Allied given the greater number of overlaps and the requirement to comply with Waste Management's 1999 consent decree."

In response, Waste Management issued a press release expressing the company's disappointment at the Republic board's "unwillingness to consider Waste Management's proposal as one that could reasonably be expected to lead to a superior proposal." ..Read More »

2. REPUBLIC SERVICES AND ALLIED WASTE ANNOUNCE MERGER INTEGRATION TEAM

Republic Services and Allied Waste Industries, eager to press ahead with their planned merger, and to capture more than $150 million in anticipated synergies, have formed an integration team. The team will be headed by Michael Cordesman, Republic's President and Chief Operating Officer, and Christopher Melocik, Allied's Senior Vice President of Operations and be comprised of about 10 functional experts from each company, as well as Republic Chairman and CEO James O'Connor, Allied Waste President and COO Don Slager, Republic CFO Tod Holmes and Allied Waste EVP and Chief Personnel Officer Ed Evans. 3. WASTE CONNECTIONS 2Q PROFIT UP BY ALMOST 4%

Waste Connections announced that second-quarter profit rose 3.6%, as higher prices helped offset increased fuel costs. Net income rose to $26.2 million, or $0.39 per share, from $25.3 million, or $0.36 per share, in last year's period. Disciplined customer pricing pushed revenues up by a robust 11% to $267 million from $241.1 million last year. The company reported that average fuel costs rose about 55% year over year, increasing its total fuel expense by $8 million. The results were basically in line with analysts' expectations. Chairman and CEO Ron Mittelstaedt said that the company's strong cash flow, expanded credit facility and recent financing will help fund acquisitions later in the year...Read More »

4. HOUSE DEMOCRATS CRITICIZE EPA WAIVER TO IMPORT PCBs FROM MEXICO

House Energy and Commerce Committee leaders criticized U.S. EPA's decision to grant a waiver allowing Veolia ES Technical Solutions to import polychlorinated biphenyls, or PCBs, from Mexico into its Port Arthur incinerator. Committee Chairman John Dingell (D-Mich.), Environment and Hazardous Materials Subcommittee Chairman Gene Green (D-Texas) and Hilda Solis (D-Calif.) said EPA's decision breaks a decades-old U.S. ban by creating an open border for PCB waste from Mexico. Under the exemption, Veolia would be able to import up to 20,000 tons of PCB waste from Mexico...Read More »

5. ADVANCED DISPOSAL ACQUIRES GEORGIA LANDFILL

Advanced Disposal Services Inc., continuing its expansion into Georgia, recently acquired a new construction and demolition debris landfill in Walton County. Advanced Disposal bought the 160-acre Caruthers Mill C&D landfill from its developers South Eastern Land Services LLC and South Eastern Industrial Land Services Inc. whom had not yet begun to operate the site. "The acquisition of this disposal asset into Advanced Disposal's existing line of business allows the company to gain greater density and market share in a dynamic, high growth area of the Southeast," said Charlie Appleby, Advanced Disposal's chairman and CEO. Advanced Disposal now owns and operates three municipal solid waste (MSW) and seven C&D debris disposal sites in Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi...Read More »

6. FULCRUM BIOENERGY TO BUILD FIRST COMMERCIAL-SCALE MSW-TO-ETHANOL PLANT

Pleasanton, Ca-based Fulcrum BioEnergy, Inc. announced plans to build what it believes to be the first commercial-scale production facility for converting municipal solid waste to ethanol. When it begins operation in early 2010, the Sierra BioFuels plant is expected to produce approximately 10.5 million gallons of ethanol per year, and to process nearly 90,000 tons per year of municipal solid waste that would otherwise be destined to a landfill. Fulcrum BioEnergy will design, finance, construct, own and operate the plant, which will be located ten miles east of Reno, Nevada. This late-stage development project is expected to cost $120 million and is set to enter construction by the end of this year. "This project is a watershed event in our nation's efforts to create a sustainable source of domestic, renewable transportation fuel ... 7. WASTE MANAGEMENT LAUNCHES HOUSEHOLD CFL RECYCLING PROGRAM

Waste Management, Inc. has launched ThinkGreenFromHome.com, a household universal waste management offering initially highlighted by a program for recycling mercury-bearing compact fluorescent lamps (CFLs). Under the program, participating households can order CFL recycling kits online, which incorporate Mercury VaporLok technology to reduce the risk of mercury contamination and airborne exposure from broken lamps. The company estimates that approximately 4 billion CFLs will be in household use by 2012, when less efficient incandescent bulbs will have been phased out by law. Kopp told us yesterday that no one has asked for the letter of reprimand that we did not know existed, thus no one in Admin (including me) has seen it.

I do want to see it, he said he should be able to get Kenai to let me see it (well, I would think so!), so please ask again for it today.

Also, I was shocked to see the dispatcher (former) sent me an email nearly two weeks ago and yet I was never given her message. In addition, all the other emails pertaining to the sexual harassment allegation that I had to ask for yesterday and they are now being compiled for me... it should be easy to figure out that these communications surrounding such a volatile issue should have been given to me without me having to hustle around trying to find out where they landed and to ask why they were not forwarded to me. Again, that email/communication system has got to change so I am not the last to know.

Talis- let's talk again today in my office, I do a presser at 9:30, then Julie kitka (no subject known) at 11am. Then when you get a chance can you come over or I'll go to you. Please get Kopp's letter, and I'll speak with you more re: his APSC file that an ADN reporter asked him about yesterday.

Subject: Kincaid Project Grant

Dear Governor Palin,

We are writing to ask you to support the $1 million grant for improvements to the Kincaid Park Regional Facility. Soccer is the fastest growing sport in our state and fields are needed to meet demand.

The money would be used to install a water system that would benefit the soccer fields in the summer and also make snow in the winter for skiing events.

This is NOT just an Anchorage project rather a sports facility that will be used by groups statewide. Soccer players from around the state frequently participate in games and tournaments in Anchorage and we are in dire need of good turf. We believe this project is consistent with other sports facility projects that you have approved funding for and appreciate your consideration of this project.

Thank you and keep up the good work,

Soccer Mom & Dad - Linda & Bruce Bustamante

Kopp's dispatcher sent me an email nearly two weeks ago- it was forwarded to other depts but was never forwarded to me. I had to ask for it, had to track down the accuser's name, and had to follow up in the search for this significant piece of communication. In addition, many other emails pertaining to "Kopp/Sexual Harassment" were evidently sent over the past week, but not one was forwarded to me. This is not good- it should be common sense to forward these to me, especially the one from the former dispatcher involved in Kopp's accusations (esp with her claim in the email that she has her file of evidence and had wanted me to see it).

As I have been requesting, this communication system must change. A significant email such as the one mentioned here that was forwarded to Boards and Commissions, special assistants, plus other areas should have been forwarded to me and or Talis and Nizich. If it was a receptionist in the receiving departments who did not know how important this was (perhaps she does not read the paper?) then please work with your receptionists/admin asst folks to instruct them on this type of issue. It really can not happen again.

I know we get a ton of emails, but these of the Kopp/sexual harassment nature should have obviously been flagged though and not buried in any communication file somewhere. Thank you

I do want to see it, he said he should be able to get Kenai to let me see it (well, I would think so!), so please ask again for it today.

Also, I was shocked to see the dispatcher (former) sent me an email nearly two weeks ago and yet I was never given her message. In addition, all the other emails pertaining to the sexual harassment allegation that I had to ask for yesterday and they are now being compiled for me... it should be easy to figure out that these communications surrounding such a volatile issue should have been given to me without me having to hustle around trying to find out where they landed and to ask why they were not forwarded to me. Again, that email/communication system has got to change so I am not the last to know.

Talis- let's talk again today in my office, I do a presser at 9:30, then Julie kitka (no subject known) at 11am. Then when you get a chance can you come over or I'll go to you. Please get Kopp's letter, and I'll speak with you more re: his APSC file that an ADN reporter asked him about yesterday.

I have known Chuck Kopp all of his life; he is a man of integrity and there is no one who could do a better job both for rural and urban areas. He grew up in rural Alaska and understands the problems we face.

He has an excellent grasp of rural issues in our villages. Fort example, alcoholism, resulting in abuse of our children, as well as underage drinking, are common. He knows how to deal with this problem.

Governor:

As of today:

HOUSE

1. HB 4002 – Resource Rebate bill moved as amended to add the $1,200 as a line item on the pfd onto the House Finance Committee. It is scheduled for a hearing on Saturday. Karen, Jerry Burnett, and I are carrying the bill. In the House Community and Regional Affairs Committee, Salmon and Olson signed "do pass" recommendations (which is usually a pretty strong show of support for a bill). Fairclough, Dahlstrom, and LeDoux signed "no recommendation" which is usually a sign they are on the fence. Neuman was our only strong opponent of the bill and signed as a "do not pass" recommendation. All legislators are free to vote however they want on the floor.
2. HB 4003 – Energy Appropriations bill moved as amended to show the $50 million in savings from the Olson amendment to the resource rebate bill which eliminated the supplemental application process onto the House Finance Committee. It is scheduled for a hearing on Saturday. As the resource rebate bill stands now, only persons found eligible for the 2008 pfd will get the $1,200 resource rebate. The committee requested, and we agreed completed with the committee to work on an amendment that would pick up the veterans who would otherwise be left out of the resource rebate. This is a group of roughly 400 elderly and non-service disabled veterans who do not apply for the PFD now because the feds offset the income against their VA benefits. Salmon and LeDoux were the "do pass" votes with Neuman the only "do not pass" again.
3. HB 4004 – Motor Fuel Tax bill moved as amended out of the House Labor and Commerce committee. Gatto and Neuman were the "do pass" votes on the bill, Gardner and Buch were the "do not pass" votes, and Ramras and Olson were the "no recommendation" votes. The bill moved on to the House Finance Committee. It is scheduled for a hearing on Monday. Not much public support showing up for this bill. I think the urban D's (Buch, Gardner) oppose it because the Alaska Conservation League? showed up and basically testified as I interpreted it that if you lower the price of fuel, people will use more of it and we will move more slowly towards alternative fuels, and that there is no guarantee the tax savings will be passed onto the consumers. Cora and I are meeting with UFA and other fishing groups tomorrow to try and get them interested in the bill and the savings it would provide to Alaska commercial and charter fishermen, many of whom live in rural areas.

SENATE

1. SB 4002 – Resource Rebate bill was heard and held in Senate Finance. I will try to work tomorrow with the committee aide for Stedman to review issues and answer any questions I can. No schedule yet that I am aware for the committee taking up the bill again.
2. SB 4003 – Energy Appropriations bill was heard and held in Senate Finance.
3. SB 4004 – Motor Fuel Tax bill was heard and held in Senate Finance. From his questions, I think Bert believes that most or a good part of the savings for fishermen from not paying the motor fuel tax would go to non-resident fishermen buying fuel in Dutch Harbor. I am trying to put together some stats on Alaska resident permit holders and resident charter fishermen to show significant savings go to Alaskans. I will work on this tomorrow.

Thanks,

We will continue trying to move full speed ahead.

Subject: Senator Stevens/East-West Corridors

I haven't heard anything further from Senator Stevens in response to my inquiry. Unless you feel otherwise, I'm not inclined to ask him again.

The Senator knows that we have sought to consult. Further, he has generally favored the construction of roads and infrastructure needed to facilitate commerce and natural resource development. In this regard, I recall his support during ANILCA for an East-West corridor along the southern flank of the Brooks Range.

So, I believe that he is likely to support the concept of East-West corridors now as long as the responsibility for finding the required funds does not fall inordinately on him. I doubt that there would be much federal funding beyond the State's usual highway allocations, particularly since there could be environmental opposition.

Earlier today, I responded to a general inquiry from Commissioner von Scheben concerning the Fairbanks to Nome corridor. For whatever they're worth, I've excerpted these comments below.

I am intrigued by the idea of an East-West transportation route from Fairbanks to Nome. As you know, this issue has been discussed before, but it seems to be gaining some positive momentum that didn't exist previously.

My concerns are making sure that there are sufficient resources and other benefits to justify the cost, funding from State and federal sources, and the need to avoid federal lands to the extent possible. The latter issue relates to the problem of obtaining rights of way across federal lands.

In any event, I think that, if the idea flies with the Governor and you, it becomes a case of nothing ventured, nothing gained.

Subject: Important Update: Keynote Speaker Invitation for Gov. Palin - E&P Technology Summit North America, Houston, October 2008

Importance: High

Hi Janice,

I hope you are well.

I needed to update you on the Keynote Speaking Opportunity that I have offered to Governor Palin at the E&P Technology Summit, Hilton Americas – Houston, this October:

www.exproevent.com

We are tremendously pleased with the support for and evolution of the conference so far, and in particular with the growing representation that the Alaska region is gaining on the Conference Program.

I have recently confirmed the following individuals as Speakers at the summit:

- Kevin Banks, Director Oil & Gas, Department of Natural Resources, Government of Alaska
- Jeffrey Walker, Regional Supervisor, Field Operations, Minerals Management Service – Alaska Region
- Bud Fackrell, President, Denali – The Alaska Gas Pipeline LLC (BP-ConocoPhillips JV)

We also have the pleasure of being joined by the following senior Government figures who have confirmed their participation as Speakers at the summit:

- Randall Luthi, Director, U.S. Department of the Interior's Minerals Management Service
- Hon. Richard Neufeld, Minister of Energy, Mines & Petroleum Resources, Government of British Columbia
- Karen Harbert, EVP & Managing Director, Institute for 21st Century Energy – U.S. Chamber of Commerce

I am pleased to report that the Summit has already made a great impact in the Upstream community and a virtually complete list of Confirmed Speakers who have recently confirmed their attendance and presentations for October include:

- Gene L. Ames, GM, The Nordan Trust, Chairman – Petroleum Technology Transfer Council (Summit Chairman)
- Randall Luthi, Director, U.S. Department of the Interior's Minerals Management Service
- Stephen Brand, SVP Technology, ConocoPhillips
- Steven Hinchman, EVP Technology & Services, Marathon Oil
- Michael Bahorich, EVP E&P Technology, Apache Corporation
- Scott Heck, SVP Global Production & Technology, Hess Corp
- Hon. Richard Neufeld, Minister of Energy, Mines & Petroleum Resources, Government of British Columbia
- Steve Thurston, VP Deepwater, Chevron E&P
- Jim Farnsworth, President & COO, Cobalt International Energy
- David Latin, VP E&P Technology, BP

PRA_GSP01_0021848

- Bud Fackrell, President, Denali – The Alaska Gas Pipeline LLC (BP-ConocoPhillips JV)
- Jim Sigmon, Chairman, President & CEO, TXCO Resources
- Jack Stark, SVP Exploration, Continental Resources Inc
- Jon David Caron, Project Engineering Advisor, Anadarko Petroleum
- Wishart Robson, Sr. Advisor to the CEO, Climate Change & Safety, Nexen Inc
- Doug Bloom, President, Energy Transmission West, Spectra Energy
- Tim Bradley, President CO2, Kinder Morgan Energy Partners
- Rob Morgan, COO Upstream, Harvest Energy Trust
- Dr. Peter Hartley, Director, Shell Centre for Sustainability & Professor of Economics, James A. Baker III Institute for Public Policy, Rice University
- James Lytal, EVP, Enterprise Products Partners – Independence Hub Project
- Arthur Boykiw, Director Oil Sands Systems, Petro-Canada
- Kevin Banks, Director Oil & Gas, Department of Natural Resources, Government of Alaska
- Jeffrey Walker, Regional Supervisor, Field Operations, Minerals Management Service – Alaska Region
- Howard Anderson, COO & VP Engineering, Triangle Petroleum Corp
- Francisco Ortigosa, Chief Geophysicist, Maxus US Exploration – Repsol YPF
- Jim Guion, VP Commercial Development, Enterprise Products Partners – Independence Hub Project
- Rob Saltiel, EVP, Performance (formerly SVP North & South America Business Units), Transocean
- Karen Harbert, EVP & Managing Director, Institute for 21st Century Energy – U.S. Chamber of Commerce
- Dr. Candy Albertsson, Independent Consultant, Former Head of Talent Management, BP plc
- Dr. Terry Engelder, Professor of Geosciences, Penn State University
- John Wood, Director Reserves & Production, EIA
- Steve McMillen, Special Counsel, Baker Botts LLP

On your last communication you did alert me to the fact that Governor Palin's schedule is indeed very busy (a fact which I do understand completely) and that it was not possible to give me a definite acceptance of my invitation back on June 3rd when I sent the invitation originally.

However, I must now respectfully ask whether you can confirm Governor Palin for this Keynote opportunity in view of the fact that several very senior Government and Industry individuals have firmly allocated this event in their schedules, due to the high-level nature of the gathering.

I feel that this would provide an excellent platform for Governor Palin toward some of the most respected and influential individuals and organizations in North American E&P and, alas, production timing and planning constraints are now upon me in order to finalize the meeting.

I very much appreciate your feedback and attention to this and I hope that the growing importance of the conference is recognized by the Governor and the administrative office of the Alaskan Government considering your role in the North American energy community and the important project proposals which are now coming to the fore in the Alaska region.

Many thanks for your ongoing help and interest in the conference.

Kind regards,

Tom

Importance: High

Dear Governor Palin,

I hope this email finds you very well and belated congratulations to you and your husband on the birth of your fifth child back in April.

I am the Conference Producer for E&P Technology Summit in Houston this October; I have some good news for you regarding the Conference Program and I needed to furnish you with this invitation.

I wanted to get in touch with you as the Government of Alaska has been highly recommended by your peers within the North American Exploration & Production industry in view of the innovative projects you are involved in with relation to your E&P collaboration work in the North American energy community. During my research for our upcoming North American E&P Technology Summit, your work was referenced a number of times and as a leading industry figure I would like to invite you to appear as a Keynote Speaker at this year's Summit. I have followed with interest your Government's achievements in this field during my time at Petroleum Economist journal in London and I, personally, would be delighted to have you involved.

The E&P Technology Summit brings together North America's leading Upstream executives to network, establish key relationships and learn about some of the most critical and innovative technologies and practices in the marketplace today. After three highly successful years of producing the Summit in Europe we are now crossing the Atlantic to provide a knowledge platform for the emerging and major operators in the Western Hemisphere. Details of October's Houston Summit can be found here:

I am pleased to report that the Summit has already made an impact in the Upstream community and fellow Confirmed Speakers who have recently confirmed their attendance and presentations for October include:

- Randall Luthi, Director, U.S. Department of the Interior's Minerals Management Service
- Stephen Brand, SVP Technology, ConocoPhillips
- Steven Hinchman, EVP Technology & Services, Marathon Oil
- Mike Bahorich, EVP E&P Technology, Apache Corp

This would represent an excellent opportunity to address the influential North American oil & gas community directly and present your E&P project experiences and successes. I'd be particularly interested in content focused towards your experiences with:

- Enhanced Oil Recovery
- Rising Project Costs
- Access to Resources & Legislative Challenges
- Workforce Challenges

Here are some ideas on key focus areas of the Conference Program; of course I would be very happy to hear your ideas and tailor this towards recent developments you may have encountered during your work. I'd be particularly interested in a "big picture" view of the work that the Government of Alaska achieves and your perspective on Alaskan E&P for the future:

The Last Frontier - Evaluating the viability of Alaska's mature fields and the fundamental challenge of bringing hydrocarbons to the North American market

- Outlining access to Alaskan resources and an overview of 40 years of Alaskan E&P; the established operators, the lessons learned and the new wave of emerging players in the coldest state
- Analyzing the latest pipeline projects and the challenges to be overcome in innovative engineering and hydrocarbon transportation over major distances
- Evaluating the technologies and strategies in play to meet the challenges of bringing hydrocarbons to market from a remote area
- Achieving balance in project costs and profitable hydrocarbon recovery from mature fields in Prudhoe Bay, the North Slope & Cook Inlet and managing increased E&P in hostile environments

Or:

Analyzing successful E&P strategies incorporating environmental responsibility and Government collaboration in Alaska; what we can learn as an industry and assessing the applications to your own operations

- A Poster-Child for Proactive E&P? – perspectives on working toward common energy goals whilst collaborating in economic growth and minimal environmental impact
- Assessing strategies in creating local prosperity, environmental stewardship and navigating remote and hazardous environments to unlock massive hydrocarbon resources
- Understanding technologies involved in unconventional and remote resource plays and applications across North American E&P for your operations

Naturally, I would be happy to work with you on the outline of your Presentation and tailor it to your own style and expertise. Please find the full Conference Program outlined on our website.

As my personal guest, you would of course receive free access to the entire three-day event, including all networking opportunities, access to the conference program and meals at the Hilton Americas.

I will make a note to call you soon if I haven't heard from you to discuss this opportunity further and, of course, I'd be most interested to hear your expertise on the issues proposed. If you, yourself, are not able to take this opportunity, then perhaps you might be able to recommend one of your senior management for the role.

Many thanks and I look forward to speaking with you soon,

Tom

Subject: Re: Legislative Action Alert!

Couple of things went into consideration here.

First, our core supporters are fine, but that count only gets us to 10. We have amendments to worry about and possibly the effective date. Some of the folks on the edges asked if we could get letters to the editor and emails coming. This action alert was supposed to help drive emails and phone calls. There is a separate track for letters to the editor.

Second, the list this was sent to is the newsletter list. It is far fewer in number than the business license list and its been in circulation for some time. People who don't want to be on it have probably let us know and been removed. I will verify whether it is an opt in or opt out system in the morning and be sure to stress that with press in the am.

Third, our solid supporters in the majority may not have a majority of their caucus...its close. They are not of a mind to push very hard without some cover. They need to be able to point to some outside forces if they are going to push against their leadership. Our only apparent ally within the leadership is Gary Stevens, and he's not exactly known for his fortitude.

Finally, I want to apologize to Mike, Kelly, and particularly to the Governor. I should have talked directly to each of you and did not. That's not team play and there may have been different judgements by each of you given these considerations. I didn't give you that opportunity and that wasn't fair. I am sorry.

Joe

We took heat before for using this tactic even though it was my idea. I thought things were looking promising for the senate to pass AGIA. Seems like a desperation move. Will Leggies feel too much pressured about this. Think this was necessary? Hope it does not back fire.

Subject: Legislative Action Alert!

LEGISLATIVE ALERT – CALL YOUR ALASKA SENATOR TODAY!

Top 10 Reasons to Vote “Yes” on Authorization to Issue the AGIA License to TransCanada Alaska Company, LLC and Foothills Pipe Lines, Ltd.

1. TransCanada Alaska Company, LLC (“TC Alaska”) and its parent corporation, TransCanada Corporation, are high-quality companies in the business of building and operating natural gas pipelines throughout North America.
2. Through an AGIA license, TC Alaska makes legally enforceable commitments to:
 - Hire Alaskans;
 - Meet in-state energy needs;
 - Adhere to a firm timeline for project development all the way through FERC certification; and
 - Reduce tariffs and increase expansion opportunities that encourage exploration and development of the North Slope gas basin, which provide the basis for long-term careers, economic security and energy security for Alaskans.
3. If TC Alaska violates any legally enforceable commitments made under the AGIA license, consequences include recoupment of state reimbursements made under AGIA and state acquisition of project data acquired by TC Alaska during the license term.
4. TC Alaska offers a project that is economically and technically viable, and that maximizes benefits to Alaskans.
5. TC Alaska faces fewer permitting obstacles in Canada, and, as an independent pipeline company, does not raise the antitrust legal issues that might affect a producer-owned gas pipeline.
6. Award of an AGIA license to TC Alaska provides the opportunity to bring all parties together while still protecting Alaska’s interests.
7. Award of an AGIA license does not commit the state to anything more than the inducements specified in the Alaska Gasline Inducement Act:
 - Up to $500 million reimbursement for qualified expenditures;
 - Benefits of an AGIA coordinator and expedited state permit review;
 - Exclusive enjoyment of the AGIA inducements prior to the commencement of commercial operation.
8. Award of an AGIA license to TC Alaska allows the state to assist smaller pipeline projects that can provide gas for instate needs or spur line projects off the AGIA mainline.
9. A gas pipeline company owned by major North Slope oil and gas producers, and that is not licensed under AGIA, may be subject to management decisions that reflect the best interests of the owners, rather than the pipeline company. For example, the gas pipeline company may benefit from expanding the pipeline, but if such an expansion competes with producers' interests, the producer-owners may not allow the expansion.

10. Without authorization to issue the AGIA license to TC Alaska, Alaska will once again be dependent on the major North Slope producers for pipeline development and that means:
 - Project development on the producers' timeline that fits with their worldwide plans;
 - Negotiations on fiscal concessions with the producers holding most of the cards; and
 - Far fewer tools to protect Alaska's interests or to develop Alaska's natural gas resources in a way that maximizes benefits to Alaskans.

Call your Alaska State Senator TODAY and urge him or her to vote YES to award the state license to TransCanada.

Steve, if i may be so informal,

Now, you have me at a dissadvantage, i e-mailed you so long ago , I just figured you wrote me off, or I did not contribute to the solution,

or I did not have enough passion, or they could see me comming even bigger, now,

or too edgy,

or too pushy,

or tooo far ahead of my timeOr,,

Anyway, it is always my honor to be able to talk to you and most of your staff, I know you have to be busy,,,

Its too bad Energy seems to be moving/herding us/ me in a hurry...

I would liked to have had this emial from you before i drafted and sent my long commentaries to the legislature and other places yesterday and before,, and on the Fairbanks Coal Gassification project insider meeting..

In those commentaries i made an // or some accusations / or strong comments referencing you, you department, Coal /Fossil Fuel Marketers, and some of our leaders....

Perhaps you should read them prior to me being afforded a meeting... ha, ha.. humor

9/18/2009

But really, in all fairness you should....read them....

But, for the record i still hold faith in you that you will help Alasks build a new great sociey based on New Energies... Harmonic Fuels based Energies....

Its just that when i see a gas fired generation plant in Anch and a Coal Gasificatioin project to the north,,comming out of the gates,,,, early no less, ...I get real concerned.....very concerned....

You should read my letter to the Fairbanks Daily Newsminner.... ALso..

Thank YOu for the E.mail, my computer is not available to me right now -- I will call to see when you can see me..

Again, thank You,

Now, I have to try to find some of those e-mails i wrote you that were a little on the strong side to see just how reserved i have to be.....ha ha

I am thinking we should meet on camera while your having your daily-weekly energy update on our great new alaska; and our many new and magnificent harmonic energy projects we have under way;

With the citizens being able to call in and add comments, and ask questions of you and your staff, and volunteer to help out....

You know, so we could all be a part of history,,, kinda like a ALASKA GOOGLE moment where we all build our history together....

I am sorry but the response is incomplete and not factual. It is written in a tone that is dismissive and insulting.

There are reasonable questions about management actions, potential lies and misrepresentations of facts, and legal authority. Just writing a note that says we are in our legal authority and not answer specific questions does not help the discourse.

For example, how does the ADF&G and law resolve the issue of the 10 July restriction being announced two months prior to the season and the PMA case that dealt with this type of action.

How can a director of Commercial Fisheries tell the public two different stories in two different forums - I asked for a reference to the Board of Fish tapes which this Director said the staff listened too. No reference is provided so does that mean the Director of Commercial Fisheries Division lied to the public?

Relative to the emergency orders reducing bag limits in the sport fisheries there is a legal question about authority - what is that authority the ADF&G used to take these actions and how do they resolve those answers with the law saying the fisheries should be closed?

Please answer the questions with specifics not the arrogant attitude expressed in the attached letter.

Telling me to take something to the Board of Fisheries when in point of fact I am questioning the authority of ADF&G is just a silly meaningless comment.

The ADF&G leadership has been lacking for sometime and I guess the only recourse, if one cannot get reasonable answers, is to change the leadership.

I and others will be working with our local representatives to do just that in the upcoming elections, budget discussion for ADF&G, and other avenues to get straight and honest answers to reasonable questions.

To: S. Haagenson (Director of Energy) AEA

From: Paul D.Kendall

Ref: Formal request for:

1. a relaxed and amiable meeting with you for general discussions; as just me being an ordinary citizen

2. a copy of the request that was made to ISER from AEA or others, for energy data, and when it is due; As well as some general discussion around the role of ISER

9/18/2009

3. a copy of the recent report APA (Alaska Power Association?) recieved from Steve Pratt. This is a bigger talk, but needs to be a matter of recognition for future reasons

4. as of now ,, Rough cost and Expenditure amounts to date for rural awareness outreach

5..a rough outline of where you are headed for your summary and energy direction and pace of expectations and my informal e to you on 6-16-08

6.perhaps a brief discussion of my E-mail to Walt Wilcox with APA

7...and also, some clarifications and retractions i would like to make which need to be addressed

8. A need now for a Public Broadcast Energy Forum- the real deal....

9...and finally, some idea of my earlier energy single family home and society usages descriptions questions i posed for your departments to help me understand more about your information available to the public and the formulas you are using to determine energy use awareness

10..I think you should weigh in on this EMISSIONs program and take some leadership role with hydroelectric to jump start plug ins and electric vehicles and Photovoltaic Infrastructures

Mr. Haagenson, I remain excited about the potential and real "Alaskas Energy Future in relationship to Harmonic Fuels (electricity and water) abundance". And eager to hear your directions..hoping you will evolve us as you go so we can contribute in some way along the way to a new Energy Based Alaska Society...

I am more concerned than ever about how our leaders and our citizenry are going to make this new future come to fruition.....make it happen, now !

Governor,

I just spoke with TransCanada after their meeting with FERC. The message TC pounded home to Commissioner Kelliher was that the AGIA' expansion and Debt to Equity provisions of AGIA ensure the federal government monetary returns are $55 billion before the pipeline expands from 4.5 bcf/d to 5.9 bcf/d and $70 billion after expansion. Therefore the feds have a huge stake in the commercial terms provided by AGIA - just like Alaska does.

Further regarding my last email to you on this subject, we have followed up with Senator Stevens' staff and have learned the following -

- The Senator generally supports east-west corridors.
- He has directed his staff to search the archives to see what he has said previously.
- He is interested in the reason for our inquiry. In particular, he wonders whether Fairbanks to Nome or other east-west corridors are receiving greater attention and gaining momentum.

I believe that this information largely confirms my last email to you, but it also tells me that the Senator has not forgotten our inquiry, which he is taking seriously. More to come.

Janice, Kris,
Attached are two documents for the Governor to use in her 2:30pm meeting today with the FERC representatives. One is a Background Paper on the structure of FERC and the individual FERC Commissioners. The second document includes some Talking Points for the Governor to read before her meeting and she can decide if she wishes to use any of them. Finally, please let her know that she will be meeting with Chairman Joe Kelliher (who the Governor has met numerous times in DC), Commissioner Phillip Moeller, & Mark Robinson (Director, Office of Energy Projects).

Additionally, just so the Governor knows, this FERC contingent has also met with Senate President Lyda Green & I believe Lyda included Senator Huggins in that meeting,; Senator Therriault; and via phone Representative Beth Kerttula. I am told they are also meeting with a TransCanada contingent that may include TC's CEO Hal Kvisle and their atty Kurt Moffett; Bud Fackrell, President of the Denali Pipeline; & they traveled to Prudhoe Bay with BP. My guess is they've also met with ConocoPhillips and ExxonMobil.

Finally, Drue Pearce wanted the Governor to know that she is very concerned that FERC does not appreciate what they will need to do to provide adequate "government to government consultation" with Alaskans during the permitting of the Alaska Gas Pipeline. Historically FERC does very diminimous outreach in their govt to govt consultations. Drue would appreciate your emphasizing Drue's message that FERC will need to work with the other federal agencies as well as ANCSA corporations and tribes as they design a consultation process that at least equals the one done as part of the TAPS 30 year renewal process.

Please ensure the Governor has all this information before her 2:30pm meeting. If she'd like to talk about any of this, please call me at #317-4728.

Thanks so much,
Marty

Dear Governor Palin,

The state supreme court just issued a decision declaring that the registration requirements of the Alaska Sex Offender Registration Act cannot be applied to persons who committed their crimes before the law was passed in 1994. They determined that retroactive application of the law to sex offenders before 1994 would violate the ex post facto provision of the constitution. The state (us) had attempted to enforce the law retroactively and we have lost. I will forward you a copy of the decision shortly. Talis

FINISH CRIME LAB LEASE

Finally finishing up lease negotiations for the land that will be the site of the new crime lab. This has been stuck for months with DPS and the muni.

NEW LEGISLATION ON ALCOHOL

Opening up a drafting file at LAW for their attorneys to start drafting a bill cracking down on alcohol. Initially, this bill would contain 2 ideas we did not get through last year and 3 new ones. The proposals we did not get last year were:

- (a) civil fines for alcohol license holders when their clerks sell to minors and
- (b) no shipping alcohol to the bush in plastic bottles (bootleggers like to burp the air out of the plastic bottles so the bottled do not slosh and plastic bottles do not clank like glass against anything) (This was a recommendation of a joint federal-state task force on rural justice and was supported by prior troopers but Walt had Major Glick testify against our proposal in committee for reasons that are still unclear to me).

The 3 new ideas would be:

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

These are all open to discussion. There are other projects as well. I just thought it would be good for me to remind the Acting Commissioner of our short and long term goals for public safety.

Meg knows that when an email comes to the state's website it gets routed and handled by a special assistant. She also knows that each email get a generic response letting them know it will be routed. I believe this email was routed to boards and commissions.

Just a thought, rather than issue a statement that will generate another story -why not just (have the appropriate person) respond to Privileged's email? I'm sure she would share it with the world.

Sharon- I don't think ADN was ever corrected re: what happened to Privileged's email she sent (offering to have me look at her files against Kopp) back on July 13. We need to explain I never saw that email until I traveled to Juneau many days later, heard rumors there was one, so Kelly and I did our own investigating of emails until we finally found it... and by then we were advised not to contact her as wheels were in motion. The ADN writes about this as if I purposefully ignored the accuser's offer to provide me more information. Megan further reports in a series of questions on-line that I must be asked "why no response", all based on Privileged's email, and it's reported she had a follow up phone call to the gov's office and yet no response from me?

We need a statement on that - and again internally a strong reminder that recipients of volatile emails like that must be forwarded to appropriate personnel. (In fact, Mike, please do a memo on that to all admin assistants... this was a harsh lesson to have learned re: receptionists needing to use discernment on forwarding significant emails that seem pretty obvious to me they should be forwarded.)

That one needs clarification bc it could lead to potential legal trouble if it's assumed I received the accuser's email yet did nothing

depts, I believe)

(I'm looking for someone to correct the letter writer's goofy comments, but don't want the letter to ADN in response to come from me. Also, Frank - do you have Bonnie Faulk's phone #, she's pageant director)

Dear Editor:

To address Judi Spry's Anchorage Daily News letter-to-the-editor on July 26 asking where the Governor was during this year's Miss Alaska Pageant:

First, when I asked Gov. Palin if she was ever Miss Alaska (as Ms. Spry stated), our Governor replied, "Nope, a mere "Miss Congeniality", one of the runner-up sashes, and much-needed college scholarships were my wins as a participant in that scholarship program, about 100 years ago it seems now".

The letter suggested the Governor didn't take time to attend the four-hour pageant due to a lack of support. Although constantly apologizing for not being able to accept all invitations, in this situation it was especially important for Alaska to have Governor Palin keep her commitment to travel to Fairbanks that evening between the weekend's statewide Governor's Annual Community Picnics and meet with seven US Congressmen who were touring ANWR.

Due to time constraints, to support pageant participants Gov. Palin did take time to record a video which was shown during the pageant. And significantly, First Gentleman Todd Palin spend two days judging the event. Todd left commercial fishing early this season to keep his commitment judge, and those who know the fishing industry (and those who know Todd!) can appreciate the sacrifice that was on the part of Todd Palin to support the pageant, on behalf of the Governor and First Family.

Good idea. Randy- pls jot a quick note letting Privileged know the circumstances of that email, and that by the time I saw it we were already checking. Then Holland can see the facts surrounding.

She knows. Days after Privileged sent the email, Meg Holland asked me to get her a copy. I left a message w/ Meg asking what her a name to track it down. That is when Privileged called me. I talked with Privileged for a few minutes and told I would pass along her information. So in fact, we did respond to her. Meg knew Privileged called me - Meg gave her my #.

Meg knows that when an email comes to the state's website it gets routed and handled by a special assistant. She also knows that each email get a generic response letting them know it will be routed. I believe this email was routed to boards and commissions.

Just a thought, rather than issue a statement that will generate another story -why not just (have the appropriate person) respond to Privileged's email? I'm sure she would share it with the world.

We reached a deal with IBU. Unlikely as it sounds. We compared what it would have cost us with a 3,3,3 over the last two years and offered:

followed by 4% effective July 1, 2010.

We considered with this union the savings of them NOT having a contract for going on two years and our conversations with Washington state which ended up going to arbitration with its maritime unions, where they were treated pretty well.

More specifics later.

Mike - let's plan cabinet mtg in the form of a luncheon at the house this week, if we can assume enough members can be in Juneau. It's a historic week if the AGIA vote is taken, so maybe more will be there in Juneau for that (and in support of AGIA team). We can do a bit of an informal lunch w/roundtable setting and we'll literally go around the tables getting updates from everyone of their dept activities.

Sharon- I don't think ADN was ever corrected re: what happened to Privileged's email she sent (offering to have me look at her files against Kopp) back on July 13. We need to explain I never saw that email until I traveled to Juneau amny days later, heard rumors there was one, so Kelly and I did our own investigating of emails until we finally found it... and by then we were advised not to contact her as wheels were in motion. The ADN writes about this as if I purposefully ignored the accuser's offer to provide me more information. Megan further reports in a series of questions on-line that I must be asked "why no response", all based on Privileged's email, and it's reported she had a follow up phone call to the gov's office and yet no response from me?

We need a statement on that - and again internally a strong reminder that recipients of volitile emails like that must be forwarded to appropriate personnel. (In fact, Mike, please do a memo on that to all admin assistants... this was a harsh lesson to have learned re: receptionists needing to use discernment on forwarding significant emails that seem pretty obvious to me they should be forwarded.)

That one needs clarification bc it could lead to potential legal trouble if it's assumed I received the accuser's email yet did nothing in response. (This email evidently was forwarded to three different depts, I believe)

We can organize it from the Juneau end if need be- we should do this sooner rather than later and it can be delegated to Tara or even Patricia or whomever has good organizing skills, but has more time to schedule it than you or others would have right now.

Another thought if Anchorage locale seems unlikely is for me to get cabinet down to Juneau while I'm there this week and I host a dinner for them there.

Just checking to see if anyone went anywhere with it the past two weeks bc it can easily be handled from the Juneau also, realizing how slammed the Anchorage office has been (Anna would be great help from that end too.)

We reached a deal with IBU. Unlikely as it sounds. We compared what it would have cost us with a 3,3,3 over the last two years and offered:

$2137 signing bonus for each employee for the first year (0% in lieu of $2137 cash)
followed by 5% effective July 1, 2009
followed by 4% effective July 1, 2010.

We considered with this union the savings of them NOT having a contract for going on two years and our conversations with Washington state which ended up going to arbitration with its maritime unions, where they were treated pretty well.

The amount of money involved was minor to get to this agreement, considering our options.
More specifics later.

(I'm looking for someone to correct the letter writer's goofy comments, but don't want the letter to ADN in response to come from me. Also, Frank - do you have Bonnie Faulk's phone #, she's pageant director)

Dear Editor:

To address Judi Spry's Anchorage Daily News letter-to-the-editor on July 26 asking where the Governor was during this year's Miss Alaska Pageant:

First, when I asked Gov. Palin if she was ever Miss Alaska (as Ms. Spry stated), our Governor replied, "Nope, a mere "Miss Congeniality", one of the runner-up sashes, and much-needed college scholarships were my wins as a participant in that scholarship program, about 100 years ago it seems now".

The letter suggested the Governor didn't take time to attend the four-hour pageant due to a lack of support. Although constantly apologizing for not being able to accept all invitations, in this situation it was especially important for Alaska to have Governor Palin keep her commitment to travel to Fairbanks that evening between the weekend's statewide Governor's Annual Community Picnics and meet with seven US Congressmen who were touring ANWR.

Due to time constraints, to support pageant participants Gov. Palin did take time to record a video which was shown during the pageant. And significantly, First Gentleman Todd Palin spend two days judging the event. Todd left commercial fishing early this season to keep his commitment judge, and those who know the fishing industry (and those who know Todd!) can appreciate the sacrifice that was on the part of Todd Palin to support the pageant, on behalf of the Governor and First Family.

Governor.

It went well. I think in terms of timing, ease of administration, and getting something to all Alaskans the resource rebate stands out as the best vehicle. The debate started with legislators questioning which proposal before them is the single best thing to do but I think are now realizing that it's not an "either - or" situation. Now my sense is that legislators are figuring out that it's not a competition among the different ideas and bills and they can only pick one, but that they may have to pass several bills to come up with a good solution.

Committee members had some good questions and some concerns about language in the bill that I will work with LAW, Kelly, and Rep. Meyer's office to get straightened out.

Also, it is great working with Kelly. She has brought a lot of knowledge and skill to the position.

Governor-

The Daily News has a question about Wooten's claim about moose permits. See below. Please advise on how to answer.

Sent: Sun Jul 27 13:00:27 2008
Subject: Wooten - question

Sharon: The past several days we have been going through all the materials in the Wooten investigative files. We came across something in the 9/14/05 interview of Wooten by Trooper Wall that we want to ask the governor about.

On page 11 of that transcript, when Wooten is being questioned about the moose hunting incident, Wooten asserts that Chuck Heath had said he would use Molly's moose tag to take a moose if she didn't do it herself.

Wall presses Wooten on that point.

Wooten: ...he was going to take her tag and go fill her tag. With or without ah regardless of whether she went or not he was gonna go shoot a moose. Period.

Wall: Did he tell that to MOLLY or you?

Wooten: Me. And MOLLY was there too she heard it. He does it every year. He does it with SALLY's caribou tag. SARAH's caribou tag an...

The union representative interjects at that point and they don't come back to it.

It's my understanding that Gov. Palin received several Nelchina Tier II permits. Did Chuck Heath ever take caribou using one or more of her permits, as Trooper Wooten seems to be saying here to the investigator? To the governor's knowledge, did Mr. Heath use Sally's permits as described by Wooten? To her knowledge, did he take moose or caribou on Molly's permits, as Wooten is saying? Am I misreading what Wooten is saying here?

I'm attaching the page of the transcript in question.

Thanks.

Yep, that transcript sounds like something Wooten would say.

He claims Chuck Heath was going to take Molly's tag and shoot a moose with it? Not true. I recall that Chuck Heath was offering to take Molly hunting since the season was coming to a close and Wooten had still not taken the time to take her hunting so she could fill the tag. Chuck Heath wasn't going to "shoot a moose, period", as Wooten claims. And after the hunt Wooten told Chuck Heath that Molly DID shoot that moose, which wasn't true. As WPD officer Chris Watchus testified (he was the hunting partner in the boat as Wooten illegally shot the animal from a motorized vehicle, which is also illegal), Wooten did not give Molly a chance to shoot it before he fired. Afterwards, Wooten threatened Molly that she'd better not tell anyone, but people eventually found out about it after Wooten bragged about the hunt.

Yes, I've received Tier 2 permits and I have filled my tags, with friends and family witnessing the hunts. It appears from the transcript that Wooten states to his fellow union member/internal investigator re: Chuck Heath "... He does it every year (with) Sarah's caribou tag." Not true. And Wooten has NEVER hunted with me, and except for his illegal moose hunt in question he has never hunted moose or caribou with family, so his accusation that Chuck Heath takes caribou on my, or others, permits every year is not based on fact.

Good Morning Governor,

Thank you for your e-mail.

I have been exploring the possibility of recommending [Privileged or P] as the Deputy Commissioner. [Priv] is a retired school administrator who earned a solid reputation as a passionate education leader, innovator and advocate for youth. [Priv] can keep up with the intensity, energy and direction that I operate. He is also known and respected by the EED leadership team.

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

If [Priv] gets a "thumbs up" determination, I will consult with Mike Nizich regarding the next step in the process. [Priv] is preparing a resume and a letter of intent. I hope to have specific information early in the week.

It would be great to meet with you to discuss a number of ideas and initiatives related to achieving our goals for Alaska's youth. Of particular interest, is the support for an Alaska Education Summit. I am always ready to talk about the success of kids. Please don't hesitate to call or e-mail if you have a question, comment or idea that you would like to kick around.

Dottie, my admin assistant, is working through Mike Nizich's office to set up an appointment. On my end, I am always available to the needs of your schedule.

Your staff has provided helpful advice and support as I learn to move through appropriate channels.

It is both a great joy and an awesome responsibility to be Commissioner of Education. I have a great job! Thanks.

Therefore I think whatever date works for you for your Cabinet meeting will be fine. I do want to reiterate the message Tom sent to you last night, that we do need you here in Juneau early next week to start working Legislators before the AGIA vote. Mike - let's plan cabinet mtg in the form of a luncheon at the house this week, if we can assume enough members can be in Juneau. It's a historic week if the AGIA vote is taken, so maybe more will be there in Juneau for that (and in support of AGIA team). We can do a bit of an informal lunch w/roundtable setting and we'll literally go around the tables getting updates from everyone of their dept activities.

Hi Janice,

I hope you are well.

I needed to update you on the Keynote Speaking Opportunity that I have offered to Governor Palin at the E&P Technology Summit, Hilton Americas – Houston, this October:

www.exproevent.com

We are tremendously pleased with the support for and evolution of the conference so far, and in particular with the growing representation that the Alaska region is gaining on the Conference Program.

I have recently confirmed the following individuals as Speakers at the summit:

- Kevin Banks, Director Oil & Gas, Department of Natural Resources, Government of Alaska
- Jeffrey Walker, Regional Supervisor, Field Operations, Minerals Management Service – Alaska Region
- Bud Fackrell, President, Denali – The Alaska Gas Pipeline LLC (BP-ConocoPhillips JV)

On your last communication you did alert me to the fact that Governor Palin's schedule is indeed very busy (a fact which I do understand completely) and that it was not possible to give me a definite acceptance of my invitation back on June 3rd when I sent the invitation originally.

However, I must now respectfully ask whether you can confirm Governor Palin for this Keynote opportunity in view of the fact that several very senior Government and Industry individuals have firmly allocated this event in their schedules, due to the high-level nature of the gathering.

I feel that this would provide an excellent platform for Governor Palin toward some of the most respected and influential individuals and organizations in North American E&P and, alas, production timing and planning constraints are now upon me in order to finalize the meeting.

I very much appreciate your feedback and attention to this and I hope that the growing importance of the conference is recognized by the Governor and the administrative office of the Alaskan Government considering your role in the North American energy community and the important project proposals which are now coming to the fore in the Alaska region.

Many thanks for your ongoing help and interest in the conference.

Kind regards,

Importance: High

Dear Governor Palin,

I hope this email finds you very well and belated congratulations to you and your husband on the birth of your fifth child back in April.

I am the Conference Producer for E&P Technology Summit in Houston this October; I have some good news for you regarding the Conference Program and I needed to furnish you with this invitation.

I wanted to get in touch with you as the Government of Alaska has been highly recommended by your peers within the North American Exploration & Production industry in view of the innovative projects you are involved in with relation to your E&P collaboration work in the North American energy community. During my research for our upcoming North American E&P Technology Summit, your work was referenced a number of times and as a leading industry figure I would like to invite you to appear as a Keynote Speaker at this year's Summit. I have followed with interest your Government's achievements in this field during my time at Petroleum Economist journal in London and I, personally, would be delighted to have you involved.

The E&P Technology Summit brings together North America's leading Upstream executives to network, establish key relationships and learn about some of the most critical and innovative technologies and practices in the marketplace today. After three highly successful years of producing the Summit in Europe we are now crossing the Atlantic to provide a knowledge platform for the emerging and major operators in the Western Hemisphere. Details of October's Houston Summit can be found here:

I am pleased to report that the Summit has already made an impact in the Upstream community and fellow Confirmed Speakers who have recently confirmed their attendance and presentations for October include:

- Randall Luthi, Director, U.S. Department of the Interior's Minerals Management Service
- Stephen Brand, SVP Technology, ConocoPhillips
- Steven Hinchman, EVP Technology & Services, Marathon Oil
- Mike Bahorich, EVP E&P Technology, Apache Corp

9/18/2009

- Scott Heck, SVP Global Production & Technology, Hess Corp
- Steve Thurston, VP Deepwater, Chevron E&P
- Jim Farnsworth, President & COO, Cobalt International Energy
- Wishart Robson, Sr. Advisor to the CEO, Climate Change & Safety, Nexen Inc
- Doug Bloom, President, Energy Transmission West, Spectra Energy
- Rob Morgan, COO Upstream, Harvest Energy Trust
- James Lytal, EVP, Enterprise Products Partners – Independence Project
- Howard Anderson, COO & VP Engineering, Triangle Petroleum Corp
- Francisco Ortigosa, Chief Geophysicist, Maxus US Exploration – Repsol YPF
- Rob Saltiel, SVP North & South America Business Units, Transocean
- Dr. Terry Engelder, Professor of Geosciences, Penn State University
- Dan Naatz, VP Federal Resources and Political Affairs, Independent Petroleum Association of America

The Summit is scheduled for October 27th-29th this year at the Hilton Americas, Houston conveniently located in the Downtown City area.

This would represent an excellent opportunity to address the influential North American oil & gas community directly and present your E&P project experiences and successes. I'd be particularly interested in content focused towards your experiences with:

- Enhanced Oil Recovery
- Rising Project Costs
- Access to Resources & Legislative Challenges
- Workforce Challenges

Here are some ideas on key focus areas of the Conference Program; of course I would be very happy to hear your ideas and tailor this towards recent developments you may have encountered during your work. I'd be particularly interested in a "big picture" view of the work that the Government of Alaska achieves and your perspective on Alaskan E&P for the future:

The Last Frontier - Evaluating the viability of Alaska's mature fields and the fundamental challenge of bringing hydrocarbons to the North American market

- Outlining access to Alaskan resources and an overview of 40 years of Alaskan E&P; the established operators, the lessons learned and the new wave of emerging players in the coldest state
- Analyzing the latest pipeline projects and the challenges to be overcome in innovative engineering and hydrocarbon transportation over major distances
- Evaluating the technologies and strategies in play to meet the challenges of bringing hydrocarbons to market from a remote area
- Achieving balance in project costs and profitable hydrocarbon recovery from mature fields in Prudhoe Bay, the North Slope & Cook Inlet and managing increased E&P in hostile environments

Or:

Analyzing successful E&P strategies incorporating environmental responsibility and Government collaboration in Alaska; what we can learn as an industry and assessing the applications to your own operations

- A Poster-Child for Proactive E&P? – perspectives on working toward common energy goals whilst collaborating in economic growth and minimal environmental impact

9/18/2009

- Assessing strategies in creating local prosperity, environmental stewardship and navigating remote and hazardous environments to unlock massive hydrocarbon resources
- Understanding technologies involved in unconventional and remote resource plays and applications across North American E&P for your operations

Naturally, I would be happy to work with you on the outline of your Presentation and tailor it to your own style and expertise. Please find the full Conference Program outlined on our website.

As my personal guest, you would of course receive free access to the entire three-day event, including all networking opportunities, access to the conference program and meals at the Hilton Americas.

I will make a note to call you soon if I haven't heard from you to discuss this opportunity further and, of course, I'd be most interested to hear your expertise on the issues proposed. If you, yourself, are not able to take this opportunity, then perhaps you might be able to recommend one of your senior management for the role.

Many thanks and I look forward to speaking with you soon,

Tom

Subject: KABATA Update

KABATA UPDATE

REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL (RFP) FOR CONSTRUCTION

- DOT&PF's review of KABATA's RFP to solicit for the design, construction, finance and maintenance of the roads and bridges that comprise Knik Arm Crossing project found the following unacceptable provisions:
 - State of Alaska would bear the risk if government permits were not secured within 17 month
 - State of Alaska would guarantee payment to concessionaire when specified toll numbers are not reached
 - There is no provision to build the $250 million Ingra-Gamble Connector
 - Contains incomplete communications plan for informing public, legislature, and administration about the terms of the RFP
- KABATA was instructed to not issue the RFP and to increase their communications efforts

PROJECT COST ESTIMATE UPDATE

- KABATA's estimate of the cost of the project has not changed in 5 years
- DOT&PF and Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) are contracting for an independent 3rd party estimate due in October
- Updated and validated cost estimates will increase public confidence in the project

AMATS INVOLVEMENT

- FHWA requires cities with a population of 50,000 to form a Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) to plan and prioritize all transportation in the community via a long range transportation plan
- The Anchorage MPO (AMATS) is comprised of the mayor, two Assembly members, and representatives from DOT&PF and DEC
- The recent changes in the composition of the Anchorage Assembly may result in the withdrawal of support for the project and its removal from their long range transportation plan
 - FHWA would immediately stop their work on the Record of Decision

9/18/2009

- o Anticipate vote on the project in 4-6months.

KABATA'S ONGOING ACTIVITIES

- Work stopped on the RFP for a concessionaire
- Beginning discussions with the Corps of Engineers on the necessary permits.
 - o Met at least once with the Muni of Anchorage, regarding the need for the Ingra-Gambell connector, and how to fund it - a solution is necessary to gain MOA support
- KABATA Board of Directors
 - o approved a FY2009 Operating Budget of $1.5 million
 - o DID NOT approve a $3.4 million Capital Budget that included funds for utilities work, right of way acquisition, and the release of the RFP for construction of the project.
 - o KABATA understands and agrees that they will not enter into those activities without the concurrence of DOT&PF, FHWA, and the Administration.

RECOMMENDATION

- Using the updated cost estimate work with Dept of Law, DOT&PF and KABATA to develop options on how best to proceed.
- Present options and recommendation to the Governor

Yes, we can meet later... sounds like the most important thing at this time with kabata though is to let the public know the status of our question/seeking answers process. It's been left up in the air and I'm sure folks are getting anxious for us to speak to the issue. It doesn't have to be done today but at some point in near future. Thanks

Governor:

Could we meet later in the afternoon? I have a committee hearing in House Finance this morning on the motor fuels tax. Thanks.

On the project, once the independent review the FHWA and State need to move the project forward is done (this fall) and we get solid numbers not just in costs but in potential revenue from tolls, we should evaluate the project.

The 2 developers involved right now are not offering very good terms. One lost a lot of money on a project in Miami and I think is trying to cover all the risks it ran into in Miami in it's proposed draft RFP terms for the Knik Arm project.

Let me know your thoughts, otherwise let's form this asap - and Mike/Randy I'd like to work w you guys on this as Sharon announces the intention.

Also, feedback over the weekend was that this issue of me supposedly "firing Walt for personal/personnel reasons" has taken on a life of its own. Frustration over not just being able to sit down with reporters and repeat the truth, and/or get the message directly to Alaskans about the whole issue was shared with me by many. Amazing how the misperceptions have really grown legs and now people (incl legislators) are running with them.

We need to do all we can to get the truth out, I would hope the press would be fair in giving me opportunity to speak to the issue. This controversy - and Senate's rumored investigation - is suspiciously overshadowing AGIA and Energy work- please help get that back on track but also help me get truth out surrounding the desire to move Walt to a different position so DPS could see action leading to results, versus merely talking about crafting more plans to deal with public safety challenges.

Between the FOIA's last week (and the public still doesn't understand it's been a ConocoPhillips employee FOIA-ing emails) and Walt's stirred-up controversy, the whole AGIA issue was overshadowed and attention shifted from that to other things. Please assist me in helping Alaskans realize the importance of the pending legislation on the lawmakers' plates today. Thanks

Governor,

Attached is the op-ed that Kurt and I would like to submit to The Washington DC Examiner tomorrow. It is scheduled to run on Thursday opposite the Sierra Club.

Below is what the editors would like to see.

Unless we hear otherwise, we will submit this tomorrow by noon.

Thanks,
Meg

We are delighted that Gov. Palin will do a Pro/Con oped for us on the topic: Should we drill in ANWR? Somebody from the Sierra Club (not sure who yet) will argue no, and the governor will take the yes position. The opeds will run in the San Francisco and Baltimore Examiners and appear on our website as well.

We'll need 600 words by July 29 for publication on July 31, and a recent photo of the governor. Please email me your address so I can send a tearsheet.

Mike - let's plan cabinet mtg in the form of a luncheon at the house this week, if we can assume enough members can be in Juneau. It's a historic week if the AGIA vote is taken, so maybe more will be there in Juneau for that (and in support of AGIA team). We can do a bit of an informal lunch w/roundtable setting and we'll literally go around the tables getting updates from everyone of their dept activities.

Governor,

Attached is the op-ed that Kurt and I would like to submit to The Washington DC Examiner tomorrow. It is scheduled to run on Thursday opposite the Sierra Club.

Below is what the editors would like to see.

Unless we hear otherwise, we will submit this tomorrow by noon.

Thanks,
Meg

We are delighted that Gov. Palin will do a Pro/Con oped for us on the topic: Should we drill in ANWR? Somebody from the Sierra Club (not sure who yet) will argue no, and the governor will take the yes position. The opeds will run in the San Francisco and Baltimore Examiners and appear on our website as well.

We'll need 600 words by July 29 for publication on July 31, and a recent photo of the governor. Please email me your address so I can send a tearsheet.

The death is under Air Force investigation. No foul play indicated. Air Force officials will not discuss the circumstances of Tinsley's death until the investigation is completed. Nothing we can do at this time, although I would recommend that a sympathy note to Mrs. Tinsley would be appropriate in a few days and I will let you know when any services are scheduled. You may want to consider sending out a very short press release expressing your condolences at the loss of a great Air Force leader. Let me know if you would like us to prepare a draft.

Hi de ho hey!

I am not the type that comments...however, I am pleased what a strong person you are, how you feel about Alaska, the potential, the direction you are taking, what you see for the future and trying to direct it in the right way. There will always be naysayers and jealous people because of the person you are. All I can say is "THANK YOU" for being the incredible person you are, don't change and keep fighting for what you believe in and especially for the care you have shown to the people in Alaska. You ARE a breath of fresh air....don't give up, never surrender (got that from the movie Galaxy Quest) Tee Hee! Thank you for taking this moment to read this.

Surely Shirley Spurlock...A person that has been here since 1970, and it was because I joined the Air Force, stationed at Elmendorf on Jan 26, 1970 and remained and it is people like you that have caused my continuous participation in this state...THANK YOU!

Dear Ms. Rosso:

Thank you for your email. I certainly understand your concern for the impact of high energy costs on school budgets. The legislature did include some additional funds for school districts in the recently passed budget to help with these costs. Governor Palin's resource rebate legislation and several other ideas are being debated by legislators in special session. You may wish to provide testimony to the House or Senate Finance Committees or to your district legislator regarding energy costs for school districts.

This issue is of vital importance to all Alaskans. We are hopeful that there will be some relief provided during this special session as we work on long-term solutions to bring down the cost of energy in our state. Thank you again for writing.

Subject: energy rebate suggestion

I ask that you consider the energy rebates for all children age 16 and under be given to local school districts. School districts must receive energy assistance. School district budgets have been hit hard by gas and diesel increases.

Consider that rural school districts are paying $5+ a gallon for fuel to run the generators that power the lights and heat for the village or town school. Schools also serve as community centers. Generators must run twelve hours a day minimum usually.

Consider that the larger school districts like Anchorage, Fairbanks, Mat-Su and Juneau transport students over many road miles. Utility costs have also increased. The energy cost is now way over what districts originally budgeted.

A family with four children needs assistance for their schools. Do they need four rebates all to the same household, or could the rebates be more effective at the school level? Setting the age at 16, allows for rebates to go to 17 or 18 year olds who may be driving, or who may even be working.

If school districts do not receive extra help, the added costs will reduce school budgets for educating our youth - and this is not acceptable.

Thank you for your leadership on this,
Theresa Rosso

Mike - let's plan cabinet mtg in the form of a luncheon at the house this week, if we can assume enough members can be in Juneau. It's a historic week if the AGIA vote is taken, so maybe more will be there in Juneau for that (and in support of AGIA team). We can do a bit of an informal lunch w/roundtable setting and we'll literally go around the tables getting updates from everyone of their dept activities.

(I'm looking for someone to correct the letter writer's goofy comments, but don't want the letter to ADN in response to come from me. Also, Frank - do you have Bonnie Faulk's phone #, she's pageant director)

Dear Editor:

To address Judi Spry's Anchorage Daily News letter-to-the-editor on July 26 asking where the Governor was during this year's Miss Alaska Pageant:

First, when I asked Gov. Palin if she was ever Miss Alaska (as Ms. Spry stated), our Governor replied, "Nope, a mere "Miss Congeniality", one of the runner-up sashes, and much-needed college scholarships were my wins as a participant in that scholarship program, about 100 years ago it seems now".

The letter suggested the Governor didn't take time to attend the four-hour pageant due to a lack of support. Although constantly apologizing for not being able to accept all invitations, in this situation it was especially important for Alaska to have Governor Palin keep her commitment to travel to Fairbanks that evening between the weekend's statewide Governor's Annual Community Picnics and meet with seven US Congressmen who were touring ANWR.

Due to time constraints, to support pageant participants Gov. Palin did take time to record a video which was shown during the pageant. And significantly, First Gentleman Todd Palin spend two days judging the event. Todd left commercial fishing early this season to keep his commitment judge, and those who know the fishing industry (and those who know Todd!) can appreciate the sacrifice that was on the part of Todd Palin to support the pageant, on behalf of the Governor and First Family.

Governor, below is addition up to date info on KABATA based on this morning's emails from you and Randy. LEO

This is a brief chronology of recent questions posed to KABATA, and their responses:

1. On April 22, 2008, Deputy Commissioner Frank Richards wrote KABATA a letter requiring their response to a number of questions including an accounting of the $40 million spent to date, information about the draft RFP, risks associated with the project, project projected revenue, an updated cost estimate, and a question about the construction of the Ingra-Gambell connector.
2. On May 28, 2008 KABATA responded to the letter from Frank Richards. The response was less than satisfactory, and there was some serious concerns expressed about their updated cost estimate.
3. DOT/PF, in conjunction with Federal Highway Administration, determined it was necessary to secure an estimate update of project costs. The Request for Proposal was advertised July 9th, with a due date of 7/30. The work effort will be funded jointly by the FHWA, and DOT.
4. The AMATS Policy Committee continues to have a keen interest in this project. At the July 10th meeting, the Policy Committee gave KABATA a series of questions to answer. Although a lot of the questions overlapped with questions asked by Frank Richards, or were already asked and answered in the Environmental Impact Statement, many of the questions asked by members of the Policy Committee are centered around issues specific to the Municipality of Anchorage.

Dear Ms. Rosso:

Thank you for your email. I certainly understand your concern for the impact of high energy costs on school budgets. The legislature did include some additional funds for school districts in the recently passed budget to help with these costs. Governor Palin's resource rebate legislation and several other ideas are being debated by legislators in special session. You may wish to provide testimony to the House or Senate Finance Committees or to your district legislator regarding energy costs for school districts.

This issue is of vital importance to all Alaskans. We are hopeful that there will be some relief provided during this special session as we work on long-term solutions to bring down the cost of energy in our state. Thank you again for writing.

Subject: energy rebate suggestion

I ask that you consider the energy rebates for all children age 16 and under be given to local school districts. School districts must receive energy assistance. School district budgets have been hit hard by gas and diesel increases.

Consider that rural school districts are paying $5+ a gallon for fuel to run the generators that power the lights and heat for the village or town school. Schools also serve as community centers. Generators must run twelve hours a day minimum usually.

Consider that the larger school districts like Anchorage, Fairbanks, Mat-Su and Juneau transport students over many road miles. Utility costs have also increased. The energy cost is now way over what districts originally budgeted.

A family with four children needs assistance for their schools. Do they need four rebates all to the same household, or could the rebates be more effective at the school level? Setting the age at 16, allows for rebates to go to 17 or 18 year olds who may be driving, or who may even be working.

If school districts do not receive extra help, the added costs will reduce school budgets for educating our youth - and this is not acceptable.

Thank you for your leadership on this,
Theresa Rosso

Privileged or Per Let me know your thoughts, otherwise let's form this asap - and Mike/Randy I'd like to work w you guys on this as Sharon announces the intention.

Also, feedback over the weekend was that this issue of me supposedly "firing Walt for personal/personnel reasons" has taken on a life of its own. Frustration over not just being able to sit down with reporters and repeat the truth, and/or get the message directly to Alaskans about the whole issue was shared with me by many. Amazing how the misperceptions have really grown legs and now people (incl legislators) are running with them.

We need to do all we can to get the truth out, I would hope the press would be fair in giving me opportunity to speak to the issue. This controversy - and Senate's rumored investigation - is suspiciously overshadowing AGIA and Energy work- please help get that back on track but also help me get truth out surrounding the desire to move Walt to a different position so DPS could see action leading to results, versus merely talking about crafting more plans to deal with public safety challenges.

Between the FOIA's last week (and the public still doesn't understand it's been a ConocoPhillips employee FOIA-ing emails) and Walt's stirred-up controversy, the whole AGIA issue was overshadowed and attention shifted from that to other things. Please assist me in helping Alaskans realize the importance of the pending legislation on the lawmakers' plates today. Thanks

We are asking for a clean bill (no amendments, including not asking for an immediate effective date) out of the Senate so that nothing needs to occur back in the House. Hi R- the events this Saturday at the Gov's House, as hosted by the First Family, are historic. We do not believe they've ever been done before as Todd gathers former First Ladies for their tea... plus we invited former First Ladies and their (grown) children to revisit the mansion for the Statehood Celebration.

Alaskans would like to know of this, I'm sure, so profiling it and/or allowing a photo op of these wonderful elderly Alaskan women as they gather here on Saturday would be great for historical reasons and for today's public to witness.

Statehood celebration folks can shed more light on this and help you write a presser on it, as can historians in Juneau who can appreciate this unprecedented event... and please remind Alaskans that it is a pleasure and honor for the current First Family to host this. We'll all be here except our son who is away training in the Mojave Desert with his Styker Brigade before their Sept deployment to Iraq.

An ironic mention needs to include the fact that Todd will have just returned from his blue collar Slope job to host the First Ladies Tea. (Humor helps in these type of announcements). Thanks!

(Kris, if u think of others who can help contribute to this presser pls let Rosanne know so it can be cranked out today, then press can follow up.)

Hi R- the events this Saturday at the Gov's House, as hosted by the First Family, are historic. We do not believe they've ever been done before as Todd gathers former First Ladies for their tea... plus we invited former First Ladies and their (grown) children to revisit the mansion for the Statehood Celebration.

Alaskans would like to know of this, I'm sure, so profiling it and/or allowing a photo op of these wonderful elderly Alaskan women as they gather here on Saturday would be great for historical reasons and for today's public to witness.

Statehood celebration folks can shed more light on this and help you write a presser on it, as can historians in Juneau who can appreciate this unprecedented event... and please remind Alaskans that it is a pleasure and honor for the current First Family to host this. We'll all be here except our son who is away training in the Mojave Desert with his Stryker Brigade before their Sept deployment to Iraq.

An ironic mention needs to include the fact that Todd will have just returned from his blue collar Slope job to host the First Ladies Tea. (Humor helps in these type of announcements). Thanks!

(Kris, if u think of others who can help contribute to this presser pls let Rosanne know so it can be cranked out today, then press can follow up.)

Dear Governor Palin,

Thank you so much for the great job you are doing for our state. My family and I have faith in your leadership. So I write to ask you about Measure 4. Yes or No? My family is asking me how to vote and not knowing who to trust, I turn to you.

Thanks again. Clint Rowlett

MESSAGE:

I just wanted to take a moment and thank you for the work you've done for the average alaskan family. In my lifespan I have seen many politicians and most I can't say much for. I finally have seen what a good person can do in a point of power and its refreshing to me. You have done more for the people in your short tenure than most will do in lifetime. You should feel commendable for that. I only fear that we will lose you to a higher level of government before your potential is met in alaska. I'm sure you meet great opposition from many of your peers for your actions. Unfortunately many live in a tunnel vision. Seeing the future through the present is the Key! I have to say that until you reached office I had never voted because my ideals would never let me vote for the lesser of two evils. Since you've reached the seat in the capital I've become much more active in our greatest right. You have given the people of alaska a voice and shown big business that you will not bully the weak

SO, in a nutshell I say Thank You! As honestly as anyone can.

Hi R- the events this Saturday at the Gov's House, as hosted by the First Family, are historic. We do not believe they've ever been done before as Todd gathers former First Ladies for their tea... plus we invited former First Ladies and their (grown) children to revisit the mansion for the Statehood Celebration.

Alaskans would like to know of this, I'm sure, so profiling it and/or allowing a photo op of these wonderful elderly Alaskan women as they gather here on Saturday would be great for historical reasons and for today's public to witness.

Statehood celebration folks can shed more light on this and help you write a presser on it, as can historians in Juneau who can appreciate this unprecedented event... and please remind Alaskans that it is a pleasure and honor for the current First Family to host this. We'll all be here except our son who is away training in the Mojave Desert with his Styker Brigade before their Sept deployment to Iraq.

An ironic mention needs to include the fact that Todd will have just returned from his blue collar Slope job to host the First Ladies Tea. (Humor helps in these type of announcements). Thanks!

(Kris, if u think of others who can help contribute to this presser pls let Rosanne know so it can be cranked out today, then press can follow up.)

Sharon- remember that I do desire to speak with reporters instead of seeing (like this morning) that I was "unavailable for comment". I was on the flight for only 1.5 hrs so people know I could have spoken to Wesley before or after the flt, had I known he had called, thus the false assumption will be that I again avoided press. Pls let me know when reporters call on this so I can respond thanks.

Also, there can't be any suggestion that I hesitate re: their investigation. The critics would love to believe I don't want want one so they can continue to untruthfully claim that I'm hiding something.

S- does ktuu know that the wooten divorce was quite awhile ago... despite their insistence everytime they report on this that "she fired monegan while the trooper was going through a divorce with her sister"? Sheeesh, they haven't gotten it right yet. And even their forgetfulness that we offered WM another job to better utilize his strengths... it's just so frustrating that they're playing right into lyda and hollis' hands., and vice versa.

I prefer speaking to these reporters who want comments on the issue. I invite the investigation but it's obvious we could get to the bottom of it all if leggies and reporters would just ASK me further questions instead of spending $100g on a fishing expedition.

Dear Sarah

I am just writing you again to encourage you. I know how doing something for people whether you are getting paid for it or not can be a very unthankful job. Even how you can be taken for granted from so many. I am praying for you and I am very suprise that you haven't been under attack by the enemy mush more than what you have. You are not just a women but you are a child of the king and that makes you very dangerous to the enemy. if alaska was not so important to God it probably would not matter, but this state is so important in the fathers intime plan. and because the enemy knows it he is going to do all he can to destroy and discredit you. you must finish your mandate from holyspirit to get this state ready for the last days. You see sarah the father showed me 25 years ago that there was coming an economic collapse to america and his plan was for it to not affect alaska. There is a Joseph mantle on the entire state and in the coming days when things get very bad and it wi ll alaska will save many people alive. That was Joseph's calling and this is alaska's calling. So I am praying for you and that your faith fail not. please follow your heart and trust that he is there because he is more than you realize. Honorable Governor Sarah Palin,

I am writing tonight to say that this scandal for the last two weeks has really angered me. Not so much your department as the feeding frenzy of the news media. It has become national and I am so sorry for Alaska. Why does the legislature think they need an investigation when they KNOW that Department heads serve at the pleasure of the governor? What more is there to say? NOTHING REALLY.

I am hoping your husband will stay out of the roll of anything to do with your office. I realize he can advise you but he was not elected to anything so I assume he does not need to talk to any of your employees, and I'm not sure he even did, this could all been avoided if his name had not surfaced.

You have brought ethics and honesty to our state and I sincerely hope this type of scandal never surface again

Sincerely,

An Alaskan of 66 years

Subject: NGA/Resource Committee Priorities

Russ and I spoke today with representatives of Governor Schweizer, vice chair of the Natural Resources Committee, and NGA staff concerning themes and priorities for the committee.

Subject to each of us obtaining guidance from our respective governors, we tentatively identified energy infrastructure as our major theme. In turn, this issue would be divided into the following components:

- Natural gas and oil pipelines
- Transmission lines
- National electricity grid, including smart meters and storage
- Funding of infrastructure, including public-private partnerships

This theme extrapolates from the NGA chair's emphasis on infrastructure generally. In addition, Russ and I figured that it would be a good way to marshal additional bipartisan support for an Alaska gas pipeline to the lower 48.

Before proceeding further, it would be helpful for us to know whether the foregoing makes sense to you. Thanks.

What the hell is going on with your supposedly "transparent government". It's lost all transparency and now appears to have plunged into the realm of questionable ethics.

AGIA Update

Alaska stands poised and ready to provide critical relief to fellow Alaskans and to Americans during this need. We are proud to say that we have come so far toward finally getting Alaska's valuable natural gas way that protects the state's interests and benefits all Alaskans.

The Alaska State Legislature is currently debating whether to approve TransCanada Alaska for the state natural gas pipeline. Legislators have listened to hundreds of hours of thoughtful discussion from consult people all over Alaska who deeply care about the state's future, and I want to thank them for conducting commend the members of the State House of Representatives who provided a strong vote in favor of Ak continue to help the State Senators make an educated decision on the merits of AGIA as well.

Over the course of a year, AGIA has proven to be exactly what the State of Alaska needs. For the first time ever, we now have a committed partner who is willing to provide exactly what Alaska demands for her citizens and with an enforceable timeline that exceeds our expectations.

The Alaska Gasline Induce

This is an exciting time for Alaskans. And we look forward to moving together as a team, as Americans look north to the future for assistance.

In an effort to better serve Alaskans, my administration made some positive changes to the summer 200 report to you that those changes have resulted in increases in traffic by 6 percent overall this year from A some communities the increases were substantial, like Sitka (27 percent increase for both passengers a (32 percent for passengers and 22 percent for vehicles) and Prince Rupert (25 percent for passengers a vehicles.) We've been receiving positive comments from many communities, and we'll continue to work t transportation needs of all Alaskans.

We're also excited about changes that hav our ferries, the Aurora. Before returning to summer, the Aurora was outfitted with corr power and speed control systems that will consumption savings. We are confident th much as $5 million yearly after these syste the ferries. In fact, in preliminary reports, w saved 16 percent (263 gallons) in one day place!

Malaspina at Sea

the AMHS's history! To book your trip, just log on to www.ferryalaska.com.

Adding a little bit of activity to each day is so important to our overall physical and mental health. Alaskans did just that when more than 2,800 of them signed up to compete in the National President's Challenge, a program that required people to get 30 minutes of exercise for at least five days a week for a six-week period. I'm proud to tell you that Alaska had a first-place finish and in July, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Mike Leavitt presented the National President's Challenge Award to Alaska for having the highest participation rate in the nation based on population. We are definitely moving in the right direction, and that's great news for our state.

Alaska is strengthened by people with an entrepreneurial spirit, and small firm owners are making a major contribution to our state economy. That's why I'm pleased to tell you that I was able to sign into law legislation my administration put forward to reduce business license fees. House Bill 111 decreases the fee for business licenses from $100 to $50 and will take effect October 1, 2009, when the sale of 2010 licenses begins.

Fees Reduced

Back in April, I encouraged state employees to help our men and women in uniform by donating cell phones which could be shipped overseas via a program called Cell Phones for Soldiers. Now, several months later, the Department of Administration has collected 271 used state and personal cell phones. This will mean 271 hours of talk time for soldiers abroad, since each phone is recycled in exchange for a one-hour calling card. In July, the Department of Administration shipped two boxes (52 pounds) of cell phones out of Juneau. The department is also working with individual Alaskans who are interested in donating independently. For more information, contact Vern Jones, Director of the Division of General Services, at Vern.Jones@alaska.gov.

I am encouraged to share with you that tobacco use in Alaska has declined more than 20 percent overall, according to the state's Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance Survey for 2007. The reduction equals more than 27,000 fewer smokers since 1996.

There is also a significant reduction in Alaska Native high school smokers, from 62 percent in 1995 to 44 percent in 2003 to 32 percent in 2007 (Youth Risk Behavior Survey). Smoking is also down significantly among women – from 24.2 percent in 1996 to 18.9 percent in 2007 (national prevalence is 18.4 percent). The steepest decline is among adults age 40–59, from 28.7 percent in 1996 to 21.6 percent in 2007.

Alaska Smoking Rate Drops

The drop can be attributed to a sustained comprehensive tobacco prevention program, including tax increases, clean indoor air policies, media, community programs and the Alaska Tobacco Quit Line.

Alaskans enjoyed great music, food and community as my Cabinet and I served more than 11,000 of our wonderful citizens at the Governor's Annual Picnics in Wasilla, Anchorage and Fairbanks in July. I truly enjoy these picnics and the opportunity to meet Alaskans in a fun and informal setting, and want to thank the many sponsors and volunteers who did such a great job ensuring they were a

2008 Governor Annual Picnics

Until next time,

Governor Sarah Palin

Governor - We have been asked to do a PSA Taping for the Alaska Food Bank. We have the script ready and the video guys had a great idea of setting something up to tape at the house - i.e. It would be a great visual to have you carry in a paper bag as you read the script - kind of like you are coming home with the groceries. It would be a great visual for the TV version.

I know we have two events at the house tomorrow - so this could be set up for Thursday or Friday around the lunch hour. Thanks, Janice

I listened to the video. Here's the opening dialogue between you, Kyle Hopkins, and Sen. Stevens:

KH: Governor, your appearance here was kind of a surprise today. Can you tell me about how that came about and whether we should see that as kind of an endorsement for Sen. Stevens for re-election?

Gov: Well, it's um...I'm on the clock and we're in a Federal Building, so we won't talk about campaigns or endorsements, all that comes later, but I support the Senator's proposals here and his passion to again allow Alaska to be heard and to lead with an American energy policy that has been - I believe - sorely lacking. And it is time to step up, work together, others are looking to us, to see how we are going to work together through this energy crisis and from here, forward, so I'm honored to get to be here and certainly an entire team working with us, we are going to be able to create the best solutions all working together. So, I'm honored to get to be here with him.

Sen: No, no, no announcements will be made here about - political announcements won't be made in this room.

Ending Stock Market Manipulation

By Tom Donohue, President and CEO

"Naked short selling" and the impact of manipulative behavior on investors and markets has been big news recently. Unfortunately, there's also been a lot of misinformation about what it really means for investors.

First, remember that legitimate short selling is a good thing. It is simply a bet against the future value of a stock, and it helps markets deflate "irrational exuberance."

But people who make bets sometimes try to cheat.

Mr. Guaneli has agreed to be a member of the committee to interview and recommend a person to be the new Commissioner of Public Safety. Dean has a month long vacation with his wife coming up in 3 weeks, but I told him I thought we could have most of the interviews complete by then and he could provide us with his recommendations before he leaves.

A brief article from 2005 about Dean is set out below. I think he will be very helpful to our process. I have provided this information to Sharon.

Dean Guaneli Named State Prosecutor of the Year
30-year veteran a pillar of Alaska criminal law

June 02, 2005
Thursday

Anchorage, Alaska - A committee of his peers awarded Chief Assistant Attorney General Dean Guaneli Prosecutor of the Year for 2005 at the Annual Alaska District Attorneys' Training Conference in May.

"Dean's service to the department transcends the scope of this award," said Susan Parkes, Deputy Attorney General for the department's criminal division. "It should read 'lifetime achievement award' because Dean has devoted most of his professional life to this department." "Every good manager attributes the success of his organization to the exceptional people working on his or her team," said Attorney General David Márquez. "When I look at the Department of Law's success in meeting its mandate of protecting Alaskans, I can think of no better person to have on my side." Guaneli started with the Department of Law in 1976. He is an experienced trial attorney, currently oversees the Office of Special Prosecutions and Appeals (OSPA) and represents the Department of Public Safety. Guaneli was instrumental in drafting Governor Murkowski's omnibus crime legislation enacted last year and rewriting Alaska's felony sentencing laws which Governor Murkowski signed into law this March. This rewrite became necessary when the U.S. Supreme Court issued a decision in Blakely v. Washinton last year that invalidated the criminal sentencing statutes in a number of states, including Alaska.

Honorable Sarah Palin
Governor
Alaska State Capitol Building
Third Floor
P.O. Box 110001
Juneau, AK 99811-0001

Dear Governor Palin,

I am a career federal law enforcement executive in the Senior Executive Service who once served as the youngest Chief of Police in Haines Alaska in the mid-eighties. While serving in Haines, I was hired by the U.S. Department of Justice, Drug Enforcement Administration as a Special Agent and transferred in and out of the state several times, to return 10 years later to supervise the DEA's drug enforcement operations throughout Alaska. Today, through transfers, promotions and an appointment by the DEA Administrator as a Special Agent in Charge, I supervise over 800 employees and manage the fourth largest division for the Drug Enforcement Administration in the most significant drug smuggling battlefield in the United States, South Texas, Houston Field Division.

I would like to return to Alaska as your Commissioner of Public Safety and I have attached my resume for your consideration. While I currently reside in Texas, I still own my home in Eagle River and consider Alaska as my true home.

My attached resume outlines my professional experience in local and federal law enforcement for over 32 years. I possess Top Secret Security Clearance and can assure you that my personnel files for my entire career contain no adverse actions, integrity investigations, nor violations of ethical rules and conduct. I am well known in the law enforcement community in Alaska by the present and former commanders of the Alaska State Troopers and the chiefs of major and small police departments in the state. Law enforcement, especially federal, is a transient profession, but there are many law enforcement professionals in Alaska who know me and can vouch for my competency and character during my tenure in Alaska. I am also known by various members of the Alaska United States Attorney's Office, the State's Department of Law and State Judiciary members.

I believe that with my lifelong experiences in both local and federal law enforcement, I possess unparalleled qualifications to ensure that the Alaska Department of Public Safety becomes a model law enforcement agency, and to provide the leadership necessary to form an agency that is the pride of the members and the public at large.

I would be honored to meet with you personally regarding this position, so that you may assess my qualifications and the personal and professional details that are not possible in an email such as this.

At this juncture, I respectfully request that my interest in this position be kept strictly confidential as I have not communicated my desire to retire from federal service to the DEA Administrator in Washington DC. However, I would gladly provide references upon request from within my organization and from the highest levels of the federal government including the Office of the National Drug Control Policy at the White House; the FBI and the Department of Homeland Security.

Thank you for your kind attention. Please let me know if I can provide further information, details or references. I look forward to meeting with you in person.

Sincerely,

Zoran Yankovich

Dear Governor Palin,

I am writing you concerning two issues. The first being my request for additional funding for a playground in Akiak, Ak. on the Kuskowkwim River. Pls try to locate that e-mail sent at least (3) times and respond to it.

The second issue concerns the number of suicides the village of Akiak has experienced in the last six yrs the latest being a young man (18) last Thursday. I believe it is almost becoming an epidemic--how sad. Pls have someone contact the village and offer your help or the state of Alaska. I am a former principal of Akiak and I personally knew the last (4) three which were former students of mine.

Someone needs to offer them help.

Thank you for your time.

I said weeks ago "this isn't the time" in a Federal Bldg to endorse a candidate. Those who were with me at the event heard it. Can't remember who was with me.

Dear Governor Palin,

I have written you a minimum of (3) times regarding the playground in Akiak, Ak but I have not heard back from you.

Now I am writing you with a more pressing problem. Since 2002 the village of Akiak has experienced an alarming rate of suicide amongst their youth (5(total). This is in a village of 300. I believe my information is correct. What a waste of Alaskan youth.

Please have someone offer assistance to the school and the village in bringing this issue to a halt. I am not an expert in this matter but I do have some theories as to why it seems to be escalating.

I am available to discuss this matter with you via the phone if you want.

Thanks for your time.

Even that said, not a big deal unless I'm missing something. It isn't specific to one candidate. Just my opinion, but I don't think additional follow-up is necessary.

I hear ya. Here's Megan's exact quote from last night:

"On July 2nd Palin and Stevens appeared at a press conference about energy. Back then she said endorsement of a Senate candidate would come at a later date."

I'll see if I can track down the July 2nd stuff.

Governor,

Considering the schedule of the senate majority caucus (10:00 am) and then the cabinet meeting (11:00 am), we recommend that you block out the 1:00 hour to make impromptu visits to the following members:

Lyman Hoffman
Bert Stedman
Donny Olson
Lesil McGuire
Charlie Huggins
Lyda Green

We could potentially get it started earlier if you excuse yourself from lunch a little bit early.

The message doesn't need to be complex, just direct and to the point that Alaskans deserve a vote and it needs to move out of committee today.

We could have Janice make calls to the offices shortly before you head up to the respective offices (if you look at the list, you would start on the 5th Floor and then proceed down to the 1st Floor).

Let us know what you think about this plan.

Joe

Governor -

CNBC would like to interview you again about oil drilling and Senator Stevens. Since Juneau does not have the technology to beam live video to the east coast - CNBC would fly a techie from Channel 2 with portable equipment. Please let me know if you would like to pursue this.
